ITALY DRIVEN INTO WAR, SAYS KING

KING OF ITALY APPEALS TO ALL TO DO THEIR DUTY

Says Italy Has Been Forced to Take Up Arms—Demonstration at Palace—Cheers for America

ROME, May 21, via Paris, May 22, 4:25 a. m.—King Victor Emmanuel will issue a proclamation to the people countersigned by all the ministers tomorrow (Saturday). The document will explain how Italy has been driven to take up arms and will appeal to all citizens to do their duty in such a way that victory will be assured. Another royal proclamation will be addressed to the army and to the fleet.

An immense throng gathered this evening on Capitoline hill, where Prince Colonna, the mayor, had convoked a solemn sitting of the municipal council to consecrate the new war.

The Capitoline palace had been decorated with historic tapestries commemorating events of great national importance. The mayor delivered a patriotic address which provoked tremendous applause from the throng gathered in the senatorial hall, the square below and the surrounding streets as far down as the Forum on one side and the Caffe della Pace, now the home of the German embassy on the other.

After his address Prince Colonna surrounded by aldermen and the municipal council and preceded by the standard of Rome, started for the Quirinal to pay tribute to King Victor Emmanuel as the personification of Italy.

Veritable rivers of humanity poured through the streets leading to the royal palace. Thousands were packed into the great Quirinal square. The scene which was enacted when his majesty and the members of his family appeared upon a balcony overlooking the square has had few parallels in the history of Rome. It was estimated that the crowd numbered several hundreds of thousands whose enthusiasm was unbounded when the monarch appeared.

Preceding this the windows on a balcony of the Quirinal palace were opened and a red damask covering was thrown over the parapet. This was a sign that the king was about to appear, and was greeted with cries of "Long live the king!" and "Long live the house of Savoy!" when the king and queen and the royal children emerged upon the balcony, his majesty was in the uniform of a general. The crown prince, dressed as a sailor boy, waved his cap to the multitude. The excitement of the people arose almost to a delirium.

Unprecedented Act
The king then did an unprecedented thing. He gave orders that the Italian flag be raised to the balcony. Then, amidst the thundering cheers of the multitude, he advanced to the national standard, and, folding it in his arms, embraced it.

The royal family then retired within the palace. Later the king called a group of the aldermen inside and to them expressed his gratitude for the loyalty and patriotism of the Roman people.

Cheers for America
After the demonstration before the quirinal, a great crowd, headed by an American flag, went to the Del Drago palace, the residence of United States Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page.

There were loud cheers for America and demands for revenge for the Lusitania victims.

Great excitement was caused in the capital tonight by the report that Signor Bolaffi, Italian ambassador at Berlin, had been assaulted while driving in the street. It was learned later, however, that the incident was not so serious as at first reported, and that the police had begun a rigid investigation. Letters of reproof were sent to Signor Bolaffi by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and Foreign Minister von Jagow. Officials of the socialist party met today in the deputies' chamber and resolved to rally to the support of the government. A manifesto will be issued urging all adherents of the party to work for the national cause.

Doubt Must Be Averged

Admiral Bettelo, president of the Italo-Rumanian league telegraphed to M. Filipescu, president of the Rumanian league at Bucharest, saying that on the day Italy declared war on Austria her thoughts would turn to Rumania, counting upon her assistance at a supreme crisis.

In spite of disavowals by high German officials of the attack upon the Italian ambassador at Berlin, Rome newspapers consider the incident a grave reflection upon Italian dignity. The idea Nazionale declares that the excuses of the German chancellor and foreign minister are insufficient and that the insult must be avenged.

The Tribune believes a fitting reply would be for the people of Rome to accompany the German ambassador to the station the day he leaves the capital and "return Latin civility for an act of German barbarism."

The Observatore Romano, the Vatican organ, in editorial articles urges a complete union of all Italians and a truce to political passions. It expresses the hope that Italy may be spared the horrors of a long war and that peace soon will be established.

BERLIN PAPERS CONDEMN AT-TACK BY YOUTH ON ITALIAN AMBASSADOR

BERLIN, via London, May 22, 11:30 a. m.—All the morning newspapers condemn in the strongest terms the attack by a youth on the Italian ambassador last evening and warn against the slightest molestation of Italians who remain in the city. The tone of the press, without exception, is strikingly calm and moderate. In spite of the fact that Italy's course generally is considered treacherous, the articles directed against her contain little in the nature of abuse.

Important Battle in Central Galicia—
Turks Who Attempted to Advance

by Russians—Another British Ship
Torpedoed—Crew Allowed to Escape

King Victor Emmanuel will issue today a proclamation to the Italian people, stating that Italy has been driven to war and appealing for popular support for the government's policy.

Another royal proclamation will be addressed to the army and navy.

Although Italy and Austria-Hungary are virtually at war, no reports have been received thus far of actual hostilities. A train which crossed the frontier from Italy, however, was seized by Austrians who arrested the train crew. Great patriotic demonstrations were held last night in Rome and Vienna and the opening of war is expected quickly perhaps without the formal exchange of declarations.

Battle in Galicia

Aside from the Italian situation the point of greatest interest at present is central Galicia where a battle of far reaching importance, is under way. The Russians are credited with having made progress on both flanks of the Austro-German forces, but apparently have not been able to menace their communications. The main struggle is being carried on along the San, from Przemyśl northward for a distance of about sixty miles. Although the Austrians and Germans apparently are making slower progress than

TO ENTER PRIESTHOOD IN POLICE COURT

THREE LOWELL YOUNG MEN TO BE ORDAINED NEXT FRIDAY AT BRIGHTON

At the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, Boston, next Friday, His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell will ordain to the priesthood three well known Lowell young men, Rev. Albert McDermott, O. M. I., Rev. Brendan C. Shea and Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach.

The ordination services will take place at 9 o'clock in the morning and several young theologians from different parts of the archdiocese will be elevated to the priesthood. On next Sunday, May 30th Rev. Fr. Shea will sing his first public mass at St. Patrick's church, this city, at 11 o'clock and undoubtedly a large number of the friends of the young priest will attend. On that day also, Fr. Quirbach will officiate at St. Peter's church at 11 o'clock.

On Sunday, June 6th, the feast of Corpus Christi, Rev. Fr. McDermott will sing his first mass, also at St. Patrick's church, at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Albert McDermott is the son of Mrs. Sarah J. McDermott, the well known janitress of city hall. He attended the Green school of which his father the late Michael J. McDermott was janitor for many years, and the evening high school. He then entered Holy Angels college, Buffalo, N. Y., and subsequently continued his studies at Ottawa and the Tewksbury Scholasticate. He has three brothers and one sister, among the former being Mr. George McDermott of the fire department. The young priest's father died when he and his brothers and sisters were but little tots, but through the untiring energy, perseverance and devotion of their good mother the children were carefully reared and educated and have all justified their mother's noble efforts in their behalf. Rev. Fr. Quirbach is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Quirbach, his father being the well known cigar manufacturer. He received his education at the Edison and Lowell high schools, Holy Cross College and St. John's Seminary.

McDermott Concert
The Lowell music lovers are evidently wasting no time in taking advantage of the remaining days when reservations may be made for the John McDermott concert which is to be given in this city at Keith's theatre on Thursday evening, June 3. Judging from the call for tickets which have come in during the past few days but few seats will be left for the public.

ROOSEVELT WINS IN
$50,000 LIBEL SUIT

Jury Returned Verdict for the Defendant at Opening of Court
at Syracuse This Morning

Syracuse, N. Y., May 22.—The

Jury in the trial of William Barnes suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt today returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after considering for more than 11 hours the question of placing all the costs of the action upon the plaintiff. It is the belief of the jury that everything Col. Roosevelt charged is true and therefore the plaintiff not having been libeled, is entitled to no damages.

The foreman of the jury, Warren W. Summons, announced that the verdict was for the defendant and then the jury was polled. Ten jurors answered "For the defendant," then the clerk hesitated, called the name of Edward Burns and waited. Burns stood up and in a deep voice said: "For the defendant."

Jury No. 12 gave the same answer. Before the jury came in the spectators in the crowded courtroom were warned that any demonstration would be met with severe punishment. Except for the voice of the clerk and jurors, the room was absolutely quiet until the name of Burns was called. When he announced that he, too, favored a verdict for the former president, the courtroom buzzed like a dynamo with voices. Several persons in the courtroom stood up and waved their hands but there was no outburst of applause.

COST OF THE WAR

Cost Allies $10,000,000,000; Germany 7,400,000,000

PARIS, May 22, 7:15 a. m.—Capt. Edmund Thery, widely known as an economist, estimates that the total military expenditures for the first year of the war will be 50,000,000,000 francs, ($10,000,000,000 for the seven allies, and 37,000,000,000 francs, ($7,400,000,000) for Germany, Austria and Turkey. This makes an average of $1,400,000,000 a month, $48,000,000 a day, $2,000,000 an hour. He believes the economic powers of Great Britain, France and Russia can support the strain much more easily than their opponents.

ROCKEFELLER TESTIFIES

Round Robin Sent to Chairman Walsh Calling for Better Treatment of Witnesses Considered

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Just before John D. Rockefeller, Jr., resumed his testimony today before the industrial relations commission all the commissioners met in executive session to consider the round robin sent last night to Chairman Walsh calling for more moderate treatment of witnesses. Some of the commissioners did not conceal that they thought the chairman's questioning of Mr. Rockefeller yesterday should have been modified. After the executive session the other commissioners did not make public their letter to Chairman Walsh, which it was understood they would do should the suggestion go unheeded. Chairman Walsh said he did not know what had happened in the executive session. The examination of Mr. Rockefeller, said he, has been and will be conducted with due consideration and the truth will be arrived at.

Mr. Rockefeller began today by reading a prepared statement which related to Chairman Walsh's questioning on his view of the regularity of the conviction of John R. Lawson, a mine workers' leader.

Mr. Rockefeller spoke of "blistering questions" and said Chairman Walsh's questions had been framed to make it appear that Mr. Rockefeller conceded there had been wilful tampering with the courts. His statement follows: "Since giving my testimony yesterday I have read with care the stenographer's transcript of the questions asked by the chairman of this commission in reference to the Lawson trial and my view of certain hypothetical cases and the course I would take, should the facts subsequently prove to be as presented.

"As these questions all relate to a criminal appeal at present pending before courts of this country I feel that my position cannot be too precisely stated, both as respects the questions already asked and questions of a similar nature which may be addressed and I therefore desire to give to this commission my opinion on these matters in the form of a written statement which will be unequivocal and admit of no misunderstanding or misinterpretation.

"As already expressed my opinion is that justice should be so administered as to be above suspicion and if in any material particular the trial of Mr. Lawson had been wanting in this respect I for one, should desire to see the supreme court of Colorado, to which the appeal has been taken, carefully consider every ground that may be urged and grant a new trial should any material ground be sustained. "I have no more right than any citizen in this country to attempt to interfere or influence the courts of justice and questions which are so framed as to seek to put me in the position of appearing to concede that there has been wilful tampering with the courts or of stating what I am prepared to do to influence the future course of justice either as respects Mr. Lawson or any other person, I cannot regard as other than improper questions and a direct reflection upon those who are charged with the administration of justice. To sinister reflections of this kind I must decline to be a party even by inference.

"Were I, either, directly or indirectly to attempt to influence the judiciary of Colorado as respects the present appeals in Mr. Lawson's trial I should be guilty of the very procedure against which witnesses before this commission have so strongly protested and which I myself have not less strenuously condemned and I hope the chairman of the commission will not expect from me replies to any questions which imply that I believe others have been guilty of unlawful or improper acts in the administration of justice or that I entertain position superior to that of any other citizen of the republic, either before the law or towards its administration.

When Mr. Rockefeller concluded Chairman Walsh said:

"If there are any questions I ask that you think should not be answered you may state the fact and the commission will consider what should be done. I suppose your high regard for law extends to all officers charged with administration of the law?"

"Yes it does," said Mr. Rockefeller. "You haven't a contempt for officers of the law who do not do your bidding?"

"I don't undertake to direct the officers of the law."

"Do you undertake to correct officers of the law in any position. That is entirely improper."

Chairman Walsh then read a letter written to Mr. Rockefeller by L. M. Bowers, former superintendent of the executive department of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. on Nov. 14, 1913, which included the following:

"You will be interested to know that we have been able to secure the cooperation of all bankers of the city who have had three or four interviews with our little cowboy governor, and we are going to back the state and lend it all the funds necessary to maintain the militia and afford ample protection so that our miners could return to work or give protection to men who are anxious to come up here from Texas, New Mexico and Kansas, together with some from states farther east."

"Besides the bankers, the chamber of commerce and the real estate exchange together with a great many of the best business men have been urging the governor to take steps to drive these vicious agitators out of the state."

"Another mighty power has been rounded up in behalf of the operators, the gathering together of 14 of the editors of the most important newspapers in Denver, Pueblo, Trinidad, Walsenburg, Colorado Springs and other of the larger places in the state."

"Still the governor hobbles with Hayes, Lawson, McLennan and the rest of the gang and either refuses or begs for more time to bring the strike to an end or to apply protection to the miners in bringing in outsiders to take the place of those who have left the state and those engaged in these murderous assaults, whom we refuse to take back under any consideration. Yet we are making a little headway."

"There probably has never been such pressure brought to bear upon any governor of this state by the strongest men in it as has been brought to bear upon Governor Ammons. We have published statements of the earnings of the miners which the agitators disputed and the governor expressed great doubt as to its accuracy."

Commissioner Walsh also called Mr. Rockefeller's attention to another letter written to him by Bowers on Dec. 22, 1913 in which the latter said: "If the governor had acted on Sept. 23 as he has been forced to act during the past few weeks this strike would never have existed ten days."

"We used every possible weapon to drive him into action but he was hand-in-glove with the labor leaders and is today but the big men of affairs have helped the operators in whipping the agitators, including the governor. Now these fellows are cursing him without regard for common decency so everybody is giving him more or less tarry to keep him from backsliding."

"The enclosed is a sample of the resolutions being sent to him besides any number of personal letters."

"Do these letters show your policy?" asked Chairman Walsh.

"Did I write those letters?" demanded Mr. Rockefeller.

"No, but you received them," said the chairman.

"But I did not write them so they can scarcely be said to show my policy," returned Mr. Rockefeller.

"I propose to call your attention to six letters written by you in which you say that you back up these actions by Mr. Bowers."

"The letters mean," returned Mr. Rockefeller, "that there was disorder in Colorado. Naturally every citizen would use every influence to get the public officers to do their duty." He declared emphatically that it was absolutely necessary for him to "back up" the men placed in charge of coal properties.

Several times he objected to form and nature of the chairman's questions.

Despite protests led by Mrs. J. Gordon Harriman, Chairman Walsh evidently was not inclined to modify the vigor of his attitude and repeatedly piled Mr. Rockefeller with questions which the latter declared improper.

Once Mr. Walsh and Mr. Rockefeller parried hotly with questions and answers. Walsh demanding "yes or no," explaining, however, that the witness could develop his answer.

"But you said I must say yes or no," declared Mr. Rockefeller. "I sat here yesterday all day and heard a witness who was permitted to answer questions at any length he desired, and I demand the same right."

When Mr. Walsh agreed that Mr. Rockefeller could answer questions as he wished the tense situation appeared to be relieved.

"Did your company cheat the coal miners in 1913?"

"Never to my knowledge."

"Did the companies with which you combined cheat their men?"

"We never combined with any other companies," said Mr. Rockefeller. He added that the Colorado companies merely joined together to act in the strike.

"Your father paid $6000 for sending out alleged facts for the coal operators of Colorado?"

"Yes, but it was understood the money was to be paid back by the operators."

That's the question to ask when you go to buy your summer wash skirt.

If two-thirds of the possible shrinkage has been taken out of the material and the fittings, it is a safe skirt to buy.

If the skirt is not pre-shrunk, you are sure to have it to make over after it is laundered. You know from experience what that means.

You'll not have that trouble with these Wooltex tailored wash skirts. They are Pre-Shrunk. Sober and that fits comfortably. You need not worry about future shrinkage.

You know the high character of tailoring in Wooltex tailored wash skirts. These tub skirts are made in the same way, with reinforced waist bands that keep their rim, smooth-shaping shapeliness. Come in and see them today.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KELTH'S THEATRE
Because of the wonderful success registered in the photo-play production of "The Heart of Maryland" with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the principal role, Manager Ben Pickett has decided to have a continuous performance from one o'clock this afternoon to 10 o'clock tonight at the B. F. Kelth theatre. In these days when so much is heard about battles it is interesting to know that several thousand men were actually killed in the production of a moving picture. These, of course, are not the main points in "The Heart of Maryland," but they prove to be most spectacular. The gripping story of the southern woman who loved the northern spy and who saved his life, is the main theme of the drama. Mrs. Carter as "Maryland Calvert" drives home the telling points with superb effectiveness, and it is not uncommon for audiences to applaud her acting. Over 2000 soldiers are employed in the scenes, and much special construction was required to give that touch of realism which is demanded in picture productions.
Tomorrow afternoon and evening the Trifurcation club, 50 strong, will give their excellent musical first part in conjunction with special pictures. William F. May has very carefully trained the mixed chorus, and their many friends and others who like tinkling music are bound to greet them. The soloists will be George (Baby) Rogers, Miss Madeline Boland, Herbert McKenzie, John Mcadden, Arthur Foye, Miss Marion Nolan, Jackson Palmer, Miss May McPherson, Miss May Brainer, Walter Clough and Charles Nease. J. Walter Foye will be the interactor and John Christliff will be at the piano. Remember that only the very best is put on at the Kelth theatre, and that this musical melange will strike the popular note. It is a line with everything Manager Pickett is offering nowadays.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
This is the third and last day of the appearance of Elsie Janis in "Betty in Search of a Thrill." During the past two days this lovable comedienne has played to capacity houses and by her inimitable originality in playing the role of Betty has completely won the hearts of her audience. Her perfect naturalness and charm of manner in this play leads to her role a touch of realism not always attained in screen productions. This is the last chance to see this star in this picture. It is the aim of the management to do things rather than say things. Acting on this principle the management has secured a screaming Charlie Chaplin comedy in two reels. It will appear today only. "The Assassinating Hour," a Lubin feature in three reels, is also shown today for the last time. An unusually excellent program has been arranged for the Sunday concert tomorrow. The feature picture to be shown is "Little Sunset," a Paramount picture never before shown in Lowell. It is the story of a four-year-old boy of modern baseball. The star of the play is Gordon Griffith, the celebrated child actor. The author is Louis E. Van Loan, the noted sport authority and Saturday Evening Post columnist. This picture is probably the most vivid picture of big league ball players ever appearing on the moving picture screen. Six other reels are included in the program of the Sunday concert tomorrow. Continuous performance from noon until 10 p. m.

OWL THEATRE
Our Italian ambassador, Thomas Nelson Page has furnished great material for the motion pictures in "The Outcast," which was pictured under the actual masterpicture brand. Mrs. Marsh and Robert Harmon are seen to great advantage in the production, and they are ably supported by a picked cast. Coming Monday, Betty Hansen, royal actress in "Anna Karenina," a Fox play.

ROYAL THEATRE
One of the longest and best Sunday features ever booked by a Lowell theatre will be shown at the Royal theatre tomorrow. "The Lion of Venice" is a George Klein production of ancient times. A beautiful love story is interwoven through a maze of war and spectacular play, one that will be long remembered. Other pictures will complete the biggest Sunday show ever seen in Lowell at the prices. Coming Monday, Charles Chaplin in "The Tramp," his latest comedy. Eight other reels will complete a ten-reel show for Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday and Thursday, the new "Exploits of Elaine" will be shown. This is the only Lowell theatre showing the new "Exploits."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Today Lowell people will have a final opportunity of seeing "Little Mary" Pickett at the Academy of Music in "Such a Little Queen," a picture of the famous light comedy so popular on the stage. In the title role of this piece, Mary Pickett has made one of her very biggest hits. The program, which will be shown continuously today, includes also six other reels of splendid photoplays, both comedies and dramas.

FOR AMERICAN SHIPS

No feeling is growing in this country with more certainty and consistency than the feeling that we ought to come to the aid of American shipping by rehabilitating our merchant marine. Republicans, Democrats, politicians of all parties and non-politicians advocate such a restoration of lost prestige, but there is no unanimity of opinion when we discuss the best way to do it. Opponents of the administration say that the defeated merchant marine bill showed one of the ways that should be avoided, but to offset this is the fact that the administration scheme was the only one propounded that would have relieved our present distress. From present indications it looks as though America must attend to this matter of a merchant marine, if we are to keep any considerable place in the trade of the world. The situation is bad and with the advent of Italy in the war game, it may become momentarily acute.

In an article under the caption "The burning question of a merchant marine," the official organ of the National Chamber of Commerce, points out the necessity of restoring our merchant marine and incidentally asks for a vote of the membership as to the most desirable method of accomplishing it. It points out that some of the earliest statutes in our history—passed in 1789 and 1792—were meant to promote the maintenance and preservation of merchant fleets, and sketches the growth of adverse influences that drove American vessels from the seas and compelled this nation to go literally begging of trade competitors to handle our freight transportation.

It is most significant that the brightest period in the history of the American merchant marine was during the Napoleonic wars and immediately after. Not only was our own freight business done in our own ships, but American vessels were to a great extent carriers of the world's commerce. The tonnage of our ships plying to foreign ports reached its maximum in 1861 when it was approximately 2,600,000 tons. By 1898 it had fallen to slightly over 730,000 tons.

A comparison with the sea-borne commerce of other nations shows how pitifully slight our merchant marine is. Out of a total of about 45,000,000 tons for the entire world, only a little over 2,000,000 is American; twenty millions and a half are British before this war and more than five millions German. America carries less than 9 per cent. of its own freight trade. This is a striking argument for the restoration of American shipping, but a more striking argument is the possibility that very soon we will either have to do our own shipping or let our foreign trade languish for almost a total lack of ships. Should the submarine activity of Germany be continued and should the belligerents make stronger demands on their respective transportation systems, America would be crippled for lack of ships.

Out of the many criticisms and declarations of our prominent men, after the sinking of the Lusitania, stand the statements of two noted political leaders, Senator Cummins, a Republican, and Senator Overman, a Democrat. Both declared in almost identical words that an extra session of congress is advisable, not to declare war but to provide ships for the safe conveyance to Europe of American passengers and American goods. Such ships would relieve us of most of the embarrassment we now suffer. When the government declared for a merchant marine, the strongest argument in opposition was that such a service might lead us into war. The bill was defeated, but even the most optimistic will admit that war is a possibility. An American merchant marine at this time would keep us out of war, and we shall be in danger of getting into the war until we have it. Who can doubt this after the revelations of the Lusitania tragedy and the delicate diplomatic situation that we have entered?

World events have swept away all political and selfish opposition to the restoration of the American merchant marine. All must now see the crying necessity for it. The next session of congress will probably come to the aid of American business and put aside all immaterial considerations in the face of a great and growing necessity. We need a merchant marine now but we will need it far more when the war is over and when we go out into the trade highways of the world in active competition with the great commercial powers. We cannot then permit America to suffer the humiliation of going to our trade rivals for a merchant service which we have in our own hands. We shall have to build up again a great American merchant service, protected by the American flag, backed by the American business and relieving American business from a shameful dependence on any nation on earth but our own.

"CLEAN MILK" VETO

The milk bill which Governor Walsh vetoed on Thursday, known more specifically as "The Labor Clean Milk Bill," had a very attractive name and it may have been framed in the public interest and supported by distinguished and disinterested interests, but nobody should condemn the veto who has not read the message that accompanied it. In this message, Governor Walsh made his position clear and gave many pertinent reasons why this bill might be made the agency of grave injustice and the instrument of abuses far greater than those it would ostensibly correct. The veto of the bill was not a blow to clean milk, but an attempt to prevent what the governor considered an undesirable way of attempting to accomplish this desirable end.

The bill would have given power to the state board of health to step in in specific instances at their pleasure and demand certain regulations and changes in buildings, handling of milk, etc.; it would compel such changes almost immediately under pain of infraction and criminal prosecution. It would be still another handicap to the milk producer who now suffers more from penalizing legislation than the public suffers from lack of it. It would almost certainly injure the dairy industry and increase the cost of milk, as well as operate against the Massachusetts producer to the advantage of the outside competitor.

Governor Walsh wisely said in his veto message: "Clean milk for the babies and invalids is a great necessity, but legislation hostile to the dairy industry, without obtaining clean milk, may prevent thousands of babies in the commonwealth from receiving any milk at all because the price may be prohibitive to our poor people." And again: "What we need in Massachusetts is not more inspection or penalizing, but laws tending to educate and encourage the dairy industry in order that we may have not only clean milk but an abundance of it at reasonable prices." The force of this reasoning will be apparent to those who remember how the price of milk has soared in recent years, in proportion to the soaring requirements of local and state health authorities. It has long been the contention of our Massachusetts farmers that legislation was seriously interfering with the milk industry, and that laws to encourage it would go a great deal farther than such discouraging laws as that the governor has vetoed.

Outside of Massachusetts we find government experts and the heads of the great meat and dairy industries advocating the restoration of our New England farming industries, and in Massachusetts we find well meant but unwise health agitators defeating their ends by prohibitive legislation. Supervisory legislation is desirable, but it should be possible to achieve the good things of the clean milk bill without making it so sweeping in its requirements. As the governor suggests, the matter should be left to the state department of health whose province it is to see that communicable disease is eliminated and which is so constituted as to command the confidence and respect of the entire country. Any measure carrying the sanction of this body cannot be viewed lightly by the legislature or the chief executive.

The usual charge will be made—and in fact has been made—that Governor Walsh had political motives in vetoing the bill. The same charge would have been made had he signed it. Suffice it to say that it took courage to veto a bill which had such a popular appeal, Mexico and Haiti. This conference is in its very name, and which was backed—strangely enough—by the American Federation of Labor, which seems to have been misled in the matter. The veto message will appeal to many fair-minded supporters of the intended measure as well as those who opposed it.

CHILDREN OF THE DIVORCED

Two days ago a man and a woman entered a church in Brookline and were married. Some years ago this same man and woman had gone through the same ceremony, but last March they were parted through the agency of the divorce court, the wife being given custody and the custody of their three children. Now they have taken up the threads of their shattered romance and begun married life all over again impelled by the mutual love they bore their three children.

An unusual story—but not unique. Now and again some couple sit in their separate ways, ponder on the promise of happier days and look at the tragedy of the child that has no home in the real sense of the word—the child that knows none of the sanctity of home and family. In all our large cities, how many hundreds of children of divorced parents realize poignantly the tragedy of wretched lives! Sometimes they live with the father and never hear of the mother except in terms of hate, indecency and derision; sometimes they live with the bitter mother and hear of the father in terms that do not foster love or respect. Often the children grow up to learn all the unsavory details of the court trial, with its revelations of scandal and shame. Surely the tragedy of the children of divorcees is a great tragedy, as seen by those who have known the sanctity of the Christian home.

There is a lesson for all fathers and mothers in this Brookline story which tells of the all-conquering paternal and maternal instinct. The pity of it is that they did not put passion aside and reckon the cost before they opened their lives in the divorce court like a scroll before prurient and prying eyes. Had they thought of the three children first as well as last, how different it would have been! All honor to them for their brave attempt to put aside the dead past, and may their influence deter others from taking the step that takes from the child one of the things it needs most—respect for its parents.

TWO GREAT DELEGATIONS

In a few days one of the most important trade conferences ever held in this country will be opened in Washington by the president of the United States. It is the Pan-American financial conference, in which every republic of the western hemisphere will be represented.

GENIUS MISAPPLIED

One cannot look over the world in thought at the present time without admiring the fearful thoroughness with which war is waged. All of the nations involved have devoted their energies towards the destruction of some national foe, and the best brains of each respective power are working on plans for military extermination of their fellow men. In deadly inventions on land, on sea, under the sea and in the air, the might of man's genius is shown, but to what an end is it consecrated? Minds that might have followed the leadership of a Shakespeare, a Dante, a Goethe, are bent on an all-consuming interest that of organized murder. Never before did the world see such perfection of the agencies of death. With war as the motive, science and invention have leaped forward in great strides and the professor in his laboratory, the inventor among his chemicals, the chemist, the scholar in the cabinet, the general in the field—all plan for national supremacy. Could this wasted genius be turned from its present purpose and devoted to the ways of peace, how would the world profit thereby? And what of the problems that await solution?—the diseases to be conquered, the ignorance to be overcome, the suffering to be assuaged, the tears to be dried. The heart sickens at the prospect: Who can paint the waste of war, or find words to truthfully describe it?

EDITORIAL COMMENT

IN MEXICO
What kind of a game is this, that Messrs. Wilson and Bryan are playing in Mexico, anyway? Is it a farce, or a tragedy? To their countrymen it looks like a combination of both, with incompetence and vacillation the principal ingredients. The world of nations must wonder at the lack of any sense of responsibility manifested by us. And we insist on others observing the Monroe Doctrine. RUSSIAN DEFEAT

The claims of Berlin are extremely difficult to reconcile with the details of Petrograd. At the same time it seems impossible any longer to doubt that the Germans have won a very marked and a very considerable success in the Galician campaign. How marked and how considerable it is impossible with the evidence before us, to attempt to estimate. It seems, however, equally impossible to doubt that it is more considerable than any they have claimed in the past. The recuperative power of Russia has, none the less, always proved one of the most disturbing factors to her opponents in war, and no person familiar with the story of the campaign of Kutnersdorf is likely to underestimate it.—Christian Science Monitor.

IN MEXICO
What kind of a game is this, that Messrs. Wilson and Bryan are playing in Mexico, anyway? Is it a farce, or a tragedy? Reversion to worse than savagery is represented by Lord Kitchener's announcement to the British parliament yesterday that the allies will use poison gases because Germany has begun to put the two sides on an equality. THE ANSWER

The German newspapers have been riddled that nothing regarding the American note is to be printed for the time being. The American people know the full text of their president's note and they sustain him in the demand which he has expressed for them. When Germany replies it will not be long till they know what is said. They earnestly hope that the reply will be in pacific temper, but they will not waive their demand that the slaughter of their citizens by submarines must cease.—Fall River News.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Sun: It begins to look as if the prayers of the inhabitants of Pawtucketville, asking for a new bridge at the falls, will soon be answered. It is hoped by all that the municipal council will make no error by failing to acquire the property along the river bank from the bridge westward to the Pawtucket falls, making this territory a public park as was done years ago along Colonial avenue. The approach to Pawtucketville would thereby be greatly beautified, permitting an unobstructed view of the falls and the picturesque slopes of the Merrimack, which at this spot is unquestionably one of nature's most delightful glimpses in or about Lowell. To the lovers of natural beauty and to all appreciative of civic betterment, it would seem a burning shame for the city to authorize the construction of an imposing concrete structure over this most charming river without a proper consideration to the improvement of its approach. Let the cement houses be cleared away, the banks of the river graded, the desolate wastes of ash, tin cans, paper and other rubbish cleaned up. As an evidence of foresightfulness, open up these beautiful green slopes as breathing places for the people of today and the generations to come. Let the city's splendid drive be prescribed by those who make Lowell their dwelling place, but the dominant impression of the thousands of automobiles touring passing through the city by this route will be of Lowell's delightful spacious concrete bridge spanning the Merrimack and the pleasant memory of the grandeur of her Pawtucket falls, or it will be the reverse impression. Lowell's unsightly treatment properties obstructing the daylight view of this beautiful water fall. Various avenue and the Pawtucket boulevard are the main thoroughfares to the mountains and lake cities of the north. The way leading to one of Lowell's largest hospitals, the avenue to the city's splendid drive well system. Lowell must grow in a westerly direction for there are nine hundred acres of desirable land in this section within the confines of the city yet to be built upon. Lowell today needs a vision that will cause her to look beyond the present needs. Her civic pride should receive an impulse, and her objectionable features should be remedied, for the many unattractive and unpleasant blotches and eye-sores within her limits are a sad commentary on the public spirit of the community. A beautiful city will always attract people. A beautiful city brings commercial prosperity and its civic pride is evidence of her local patriotism.

SCORE LORD KITCHENER

British Papers Severely Criticise Field Marshal—Thousands of Lives Sacrificed

LONDON, May 21.—One of the most remarkable features of the ministerial crisis in Great Britain at the present moment is the sudden outbreak, more or less severe, of newspaper attacks upon Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, the British secretary of war who at the outbreak of the war was the nation's military idol and was loudly proclaimed by these same newspapers as the only man in the country for the position of war secretary.

The Daily Mail and other newspapers under the same ownership have been most violent in these attacks, even going so far as to call into question the military genius of the field marshal. The Daily Mail says:

"It never has been pretended that Kitchener is a soldier in the sense that Field Marshal Sir John French is a soldier. Kitchener is a gatherer of men and a very fine gatherer, too, but his record in the South African war as a night general apart from his excellent organizing work as chief of staff was not brilliant.

"Nothing in Kitchener's experience suggests that he has the qualifications required for conducting a European campaign in the field and we can only hope that no such misfortune will befall this nation as that he should be permitted to interfere with the actual strategy of this gigantic war."

Proceeding to accuse Lord Kitchener of having "ordered the wrong kind of shell," the Daily Mail asserts that "despite repeated warnings that a high explosive shell was required, Lord Kitchener persisted in sending shrapnel such as he used against the Boers, thus causing the death of thousands of British soldiers and incidentally bringing about a cabinet crisis."

After lauding the military skill of Sir John French and his chief of staff, Sir William Robertson, the Daily Mail adds:

"If by any chance Kitchener went to France to conduct the campaign we should probably have a costly object lesson in the difference between African and European warfare. It is to be hoped that Kitchener, with proper and necessary assistance, will remain at the war office, though when the inevitable compulsory service comes his sphere of usefulness will be greatly diminished."

Other newspapers in a less outspoken manner seek to reduce Lord Kitchener's value to that of a good recruiting officer or they excuse him on the ground of being too much occupied in producing recruiting advertisements to attend to the supply of proper ammunition. The Times in an editorial article says:

"Our armies in the field require reinforcements and shells of the right kind. Neither has been provided in adequate quantities, for the simple reason that Lord Kitchener's orders were given too late. Plain warnings were disregarded and the nation was misled into a false security by misleading official reports, with the result that thousands of British lives were sacrificed in an unequal contest."

"The nation will not allow that situation to recur. It must be set right quickly or the consequences will be swift and startling. The whole trouble arose because Lord Kitchener assumed a burden to which no man could have proved equal."

The Times then forcibly urges that the business of supplying army shells and other necessities of war be given into their hands.

While some newspapers are thus almost calling for Lord Kitchener's retirement, other organs like the Morning Post and Daily News protest that a "dead set" had been against him. The Morning Post says:

"The new government will not likely be so foolish as to throw over the man whose presence has held the confidence of the nation and of our fighting forces since the beginning of the war but will rather seek to support and co-operate with Lord Kitchener and take from his overburdened shoulders the secondary work of reorganizing the country's industrial resources so as to supply the army with adequate supplies and munitions."

The Daily News editorially protests in the strongest language against what it terms a press campaign against Lord Kitchener organized by some of the newspapers who at the beginning of the war forced him upon the country."

NEWS FROM CITY HALL CLAIM STOLEN ARTICLES

Senator Marchand called Mayor Murphy by telephone at the noon hour yesterday to inform him that the committee on municipal finance would give a hearing at the state house Monday morning at 11 o'clock on the petition of the city of Lowell to borrow $700,000 outside the debt limit for the construction of a new high school. The hearing will be attended by the mayor and other members of the municipal council; members of the school board; Superintendent of Schools Motley; and Principal Irish of the high school. There is considerable opposition to the bill and the school plan as outlined by the municipal council and school committee, and the probabilities are that the opponents will have their innings at the hearing before the municipal finance committee. The hearing should be held in Lowell.

Building Boom Is On

There was "some" action in the office of the superintendent of buildings at city hall. Things were moving lively and it looked like a real building revival. Scores of permits for minor jobs were passed out and permits for new buildings included the following: A. B. Cameron, corner of Pine and Stevens streets, apartment and business block. The estimated cost is $13,500. The building will contain four apartments, five rooms, pantry and bath, and three stories. It will be 73 by 35 feet and three stories high. Percy Varnum will build a dwelling at 106 Highland avenue. The house will be 23 by 30 feet, seven rooms, pantry and bath, two stories and the estimated cost is $2800. Michael McCarthy has been granted a permit for a two-family house in Rogers street, near the corner of Hanks street. The building will be 27-8 by 34 feet, with an ell 21 by 15 feet; two and one-half stories and the estimated cost is $1000. Patrick P. Mahoney will erect a $1900 dwelling at 54 Georgia avenue. The building will be 23 by 30 feet, 8 rooms, pantry and bath, 2 1/2 stories. James A. Brien has been granted a permit for the erection of a six-apartment house in Vine street, corner of Apple street. Each of the apartments will have five rooms and bath. The building will be 65 by 35 feet, three stories, and the estimated cost is $6000. Jas. Russell is remodeling a building at 81 Nesmith street. The estimated cost of the additions and alterations is $1500.

FRANK RICARD'S

Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, dean of Simmons college of Boston, and Mrs. Roberts of 60 North State street, Concord, N. H., called at the local police station yesterday and positively identified the traveling bags and contents found on the two young men who were arrested early Tuesday morning by Patrolman Boyle while alighting from a freight car in the vicinity of the Middlesex street station, as property stolen from them during the past two weeks. The defendants who gave the names of Jesse Coleman and John Reed were brought before Judge Enright charged with riding on a freight car without right, and their cases were continued for another day.

Through the local finger print system John Reed has been identified as Percy C. Clough, who is now on parole from the Massachusetts reformatory, having been sentenced there for five years in 1910 from the Worcester county superior court. His home is in Buffalo, N. Y., but for several years he worked in Fitchburg, Coleman, who claims Rochester, N. Y., and Oklahoma as his home, refuses to give any further information about himself.

The identity of the owners of the traveling bags and other articles taken from the defendants at the time of their arrest was established by Supt. Redmond Welch assisted by M. O. Sargent, special agent of the B. & M. railroad, and one of his subordinates, George E. Newcomb.

Besides the bags containing hosiery, etc., which Coleman carried, it was learned that two other bags had been shipped from Meredith, N. H., to Boston. They were addressed to Jesse Coleman and marked "to be called for." In the bags were found two pairs of opera glasses valued at $25; a kodak camera valued at $25; a thermos bottle, toilet sets, and a large quantity of stationery stamped "Simmons college, Sarah Louise Arnold."

Miss Arnold was immediately asked to come to Lowell and look at the articles and she arrived here yesterday and identified two of the bags and contents. She stated that the traveling bags and contents were taken from her summer camp at Centre Harbor, N. H., last Monday morning, according to a report of the caretaker. The New Hampshire police were notified and were searching for the culprits.

An envelope addressed to Mrs. Roberts of Concord, N. H., was also found in one of the bags and she, too, was notified. Mrs. Roberts came here and identified Coleman as a young man she hired to sell hosiery for a firm she represented, believing him to be an industrious young man. He disappeared Tuesday with bag and hosiery, she said.

A Haverhill inspector also called at the station yesterday as the description of Coleman seemed to tally with that of Carl Kimball, a man who is wanted for larceny of $245 from that city. The inspector said Coleman is not the man wanted though he resembles Kimball in many respects.

When confronted by the owners of the traveling bags it is said the young morning and was awarded Arthur P. Knapp. There were but two bidders. Mr. Knapp bid $437 and Frank A. Donnelly bid $132.

NEW YORK, May 21.—A steady tone prevailed in today's early stock market. Issues of all classes showing gains. These extended to a full point in the case of some so-called war specialties. Cuffed Steels, Coppers and Mexican Petroleum joined in the rise and representative railroad stocks rose substantially after temporary hesitation. Chesapeake & Ohio and Missouri Pacific, features of yesterday's session rose from material fractions to a point. Dealings were on a moderate scale.

Missouri Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and Rock Island manifested renewed weakness later with some effect on standard shares. Trading in the first hour was moderate, but the unusual character of the market may be gauged from the fact that the most active issue in that period was Crucible Steel, one of the belated war specialties, which gained  $\frac{3}{4}$  points, selling at a new high record. Can. Pac. was the feature of the high priced railways, gaining two points. By noon dealings ruled and prices showed recessions ranging from fractions to a point. Bids were easy.

Crucible Steel continued to dominate the market, extending its gains to four points on steady accumulation. Otherwise prices were irregular and trading became extremely dull.

In the later dealings a further rise in specialties was offset by recurring weakness in low priced railroads. The closing was firm.

BUILDING AND REALTY

Big Apartment and Business Block in Highlands - Another on Appleton Street

The apartment and business block to be built at the corner of Pine and Stevens streets by A. B. Cameron will be a somewhat novel feature for Lowell. The other building permits issued within the last few days, and noted in yesterday's Sun indicate a building boom of unusual proportions right at the opening of the season.

Hon. James E. O'Donnell, who recently purchased the Pease property at Merrimack street and Midden lane for his father, James P. O'Donnell, the well known undertaker, when asked whether or not any immediate alterations upon the property would be made stated that the new owner had not completed any plans regarding the future of the property.

A. B. Cameron will construct a combination apartment and business block at the corner of Pine and Stevens streets. There will be four apartments, each having five rooms, and the ground floor will contain three stores. This new block will be four stories in height and will measure front 73 feet, side 56 feet. The cost is placed at $12,000.

An addition is to be erected adjoining the property of Josephine Pappeviz at 31 West Fourth street. The barn will be moved to another position on the lot and will be increased to two stories. An addition will be built for storage and entry purposes.

David Gerow is to erect a two-apartment dwelling at 158-160 Chelmsford street at a cost of $2,000. Mr. Gerow will move the building at 159 Chelmsford street to the rear to replace the barn, and will remodel it at a cost of approximately $500.

At the corner of Hank street and Park street, Daniel M. Walker will build a one-apartment dwelling at a cost of $1,000. The house will have eight rooms, bath and reception hall and will have two spacious front and rear piazzas.

Alterations and extensive improvements are being made on the property of James Shields at 145 Middlesex street. A new piazza is to be constructed on the rear of the building and the rear driveway will be changed over. The work will cost $500.

A new dwelling will be built for Carrie A. Stewell at 104 Parkview avenue. The house will have one and one-half stories, with bath and reception hall, and six rooms. The cost is estimated at $2,500.

Remodelling work, including the construction of a new bulkhead and the enlarging of the bath room, is to take place at the property of Gustaf Anderson at 52 Lumburg street. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $100.

The single family dwelling of Jas. Doherty at 221 Beaton street will be remodeled so as to accommodate two families. Extensive alterations will be made to accomplish this change and the work will cost, it is estimated, $200.

John C. Buehler will build a new residence at the corner of Bond street and Highland avenue. The house will consist of 6 rooms, bath and kitchen and will cost $2,000.

In the house of the J. L. Chaffoux estate at 34 Merrimack street, a partition will be removed in order to enlarge the bath room.

Damage caused by a recent fire in the Nesmith estate at 21 John street is being repaired. The repairs will cost $350.

And speaking of sideboards, I wonder if we all realize that when an old mahogany sideboard had a straight cross cut across the back it was intended to support a silk curtain, which formed a background for the china and silver displayed.

It is quite difficult to have a dresser made to order. The proper proportions are about six feet four inches in height and three feet six inches in width. Any book of old furniture supplies illustrations. Probably one might be had of some manufacturer, one specializing in cottage furniture. A dresser is especially suited to the dining room of the modest country cottage. It should have a cover of lace, but of heavy linen, simply hemstitched.

A SUMMER TEA TABLE

A charming tea room in London is suggestive, and its scheme might easily be carried out in a summer house. The floor has a pile carpet of soft gray, and the tea tables, instead of being clothed in white, have hemstitched cloths of pale pink. The chairs are covered with glazed chintz in a flowered design on a plain white ground. The effect is admirable and an agreeable change from mere daintiness.

One of the uses to which the alcove, or small room leading off a large one may be put is that of a tea room. When a single place is set apart for this purpose it is easy to carry out a definite color scheme, and the glimpse seen from the large room is a great addition to it. Any number of charming color arrangements, suggested by the color note of the china used, can be worked out.

CONCRETE HOUSES IN AUSTRALIA

The construction of concrete houses of various kinds, and more especially those of comparatively moderate cost, by what is known as the "poured" process in connection with the use of moulds is growing in popularity in Australia. A prominent building in Adelaide erected a large number of houses a year ago, making use of a method which he developed and which has been styled the "Monolyte" process. The system is a close approach to that which Mr. Edison brought to public notice some years ago, but has been modified to suit the needs of the Australian climate. The use of this system only for building working men's cottages and structures of that class.

In the houses erected in Adelaide the walls and chimneys are monolithic while the roofs and floors are of concrete construction. Doors and ceilings may be of reinforced materials if so desired. The statement is made that by the use of this system a six-room house can be finished in 10 hours, the cost in Australia being considerably less than brick and almost as cheap as wood.

The "Monolyte" system is said to be considerably faster than that practiced by other somewhat similar processes, in that the moulds are of wood with inside faces of iron and stand the full height of the wall. The concrete is mixed dry on the ground and then conveyed by an elevator to buckets above the moulds; fed with water and the wet concrete is poured into the moulds in one continuous stream until the walls are filled in.

The mixture consists of one part cement, three parts sand and six parts of 1-inch stone screenings.

These materials are measured out, then roughly mixed and placed at the foot of the elevator, which, with its empty chain buckets, lifts it to the mixing trough located above the top of the moulds. As previously intimated, the material is elevated to the mixing trough in a dry state and the water is added from a tap which is under the control of an expert concrete mixer.

The moulds are of such a nature that when taken down they may be used repeatedly for other buildings. When the mould is raised the walls are scratched with steel combs in order to give a key for the plaster.

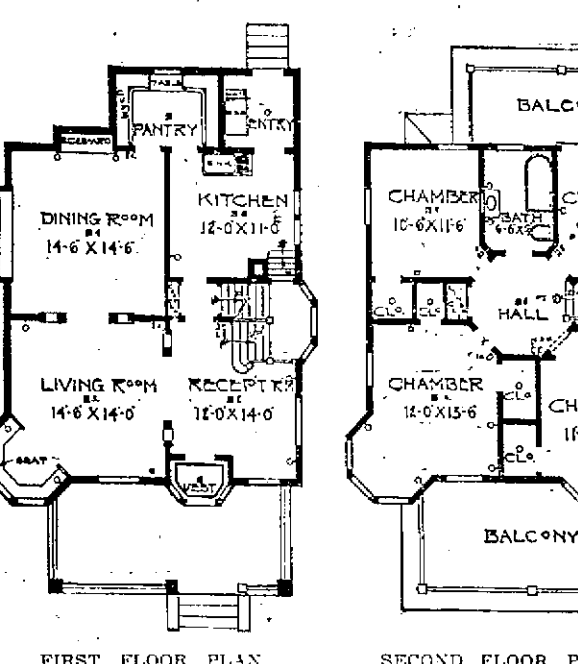

The reinforcement for foundations consists of half-inch steel rods all high and low and in the corners. These are put together on the ground and lifted bodily into position in the center of the mould space. They are held in place by blocking pieces of the same material as the walls and are plastered on the inside and "rough cast" on the outside.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN SECOND FLOOR PLAN

This design can be built with the living room across entire front by omitting archedway and vestibule, which on this plan form the reception room. The large bay in the corner of the living room, with a built-in seat, is a very attractive feature of that room. Stairway to the second story rises from the reception room. Landing has a bay and is well lighted. Second story rooms open on to hall. There are four chambers and bath on the second floor. Balcony can be reached from the rear chamber through a glazed door. Cement block foundation under main part; also under front piazza up to floor height, with siding for the entire exterior. Painted ivory white; shingles on roof stained green. Size, 25 feet wide by 30 feet deep over main part, with a full basement. First story, 9 feet high; second story, 8 feet. Birch floors throughout, with birch or gum finish in the first story and pine to match in the second. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $4,200.

IN TEWKSBURY

Schools Will Close June 24—General News of the Village

Supt. Charles L. Randall of the Tewksbury schools announced yesterday that the closing of the schools in the village for the summer vacation will take place on Thursday, June 24, and on that evening commencement exercises will be held at the Foster school in the Centre village.

According to Supt. Randall this year's school work has been very gratifying to both the teachers and pupils for considerable progress has been made. According to present plans 19 children will graduate at the Foster school and four at the North school.

The list of the graduates is as follows: Foster school—Roger Billings, Harry Nash, Alexander McKillop, Elsa Anderson, Brooks Stevens, Mildred Wells, Patrick Chaney, Daniel Sullivan, Frank McHugh, Gerald Tonks, Llewellyn Johnson, Mary Irwin, Mary Treadwell, Alice Edgemoor, Maud Garstang, Alice Higgins, Alice Gulliland, Catherine Matthews, Olof Osterman.

North school—Gladys Dowles, Gertrude Twiss, George Lynch and Charles Fessenden.

Presented Comedy

A group of young men and women of the Centre village, known as the best theatrical talent in the village, presented a delightful comedy at the Congregational church a short time ago and repeated it in Lowell Wednesday evening, the affair being given at the Fifth Street Baptist church, Rev. Forster MacDonald, pastor. The comedy is entitled "The Kindergarten" and the parts are exceedingly funny.

The audience was kept in a roar of laughter from curtain to curtain fall. The bright comedy was given under the personal supervision of Miss Nettie Eagles, who has had considerable experience in this particular line of work and her efforts in this particular instance were very commendable. The accompanist of the evening was Phoebe Walker, whose playing helped materially to the success of the playlet. Those who took part in the cast and who deserve special mention for their creditable playing were: Clarence Clark, Mrs. W. Cameron, Fred Chick, Marie Combs, Lillian Miller, Arthur Fairgrave, Miss Marion Wiggins, Mrs. Avis Dinmore, Erwin Sweet, Mrs. Fred Fitchell, Lillian Hulten, Florence Garlick, Larkin Chandler, Lena Landers, Franklin Spaulding and Clayton Colby.

Beautiful Lawn

The lawn surrounding the Congregational church is being beautified and men are busy planting shrubbery and plants. The ground will be leveled off and the surroundings will take on a much improved appearance when the men get through their work.

The band stand on the common at the Centre is being repaired and a fresh coat of paint will be applied as soon as the woodwork is finished. This park is one of the most beautiful in the town and is the meeting place in summer, when band concerts are given.

A. S. Briggs is building a home in the Centre village for Adner Goodwin.

Arthur Fairgrave, the genial postmaster, is having considerable alterations made in his place of business on the main road. A new hardwood floor is being laid and other improvements will be made.

New Lights

In accordance to a vote taken at the last town meeting a number of electric lights have been installed on the Andover road in North Tewksbury, but it seems that the residents of the district are not satisfied with the way the lights have been placed. One on each side of the road is not needed there but would have served the purpose better if they had been installed further up the road in order to give the residents of the end of the road an opportunity to get a little light.

There is a great movement on foot in the town to have the electric "juice" supplied by the Reading Electric Light Corp. It is claimed better rates can be obtained from the Reading company as well as better and more efficient service. It was stated yesterday that some of the residents of the town have taken this matter up and are negotiating with the officials of the Reading Electric Light Corp. for rates concerning the extension of the service to Tewksbury. It is said that North Chelmsford is getting better rates from the Lowell Electric Light Corp. than is Tewksbury.

South Lowell

South Lowell is still on the map and the members of the Improvement association bearing that name are bound to have it kept on the map even if they have to interview the mayor and Commissioner Morse every week. The association is composed of some of the highest and most influential men of the district and they mean to do something for the benefit of the community. The biggest problem this organization had to solve, and which is not yet solved is that of doing away with a filthy brook that runs through the district. It is understood that the Lowell board of health's attention was called to this brook, but with no avail. Finally the state board of health was notified and now the matter is in the hands of the state.

Mayor Murphy's attention was called to this brook, which is very detrimental to human health and he turned the matter over to Commissioner Morse. The latter went over the premises with the president of the improvement association and it was stated on good authority that "Charlie" gave up the task of inspecting the brook after being in the vicinity only a few minutes, for the foul smell emanating from the dead water was too much for the commissioner.

The district has been annexed to Lowell for a number of years but nevertheless dry wells are still in use. However, it is hoped the city fathers will see their way clear to lay a sewer in the vicinity before a great while. Lights are also badly needed in certain parts of the district, while some of the residents are crying for city water.

The members of the South Lowell Improvement association held their regular meeting Thursday night at their hall in Carmine street with President Cyrille Menard in the chair. The attendance was large and considerable business was transacted. President Menard reported on his recent trip through the district with Commissioner Morse and it was voted to send a communication to the mayor in reference to the filthy brook that flows through the district. A vote of thanks was extended the authorities of the local

Senate Upholds Governor's Veto of "Clean Milk" Bill

BOSTON, May 22.—The bill making the mayor and police commissioner of Boston and the chief justice of the municipal court a board of censors for theatrical productions and other public performances in this city has been signed by Gov. Walsh.

Milk Bill Veto Sustained

After another long discussion, the senate yesterday, by a vote of 19 to 17, refused to override the governor's veto of the "Clean Milk" bill. A two-thirds vote of the senators present and voting would have been required to pass the bill over the veto. The roll call on the question of overriding the veto was:

Yes—Bagley, Bates, Beal, Bean, Cavanaugh, Eldridge, Ellis, Fay, Gordon, Hays, Jackson, Langellier, Marchand, Mason, Norwood, Perley, Sullivan, Teller, Wells—19.

No—Bartlett, Bazeley, Clark, Cummings, Doyle, Farnsworth, Fitzgerald, Garst, Gifford, Green, Higgins, Hobbs, Kimball, McGee, McLean, Sheehan, Timilty—17.

Paired—Yes, Martin; no, Trafts.

Not voting—Leonard.

Senator Sullivan of Boston was the only democrat who voted against the governor. But Senator Leonard, another Boston democrat, was not recorded. In the discussion which preceded the vote Senator Ellis of Newton and Bates of Boston severely criticized the veto. Senators Sullivan and Fay spoke briefly for the bill and against the veto. Senator Sheehan defended the governor.

Against Rate-making Bureau

The senate refused yesterday to reconsider the vote by which it had previously rejected the bill to create a rate-making bureau for companies which provide insurance under the Workmen's Compensation act. Later in the session the senate killed also the bill for the re-insurance of workmen's compensation risks in authorized companies.

Dentistry Bill Saved

The house yesterday refused to reject the bill for reorganizing the State Board of Dentistry, and permitting dental hygiene in public schools. Representative Lomasney declared that the measure would permit beginners in dentistry to practice on school children. The bill was placed in the calendar of the day by a vote of 112 to 94. The bill of constructing a street railway from Summer street to the Commonwealth pier was ordered to a third reading, as were also the New Haven bills. The debates will come at the next stage.

The resolve for a popular vote on a taxation amendment to the Constitution was passed to be engrossed.

The bill relative to the discharge of insolvent debtors and bankrupts was rejected, 75 to 7. The house refused, 114 to 88, to reject the bill relative to the registration of persons, firms and corporations desiring to install wires or apparatus for electric light, heat or power, and the measure was placed in the orders of the day.

Bills relative to the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia and the Naval Brigade of the Militia were ordered to a third reading under an agreement that the debate will come on the next stage.

The plan for a session of the senate today was given up and it was voted to meet at 1 p. m. Monday.

B. & M. Conference Meet

The conference committee appointed to adjust the differences between the state senate and house with respect to the Boston & Maine Reorganization bill, had a two-hour session at the state house yesterday afternoon, with George W. Anderson, counsel for the public service commission; Everett W. Purdett, Philip Dexter, counsel for certain leased lines, and Mr. Day of the Boston & Maine trustees. No conclusions were reached, and the committee will meet again on Monday at 10.15.

COLLINSVILLE DRAMATIC CLUB

The members of St. Mary's Dramatic club of Collinsville held a minstrel show and dance at Harmony hall last evening. The affair was given for the benefit of the church and was largely attended.

The first part of the program consisted of a musical entertainment, and proved a most enjoyable affair. John Golden acted as interactor, while George Tobin had general charge of the performance.

The soloists were Miss Rose McDonough, Raoul P. LeClair, James Delgan, Thomas F. Tobin, Frank Marshall, Geo. Chapple, M. McInerney, D. Molloy, Ham J. L. Clancy, George Sullivan, C. Clancy, Charles B. Clancy.

The chorus consisted of Misses Rose Costello, Margaret Whelton, Stella Mooney, Helen Wells, Agnes Wells, Anna Harrington, Alice Kennedy, Alice Gleason, Esther Clancy, Josie O'Neil, Nellie Gray, Miss Tobin, Carl Richard, George Wells, Charles Bryant and Anna Millette.

Following the show, general dancing was in order, and Cogger's Novelty orchestra furnished an excellent musical program.

The officers of the dance were: Ernest Mooney, general manager; George Wells, assistant general manager; George R. Tobin, floor director; M. McInerney, assistant floor director; C. Clancy, chief aid; chorus, aids.

POLLYANNA CLUB ENTERTAINS

The attraction at the Grace Universalist church last night was an entertainment given by the members of the Pollyanna club of the church. The program was a corker and the vestry was crowded. "The Old Fashioned Tea," a playlet given by the members, was a splendid contribution. Then, just by way of variety, there was a demonstration of the modern dances, including the fox trot, by Miss Clara Shaw and Edna Hawley. Other numbers on the program included songs by Miss Jessie Richardson and a violin and piano duet by Misses Edna and Ethel Dixon. The ready table was presided over by Miss Mildred Hill, assisted by Miss Sylvia and Miss Dorris Childs. Mrs. H. E. Benton had general supervision, and she was assisted by Miss Bertha Abbott and Mrs. C. N. Woodward.

NEW PICTURE OF KAISER AND TWO SONS TAKEN AT HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE

KAISER, CROWN PRINCE, PRINCE OSCAR AT HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE

In the accompanying illustration is shown one of the latest pictures of the German emperor. It was taken in front of the imperial headquarters in France. In the picture, left to right, are the Kaiser, the German crown prince and Prince Oscar, who is doing active duty in the German army.

THE SPELLBINDER

Twenty-five years ago General Benjamin F. Butler in an address on the Common Schools, said that he did not believe in building palaces for public schools. Many of the children he said came from homes that were poorly furnished; when they entered the handsome schools they became discontented with their position in life.

From all accounts the municipal council wants to construct a palace in Kirk street for a high school. "An addition to the present high school," the promoter have called it; a $700,000 addition, costing twice as much as some of the best high schools in the state. It is amusing to read the different plans set forth relative to what is to be done with that $700,000 if the city gets it. The mayor has frankly stated that in his opinion the school will cost $300 per pupil which will eat up the entire amount on this one feature alone. But we are also told that it is intended to tear down buildings in Kirk and large streets, and erect on their place a vocational school, while there is talk of a central power plant that is going to heat the school buildings, city hall and Memorial building, and the police station.

And all for $700,000, with the high school alone costing over $600,000. Not so you'd notice it.

Furthermore all this talk about vocational schools, central heating plants, etc. is all humbug while the bill now before the legislature is in its present form. That bill provides for not more than $700,000 for the school building. Only that and nothing more, and no outside improvements can be attempted on the money to be borrowed for the specified purpose of a high school.

Under the bill as worded, it isn't incumbent upon the municipal council to borrow the entire amount of $700,000, that amount being the borrowing limit. The council is empowered to borrow only as much as it may need with $700,000 the highest amount. But judging from what has been said at city hall, the intention is to borrow every nickel of $700,000 and sink it into a school.

It is believed that the members of the legislature will attempt to scale down the figure and the attempt will not be surprising for the amount of $700,000 for the building and equipment at best is but an addition to the building already occupied coming from a city of the financial condition of Lowell would cause any level-headed legislator to sit up and take notice.

Spending the Appropriations

At the beginning of the year the board was made at city hall that none of the departments overran their appropriations last year. Now we find complaints that some of the departments have been charging up current expenses to loans for permanent improvements. Perhaps this explains why the departments lived within their appropriations last year, or they may have been only inhibited case that has come to light this year.

In Time of Peace, Etc.

In time of peace prepare for war, and hence while the municipal council is preparing for new high schools, white ways, Fourth of July celebrations, convalescent hospitals, new bridges and street extensions, the taxpayers prepare for a fine boost in next year's tax rate. If any candidate for office appears before you with a proposition to reduce the tax rate next year, don't wait until sunrise; shoot him on the spot. He's kidding you. It can't be done. It can't even be kept stationary. From $21.50 the tax rate went up to $21.50, and the coming rate will be approximately similar, with nothing to show for it, but increases in salaries, automobile and current expenses generally, while one year hence, well, sufficient unto the day is the tax rate thereof.

All Up For Lowell Day

Don't forget the date, May 26th. On that date Lowell will hold a double observance; Lowell day, and the dedication of the new white way system.

Some citizens of Lowell, notably those of East Merrimack street, will not feel much like observing the installation of the white way, but there is nothing to prevent them assisting in making Lowell day a success.

The merchants are entering into the spirit of the occasion commendably, and then it's well they might for Lowell day is designed largely for their benefit, and likewise the white way. They should celebrate the installation of the white way with particular enthusiasm by reason of the fact that as Col. Carmichael learned while on his western trip, in some cities the merchants pay for the white way, and make no protest against the payment, whereas in Lowell they are getting it at the public expense.

But the merchants apparently are appreciative and are doing what they can toward making the day a success. Everybody should back up the board of trade in its effort to bring people and money into Lowell. Of course the board received the cold shoulder at city hall because the scheme originated with the board instead of with the municipal council, and even the municipal band concert was denied the promoters of the celebration. But there'll be a band concert nevertheless, and the musicians will be paid.

Any proposition that will bring money into Lowell is worthy of the support of every citizen whether he is to be personally benefited on the occasion of the event or not. The money brought here, while spent in a limited number of places, perhaps, will eventually be circulated through the city, which by the way is the only argument that can be made in favor of the $3000 Fourth of July celebration.

The fact that the Lowell day celebration is being held on a day when every store in Lowell is open would seem to make that occasion more worthy of an expenditure of the public money than July 4th when only comparatively few places of business will be directly benefited.

The board of trade is trying hard to do a good thing for the entire city with its Lowell day and white way celebrations and should be encouraged and morally aided by all financially by many, in its efforts.

The Cemetery Trustees

The cemetery trustees held their first meeting Wednesday and their actions must have inspired confidence on the part of the public for they appeared to be concerned solely with the financial condition of the department.

Not so, Mayor Murphy, however, who to quote Col. Carmichael, appears to have "wished himself" onto the board of trustees, for all that concerned his honor was whether or not a superintendent of cemeteries could be elected by the board, something to which the members of the board did not refer.

When asked by Mr. Robertson if there were any balances due the cemetery, his Honor replied that he didn't know.

From the published accounts of the meeting one would infer that the mayor had assumed membership ex-officio, though there is nothing in the Lewis bill to warrant his participation in any meetings of the board of trustees. The Lewis bill carefully eliminated the commissioner of public property from any control or interest in the affairs of the department, and the only references to the mayor are that he shall have the power of appointment, subject to the confirmation by the municipal council, and that annually the board shall submit a report to him. Mayor Murphy opened the meeting by stating that he would prepare an ordinance that would give the trustees the power to appoint a superintendent of cemeteries, a matter in which apparently they were not particularly interested. The only reference to the superintendent in the Lewis bill is the following: "The commissioners shall elect one of the members as chairman and shall appoint such other officers as they may deem expedient." That wasn't definite enough for the mayor, and hence the proposed ordinance, which will also be "wished" onto the trustees, whether they desire it or not.

MANY CLOCKS MUST GO

TO ENFORCE LAW IN THE RE-TAIL DISTRICT

BOSTON, May 22.—The law prohibiting poles, clocks, and various advertising devices now located on the sidewalks from remaining after June 1 has been construed as too drastic by the board of street commissioners, and according to their present intentions will apply on June 1 only to a section in the heart of the retail business district. The area which has been definitely defined for restriction begins at the corner of Eliot and Tremont streets, along Eliot to Washington street, through Essex to Summer to Federal to Milk to Congress to State to Exchange to Washington to Hanover to Court to Bowdoin square and to Tremont street as far as Eliot.

This will mean the removal of such well-known clocks as Thompson's Spa, Shuman's, Lloyd's and the Boston Tower, if the present intent of the street commissioners are carried out. They have expressed their willingness to give consent to the placing of these clocks 10 feet above the sidewalk as a projection, however.

The question of the removal of the 45 poles along Washington street at present used to hold trolley wires is to be settled next week, if possible, at a conference called by the street commissioners, at which property owners and elevated officials will be present. The hope is that permission may be secured from the property owners to have the supporting wires attached to the sides of the buildings, thus making possible the removal of these poles.

The enforcement of the rules passed a year ago applying to the remainder of the city is too large a problem to warrant that action be taken until it becomes necessary for the comfort of pedestrians, the board has ruled.

the use of any other department?

Mayor Murphy: "No; it is in trust funds. I don't see where anybody can touch that money. It belongs to the cemetery department, and to that department alone."

Auditor Charles D. Paige was called. He said that the receipts in 1914 were $10,372.22 and that the expenditures were $11,016.49.

Mr. Robertson: "There was spent $513 more than there was taken in last year, according to those figures."

Auditor Paige: "No interest was drawn last year. The interest amounted to $1155.37. That may be drawn from the sinking fund and applied to the perpetual care fund. On May 1 of the present year there was a balance of $2925.23 in the general cash to be used by the cemetery department whenever necessary. Last year the wages and the salary of the superintendent totaled $8419.54."

Mayor Murphy: "So far as the finances of this department are concerned there was no reason for a change to the commission form of administration. I think everyone agrees to that."

Auditor Paige: "You have a balance of over $12,000 to work with this year, and four months of the year have gone already."

Whether Mr. Taylor meant to "test" when he asked that question about the trust funds or not, he certainly recalled the attempt of last year's administration to use the perpetual care funds. Mr. Board's answer to that question was quite interesting, inasmuch as he was a member of the government that attempted to use the funds, as one of those celebrated "saviors" who mention the magnitude of the amount of interest on the trust funds that was lost by withdrawing them from the sinking funds, as was done last year, when the municipal council attempted to use the money for purposes other than those for which they were intended.

North Chelmsford Postoffice

The term of Postmaster Southern of North Chelmsford will expire with the year, and as he is a republican, he will not succeed himself and hence there is a lively contest for the position between several well known democrats. The candidates are James P. Dunnigan, Lewis, William J. Quinlan, John P. McManis, James F. Leachy and John F. Harrington, all highly esteemed citizens and all very well qualified for the position.

Politically, Mr. Dunnigan is the best known, having taken an active interest in national and state as well as local politics. He is the man who discovered Senator Fisher, the first democrat to break into a heretofore overwhelmingly republican senatorial district, and his assistance has frequently been sought by the party.

Mr. Harrington is a member of the committee. All of the candidates have held town offices and have creditable records as officeholders.

BREEZY POINT

Three Act Farce Presented by Campfire Girls at Chelmsford

A three-act farce entitled "Breezy Point" was cleverly interpreted by the Wannanacott Campfire girls at the Chelmsford town hall last evening. The entertainment was largely attended and the entertainers were given a most cordial reception, for all the parts were interpreted in a very satisfactory manner. The farce was followed by several dances, while the ladies in charge of tickets and sales tables reported a very satisfactory business.

The entertainment was given under the personal supervision of Mrs. Albert A. Ludwig, who was ably assisted by Mrs. Lillian Dodge, Haskell. Those who took part in the cast were as follows: Mabel Paignton, Dorothy Reed, Dorothy Hall, Sara Hammond, Dorothy Bunney, Esther Whipple, Evelyn Russell, Edith Adams, Adella Parkhurst, Marlon Gillions, Ellen Paignton and Christina Reardon.

STUDY OF LANGUAGES

NAMES OF MEN TURN INTO WORDS—READ ALL ABOUT CHANGES IN DICTIONARY

The study of language shows how the names of men often become a part of common speech. For instance, our common "dunce" comes from Duns Scotus, one of the most illustrious teachers of the Franciscan order. In his time theological controversy waged loud and fierce. His opponents, on hearing an argument from one of his school, would say contemptuously, "Oh, you are a Duns man" or, more briefly, "You are a Dunce." Finally, the word came to mean a dull, ignorant person—and to be spelled "dunce." We get "alcohol" the alkaolol derived from (alcohol, from Nici, a famous French physician, who introduced the tobacco plant into Europe. The words "mackerel," "haddock," "brougham," "banquet," "incinerator," "mattress" and "boycott" were originally the names of the men who first invented or used the objects or actions described by them. Galvani, an Italian, first called attention to animal electricity, which is sometimes called "galvanism." Another Italian, Volta, gives his name to volt, now in common use.

"Atlas," now a geography, was once the demigod who supported our world by his shoulders. From Homer's "Iliad," we have "Trojan," "Helen," "Achilles," " Hector," who was somewhat of a bully, we have the verb "to Hector." A certain patriotic French minister of finance, M. de Silhouette, sought to curb the extravagance of the government grafters, and so his name was given to the cheap, black outline portrait we now know so well.

This list might be extended indefinitely, as our language is rich in man-derived words.

It is the province of a dictionary to go into the origin and history of words, but The New Universal Dictionary contains the definition of such words as have passed into our common speech. Besides this, in its appendix it contains a real treasury of facts useful in every-day life. Our coupon offer, published in today's paper, explains our good fortune in being able to present what is an encyclopedia and a dictionary combined and in convenient form for daily use. We congratulate our readers and ourselves on this strike of good fortune.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Plans for the Memorial day observance were completed at last evening's meeting of the Memorial Day Camp of Veterans, held in Post Hall.

The committee in charge of providing automobiles for the veterans on that day reported that 10 machines had been secured. It was also reported that the flag holders would be put on the graves in the local cemetery Saturday in preparation for the decoration Monday. These new members were admitted and routine business was transacted.

PASSNORWAY TRIBE, 22. Improved Order of Red Men, met last evening in its wigwam and transacted important business. One proposition for membership was received and acted upon. The deputy great sachem, Brother Wright, accompanied by Past Sachem, John Lawrence, were present and spoke of the intention of the tribe to have a float in the Fourth of July parade.

ELKS LODGE, I. O. G. T. met at the home of Mrs. F. E. McLean at 15 Osgood street, with a large attendance of members. One candidate was initiated and a membership campaign was launched as prizes are being awarded to members who secure new recruits.

Notice of the next district lodge session was received and delegates were elected to attend same, which is to be held in Merrimack on the first Saturday in June. A committee consisting of Mrs. Edie Warren, Laura Hands, Vera Harris, C. A. Lester and W. J. Smith was appointed to arrange for a lawn party. The next meeting of the lodge will be held on the evening of June 5 at 25 Dever street and a committee consisting of Mrs. Tilton, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. White was appointed to have charge. For the goal of the order encouraging remarks were made by different members and several photographs were also served.

400 CASUALTIES IN TRAIN WRECK

HIGH SCHOOL FOR 2000 WOULD COST $360,000

This Would be About Average
Cost of N. Y. Buildings—$180 per Pupil—Cost per Cubic Foot

It is expected that a big delegation will go to Boston on Monday to attend the hearing on Lowell's bill to borrow $700,000 for a new high school. The hearing will be held before the committee on municipal finance at the state house, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

It was stated today that some of those whose properties are included in the list of those to be seized would appear as remonstrants, but the mayor and others interested in the promotion of the school plan think there will be no opposition. There was a report to the effect that the Knights of Columbus would be represented at the hearing and that they would oppose the present plan. Asked if he had heard anything about opposition from the K. of C., Principal Irish of the high school said: "No, I have not heard that the Knights of Columbus would oppose the plan, but I did hear that they would not oppose it. There is no doubt but what they would much prefer not to be disturbed, but they are a big representative body of men and I think they would not stand in the way of so important a civic improvement."

In the construction of schoolhouses in Lowell the thought of cubical measurements, the cost per cubic foot, seems never to have dawned upon the city government or the school committee, so that today if one wants to arrive at the number of cubic feet in the high school he is obliged to take the number of square feet from a rated plan and make them into cubical measurements.

The average cost per cubic foot for schoolhouses runs from 17 to 21 cents and the approximate cost of the present high school was between 18 and 19 cents per cubic foot. That is about as near as one can arrive at it from the measurements obtainable. Two sets of figures were obtained, one from the engineer's office and the other from the lands and buildings department and the working out of the figures set the cost per cubic foot of the high school at about 18-19 cents.

It has been suggested that cubical measurements should be included in the estimates for the new high school as the estimates per cubic foot are more dependable and more important than the estimates per pupil.

In Boston the school house commissioners furnish the architect with the requirements and information for the design and construction of the building, and the approximate cubical contents and proposed cost per cubic foot.

The annual reports of the school house department, Boston, contain tables showing cost of school buildings, cost per cubic foot, children accommodated and cost per pupil. In the

AUSTRIANS SEIZE AN ITALIAN TRAIN

Important Battle in Central Galicia— Turks Who Attempted to Advance Along Black Sea Compelled to Flee by Russians—Another British Ship Torpedoed—Crew Allowed to Escape

King Victor Emmanuel will issue today a proclamation to the Italian people, stating that Italy has been driven to war and appealing for popular support for the government's policy. Another royal proclamation will be addressed to the army and navy.

Although Italy and Austria-Hungary are virtually at war, no reports have been received thus far of actual hostilities. A train which crossed the frontier from Italy, however, was seized by Austrians who arrested the train crew. Great patriotic demonstrations were held last night in Rome and Vienna and the opening of war is expected quickly perhaps without the formal exchange of declarations.

Battle in Galicia

Aside from the Italian situation the point of greatest interest at present is central Galicia where a battle of far-reaching importance is under way. The Russians are credited with having made progress on both flanks of the Austro-German forces, but apparently have not been able to menace their communications. The main struggle is being carried on along the San, a line being carried on for a distance of about sixty miles. Although the Austrians and Germans apparently are making slower progress than heretofore, Petrograd dispatches admit they still retain the advantage.

Turks Driven Back

An official report from Petrograd states that attempts of Turkey forces to advance along the Black sea coast have failed. It is said the Russians compelled them to flee and captured two towns.

Another British Ship Sunk

The British sailing vessel Glenholm was sunk by a German submarine off the Irish coast yesterday. The crew were permitted to leave the ship before it was destroyed and escaped.

Extraordinary Power

King Victor Emmanuel signed today a decree conferring upon the Italian government extraordinary powers during the period of the expected war. Austrian troops are being concentrated in large numbers along the upper course of the Adige river, which flows from the Tyrolean Alps into Lombardy.

The French and German official statements of today tell of only unimportant engagements. Battles were fought last night near Neuve Chapelle and Lorette, and each side claims to have made progress.

Allies Advance in Dardanelles

An official British report from the Dardanelles says the allies have won further ground on the southern end of Gallipoli peninsula.

GREAT BATTLE ALONG 25 MILE FRONT ON EASTERN LINE

LONDON, May 22, 12:05 p. m.—A great battle is still raging along a 25 mile front on the eastern line. Although Russia, apparently, is gaining on both flanks, the decision must come along the sixty mile front in the center, along the river San, in central Galicia where the Austrians and Germans are still pressing the offensive.

The latest Petrograd communication states that this attack is being checked between the San and the great marshes of the Dnieper. The Russian press, while admitting that the Teutonic forces have established themselves across the San, declares they can go no farther in that direction. Petrograd has also been cheered by the official report that the Russians are again advancing against the Turks in the Caucasus.

French Repel Germans

On the western line, Paris reports that the French stopped a strong night attack of the Germans north of Trier, and also have driven the invaders from the slopes of Lorette, thus giving the allies full possession of this important salient.

Australians Defeat Turks

Only vague reports come from the Dardanelles. One of the most significant of them is the despatch from Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, commander-in-chief of the British land forces at the Dardanelles, saying that the Australians have inflicted a loss of seven thousand men on the Turks. General Hamilton describes this as the Australians' revenge for the death of Brig. Gen. W. T. Bridges on Gallipoli peninsula and states that only a few hundred men were lost in this attack.

Special despatches from Athens state that recent reports of successes for the allies have been confirmed. The Turks, however, still hold the summits of Krithia and Kojadere.

No Formal Declaration of War by Italy

No formal declaration of war by Italy against her former partners in the triple alliance has been yet reported but many incidents have occurred of a character indicating imminence of an actual state of war.

The organizers of the New British cabinet are taking a holiday over Whit Sunday, which probably means that the composition of the coalition government will not be known this week-end.

A Geneva telegram reports that Baron Burián von Rajecz, Austria-Hungarian premier, has resigned, but Emperor Francis Joseph is said to have declined to accept his resignation.

PARIS REPORTS RIGHT WING OF AUSTRIAN ARMY IN RETREAT

PARIS, May 22, 3:30 a. m.—The right wing of the Austrian army in Bukovina is retreating toward the Carpathians, according to a Havas despatch from Bucharest filed Thursday. The Austrian rear guard is reported to be making desperate efforts to cover the retreat and check the Russian offensive.

FRENCH AND BRITISH GAIN FURTHER GROUND AGAINST THE TURKS

LONDON, May 22, 1:50 p. m.—Official announcement was made today that the French and British forces operating against the Turks have gained further ground.

EDMUND O'KEEFE DEAD

NEW BEDFORD, May 22.—Edmund O'Keefe, for 13 years inspector of public buildings of New Bedford, and previous to that a pioneer church builder of New England, died today after an illness extending over several months. His age was 83 years.

It was he who completed St. Patrick's church in Norwalk, Conn., which cost in the neighborhood of $350,000. He was the contractor also on Catholic churches in Springfield, Greenfield, Haysdenville, Easthampton, North Brookfield, Hartford, Meriden, Danbury, Naugatuck, Holyoke, Northampton and South Deerfield.

THREE TRAINS COLLIDE 75 BODIES RECOVERED

One of Most Disastrous Wrecks in Annals of British Railroading
—Fire Followed Crash

CARLISLE, Eng., May 22, 1:12 p. m.—One of the most disastrous wrecks in the annals of British railroading took place early today on the Caledonian railway at Gretna, this city, when three trains came into collision. No fewer than 75 persons were killed and the final list may be considerably augmented by death of persons injured. The total casualties probably will reach 400, as the list of more or less seriously injured is very large.

One of the trains was a troop train; another was a local and the third was the express from London to Glasgow.

Most of Dead Were Soldiers

Most of the dead were soldiers. The troop train collided first with a local from Carlisle and before the occupants were able to get clear of the wreckage, the express from London to Glasgow crashed into them. The result was terrifying. Locomotives and cars, shattered and splintered were hurled about in confusion.

Fire Broke Out

Fire broke out in the wreckage and was soon burning so fiercely that the men engaged in the work of rescue were driven back. There was nothing to do but wait for the coming of the fire brigades. These were brought up at all possible speed. Once on the scene they labored with frantic energy to obtain control of the flames but before the fire was put out many of the travelers pinned under the wreckage of the cars were burned to death before the eyes of the onlookers.

Five hundred men of the regiment were on the troop train. When the roll was called after the wreck only 53 officers and men responded. Numbers of others, however, were engaged in caring for their wounded comrades.

Pinned Under Wreckage

Some of the victims who were extricated from the wreckage died soon after.

Doctors braved the flames in their efforts to help those pinned in the tangled masses of wood and iron. One physician, Dr. Edwards, responded to the appeals of two soldiers who were imprisoned by the legs. Facing the scorching flames he amputated both legs of one soldier and one leg of the other, as this method offered the only hope of their escape. One of the soldiers died from shock.

By 5 o'clock this afternoon 73 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage.

VERDICT FOR ROOSEVELT BARNES WILL APPEAL

Jury Returned Verdict for the Defendant at Opening of Court
at Syracuse This Morning

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 22.—The jury in the trial of William Barnes, suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt, today returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after considering for more than 11 hours the question of placing all the costs of the action upon the plaintiff. It is the belief of the jury that everything Col. Roosevelt charged is true and therefore the plaintiff not having been libeled, is entitled to no damages.

The foreman of the jury, Warren W. Summons, announced that the verdict was for the defendant and then the jury was polled. Ten jurors answered "For the defendant," then the clerk hesitated, called the name of Edward Burns and waited. Burns stood up and in a deep voice said: "For the defendant."

Juror No. 12 gave the same answer. Before the jury came in the spectators in the crowded courtroom were warned that any demonstration would meet with severe punishment. Except for the voice of the clerk and jurors, the room was absolutely quiet until the name of Burns was called. When he announced that he, too, favored a verdict for the former president, the courtroom buzzed like a dynamo with voices. Several persons in the courtroom stood up and waved their hands but there was no outburst of applause.

Roosevelt Thanks Jury

After the announcement of the verdict attorneys for Mr. Barnes objected to its receipt. The objection was overruled. The jury was thanked by Justice Andrews for its services and it then filed out into the jury room. Colonel Roosevelt broke off shaking hands with his counsel and newspapermen and hurried to the jury room. There he thanked the jury and shook hands with each member and said:

"In my whole life I shall work in the interest of the public and none of you gentlemen shall ever have the chance to say that I have done otherwise."

The colonel was then photographed with the jury.

After a picture had been taken, the colonel turned to the jury and continued:

"I am more moved by this verdict than it is possible for me to express. None of you, I assure you, will ever have cause to regret your action. I am especially gratified that such a verdict came from a jury composed of men of every political faith."

40 Ballots Taken

The foreman of the jury said forty ballots were taken before the verdict was finally agreed upon. The first ballot was 9 to 3 in favor of the defendant and those figures were maintained for about five hours.

Juror Burns Cheered

Before Colonel Roosevelt separated from the jury he turned to its members and said:

"Gentlemen, this is certainly a typical American verdict. I want to thank you again."

A crowd at the door of the courthouse cheered Juror Burns as he left the building.

John M. Bowers, chief of the Roosevelt counsel, issued the following statement, by authority of Colonel Roosevelt:

"The verdict of a unanimous jury is that Theodore Roosevelt had justified the entire article in suit."

"The victory that Mr. Roosevelt has won is a victory for good government. The issue put to the jury was whether machine government or government by the people should prevail, and the latter has prevailed."

"It is impossible to determine at this time the far-reaching extent of this verdict for good government."

"That the Anglo-Saxon system of determining questions between litigants is rightly lodged in the hands of a jury of 12 men."

"Moreover, it determines that jurors holding political views opposed to those held by a party will not be swayed thereby in determining the question submitted to them."

The foreman of the jury in a statement said:

"After the first ballot we stood 11 to 1 in favor of the defendant. Those figures were never changed—Mr. Burns refusing to change his vote—until this morning."

BARNES TO APPEAL

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Because of the wonderful success registered in the photo-play production "The Heart of Maryland," with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the principal role, Manager Ben Pickett has decided to have a continuous performance from one o'clock this afternoon to 10 o'clock tonight at the B. F. Keith theatre. In these days when so much is heard about battles it is interesting to know that several thousand men were assembled in the south and were put through maneuvers approximating an actual conflict, just to make for that degree of realism which it is necessary nowadays in the production of a moving picture. There, of course, are not the main points in "The Heart of Maryland," but they prove to be most spectacular. The gripping story of the southern woman who loved the northern spy, and who saved his life, is the main theme of the drama. Mrs. Carter as "Maryland Calvert" drives home the telling points with superb effectiveness, and it is not uncommon for audiences to applaud her acting. Over 2000 soldiers are employed in the scenes, and much special construction work was required to give the touch of realism which is demanded in picture productions.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the Princeton club, 69 strong, will give their excellent musical first part in conjunction with special pictures. William F. Way has very carefully trained the mixed chorus, and their many friends and others who like listening music are bound to greet them. The soloists will be George (Babe) Rogers, Miss Madeline Boland, Herbert McKenzie, John McQuinn, Arthur Foss, Miss Marion Nolan, Jackson Palmer, Miss May McPherson, Miss May Blauvelt, Walter Clough and Charles Nolan. J. Walter Foye will be the pianist, and John Gilchrist will be at the piano. Remember that only the very best is put on at the Keith theatre, and that this musical melange will strike the popular note. It is in line with everything Manager Pickett is offering nowadays.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

This is the third and last day of the appearance of Elsie Janis in "Let's Go in Search of a Thrill." During the past two days this lovable comedienne has played to capacity houses and by her luminous originality in playing her role of Betty she has completely won the hearts of her audience. Her perfect naturalness and charm of manner in this play leads to her role a touch of realism, and she always attracts in screen productions. This is the last chance to see this star in this picture. It is the aim of the management to do things rather than say things. Acting on this principle the management has secured a screaming Charlie Chaplin comedy in this picture. It will appear today only. "The Awful Truth," a Lubin feature, is the featured picture. A feature picture is shown, a "Little Sunset," a Paramount picture never before shown in Lowell. "Little Sunset" is a four-reel picture of modern baseball. The star of the play is Gordon Griffith, the featured child actor. The author is Charles Van Loan, the noted sport authority and Saturday Evening Post humorist. This picture is probably the most successful picture of his league ball players ever featured for the moving picture screen. Six other reels are included in the program of the Sunday concert. Continues performance from noon until 10 p. m.

OWL THEATRE

Our Italian ambassador, Thomas Nelson Pace, has furnished great material for the motion picture in "The Outcast," which was pictured under the Mutual masterpiece brand. May Marsh and Robert Harlan are the principal characters in the production, and they are ably supported by a picked cast. Coming Monday, Betty Nansen, royal actress in "Anna Karenina," a Fox play.

ROYAL THEATRE

One of the longest and best Sunday features ever booked by a Lowell theatre will be shown at the Royal theatre tomorrow. "The Lion of Venice" is a George Klein production of ancient times. A beautiful love story is interwoven through a maze of war happenings. It is finely acted by a celebrated cast, and realism has been brought to its highest pinnacle in this six-reel photo-drama. It's a massive and spectacular play, one that will be long remembered. Other pictures will complete the biggest Sunday show ever seen in Lowell at the prices. Coming Monday, Charles Chaplin in "The Tramp," his latest comedy. Eight other reels will complete a ten-reel show for Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday and Thursday, the new "Exploits of Elaine" will be shown. This is the only Lowell theatre showing the new "Exploits."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Today Lowell people will have a special opportunity of seeing "Little Mary" Pickett at the Academy of Music in "Such a Little Queen," a picture-ization of the famous light comedy so popular on the stage. In the title role of this piece, Mary Pickett has made one of her very biggest hits. The program, which will be shown continuously today, includes also six other reels of splendid photoplays, both comedies and dramas.

SECOND GRANDCHILD OF PRESIDENT

His Daughter, Wife of
Sec. McAdoo, Gives
Birth to Baby Girl

She Will Be Named
Ellen Wilson After
Wife of President

MRS. WILLIAM G. McADOO

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A girl was born at 9:15 o'clock last night to Mrs. William G. McAdoo, wife of the secretary of the treasury, and daughter of President Wilson. Mrs. McAdoo was Miss Eleanor R. Wilson, whose marriage to the secretary of the treasury took place in the blue room of the White House, May 7, 1914.

This is the second grandchild of President Wilson. The first was a son, Francis Sayre, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre of Williams-town. Mrs. Sayre was Miss Jessie Wilson.

The baby of the secretary of the treasury and Mrs. McAdoo was born at the McAdoo residence, 1702 Massachusetts avenue, Pascoy, Asst.-Surgeon C. T. Grayson, U. S. N., the White House physician, and Dr. J. Thomas Kelly of Washington were in attendance.

Shortly after the news of the baby's birth was telephoned to the White House, President Wilson mon-tored to the McAdoo residence and was permitted to see his new grandchild. It was said at the McAdoo residence last night that both mother and child were doing well. The baby was described as a very healthy youngster weighing eight pounds.

President Wilson's grandson, Francis Sayre, was born at the White House early in January. He was christened at Williams-town this month. President Wilson went to Williams-town for the ceremony. The president is godfather of his grandson.

ANOTHER AUTOMOBILE
MACHINE PURCHASED LAST YEAR
HAS OUTLIVED ITS USEFULNESS
—PARK BOARD MEETING

The park board met last night to take action on the purchase of an automobile for the department and it was voted to expend $400 for a Buick roadster. The department bought a machine a year ago, but it has some ailment that the automobile doctors can't seem to remedy. It is to be turned over in trade for the new machine and it is understood that $300 will be allowed on it.

Mr. Rountree, of the committee to look up automobiles, said he had seen the agent of the Chalmers-Detroit. He had been willing to take over the Ford car and allow $300 on it. This would make the new car cost $1050.

The agent of the Maxwell said he would allow $350 for the Ford, and would give a Maxwell touring car for $425, and a runabout for $400. The agent of the Buick would allow $300 for the Ford, which would make the cost of the new machine $640. For a Jeffery machine the cost would be $600, $300 being allowed for the Ford car.

Chairman McKay read a letter from the Ford Co. in response to a letter which had previously been sent to Henry Ford. The letter stated that no special price could be set on a car, that the price of the Ford car is the same in all cases.

The chairman quoted more automobile prices. For the Krieger car, $2500 would be the price, $2500 being allowed for the Ford car. For a new Ford car, $240 would be the price, $250 being allowed for the present machine.

The chairman seemed to like the Krieger car. The price of a Ren would be $750, allowing $300 for the Ford. Other prices quoted were, Chevrolet, $235, and Moore $530.

Mr. Carr moved that the Ford car be traded for a Buick roadster. Mr. Greene wanted $640 to include a speedometer. After Mr. Rountree had held telephonic converse with F. B. Emerson of the Buick agency, it was learned that this figure would include the cost of a speedometer. Mr. Carr's motion was put and unanimously carried.

It was voted to have the park superintendent bring in a schedule of prices for the lots on the South common for July 4, the more desirable lots to have special prices put on them. Mr. Greene having suggested that inasmuch as the city is going to spend $5000 for the observance of Independence day it would be well for the park

A HIGH WIRE WIZARD

Did you ever see a man turn a complete summersault, backward and forward on a slackwire stretched 50 feet in the air?

Ringling Brothers have such a wild-air wonder among the hundreds of performers who take part in their exciting program to be exhibited here Thursday, June 10. The man's name is Alvarado Mijares and he is a native of Spain. His brothers, Juan and Antonio also appear on the Ringling program. These men were the most talked of performers in Europe last winter. The work of J. Mijares is even more sensational than that of his brothers. He dances and stands upon his head on a slender wire. He makes the antics of a tight-rope walker perfectly that the audience is convulsed with laughter. He plays the part of a club man coming home in the wee hours of the morning on very unsteady legs. He wobbles and staggers and falls down. People expect to see him tumbling to the ground for Mijares uses no net under his act. He does not leave the wire. Collier away and hat smashed, he comes mis from one end of the wire to the other. His act is a real feat of balance on the solid floor of a stage. Presented on a lofty wire the performance is a hundred-fold more attractive.

This season's aerial and wire numbers are the finest ever offered by Ringling Brothers. They include the daring of the Nelsons, Mark, Rooney, Tybell, Melrose, La Nole, Randall and Klarkson families, and many other troupes. The triple, twist, and turn somersaults performed by Ernest Clark mark a new chapter in aerial stunts. The mid-air numbers begin almost immediately after the fall of the curtain upon this season's new spectacle of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, a gigantic production presented by a cast of 1250 actors and a ballet of 300 dancing girls.

COUNTY TOOK TWO MEN WHO ROBBED SUMMER CAMPS

H., held on a charge of larceny. Both returned without extradition papers.

THE ROOSEVELT VERDICT

BOSTON PAPER PUBLISHED FALSE

STORY OF A VERDICT LAST NIGHT—VERDICT THIS MORNING

Another fake was imposed upon some Lowell readers last evening when a Boston paper was sold on the streets announcing a verdict for the defendant in the Barnes-Roosevelt libel suit on trial at Syracuse, N. Y.

There was no verdict. The Sun published the news correctly. A disagreement was announced and the court sent the jury back to deliberate. A verdict was announced this morning at 10 o'clock.

The statement that a verdict was rendered last night was a fake, pure and simple, but it was in line with many other exploits of the same paper.

BEAUTIFYING THE NECK AND CHIN

The neck and chin are two of the most beautiful features, that is, if they are beautiful and most women can make them so. If they are in earnest and half try. The neck must be neither too fat nor too lean. To correct either condition one should resort to massage and massage. It may seem strange that similar actions have apparently the opposite effects of encouraging the formation of fat and of helping to disperse it. Nevertheless it is true that skin friction and exercises cause a healthy condition of the tissues.

When massaging or exercising a sitting position will most likely be found more comfortable, especially until one grows accustomed to the movements. For there may be a tendency to dizziness. Plenty of fresh air circulating in the room is necessary while exercising.

To begin, sit erect, with shoulders thrown back, chin uplifted and with the head bent as far forward as possible.

Now bend the head from right to left ten times; then the neck should be exercised with a rotating movement of the head. This is done by raising the

FOR AMERICAN SHIPS

No feeling is growing in this country with more certainty and consistency than the feeling that we ought to come to the aid of American shipping by rehabilitating our merchant marine. Republicans, democrats, politicians of all parties and non-politicians advocate such a restoration of lost prestige, but there is no unanimity of opinion when we discuss the best way to do it. Opponents of the administration say that the defeated merchant marine bill showed one of the ways that should be avoided, but to offset this is the fact that the administration scheme was the only one propounded that would have relieved our present distress. From present indications it looks as though America must attend to this matter of a merchant marine, if we are to keep any considerable place in the trade of the world. The situation is bad and with the advent of Italy in the war game, it may become momentarily acute.

In an article under the caption "The burning question of a merchant marine," the official organ of the National Chamber of Commerce, points out the necessity of restoring our merchant marine and incidentally asks for a vote of the membership as to the most desirable method of accomplishing it. It points out that some of the earliest statutes in our history—passed in 1789 and 1792—were meant to promote the manufacture and preservation of merchant fleets, and sketches the growth of adverse influences that drove American vessels from the seas and compelled this nation to go literally begging of trade competitors to handle our freight transportation.

It is most significant that the brightest period in the history of the American merchant marine was during the Napoleonic wars and immediately after. Not only was our own freight business done in our own ships, but American vessels were to a great extent carriers of the world's commerce. The tonnage of our ships plying to foreign ports reached its maximum in 1851 when it was approximately 2,600,000 tons. By 1898 it had fallen to slightly over 730,000 tons.

A comparison with the sea-borne commerce of other nations shows how pitifully slight our merchant marine is. Out of a total of about 45,000,000 tons for the entire world, only a little over 2,000,000 is American; twenty millions and a half are for Great Britain, and more than five millions German. America carries less than 9 per cent. of its own freight trade. This is a striking argument for the restoration of American shipping, but a more striking argument is the possibility that very soon we will either have to do our own shipping or let our foreign trade languish for almost a total lack of ships. Should the submarine activity of Germany be continued and should the belligerents make stronger demands on their respective transportation systems, America would be crippled for lack of ships.

Out of the many criticisms and declarations of our prominent men, after the sinking of the Lusitania, stand the statements of two noted political leaders, Senator Cummins, a republican, and Senator Overman, a democrat. Both declared in almost identical words that an extra session of congress is advisable, not to declare war but to provide ships for the safe conveyance to Europe of American passengers and American goods. Such ships would relieve us of most of the embarrassment we now suffer. When the government declared for a merchant marine, the strongest argument in opposition was that such a service might lead us into war. The bill was defeated, but even the most optimistic will admit that war is a possibility. An American merchant marine at this time would keep us out of war, and we shall be in danger of getting into the war until we have it. Who can doubt this after the revelations of the Lusitania tragedy and the delicate diplomatic situation that we have entered?

World events have swept away all political and selfish opposition to the restoration of the American merchant marine. All must now see the crying necessity for it. The next session of congress will probably come to the aid of American business and put aside all immaterial considerations in the face of a great and growing necessity. We need a merchant marine now but we will need it far more when the war is over and when we go out into the trade highways of the world in active competition with the great commercial powers. We cannot then permit America to suffer the humiliation of going to our trade rivals for a merchant service which we have in our own hands. We shall have to build up again a great American merchant service, protected by the American flag, backed by the American business and relieving American business from a shameful dependence on any nation on earth but our own.

"CLEAN MILK" VETO

The milk bill which Governor Walsh vetoed on Thursday, known more specifically as "The Labor Clean Milk Bill," had a very attractive name and it may have been framed in the public interest and supported by distinguished and disinterested interests, but nobody should condemn the veto who has not read the message that accompanied it. In this message, Governor Walsh made his position clear and gave many pertinent reasons why this bill might be made the agency of grave injustice and the instrument of abuses far greater than those it would ostensibly correct. The veto of the bill was not a blow to clean milk, but an attempt to prevent what the governor considered an undesirable way of attempting to accomplish this desirable end.

The bill would have given power to the state board of health to step in in specific instances at their pleasure and demand certain regulations and changes in buildings, handling of milk, etc.; it would compel such changes almost immediately under pain of injunction and criminal prosecution. It would be still another handicap to the milk producer who now suffers more from penalizing legislation than the public suffers from lack of it. It would almost certainly injure the dairy industry and increase the cost of milk, as well as operate against the Massachusetts producer to the advantage of the outside competitor.

Governor Walsh wisely said in his veto message: "Clean milk for the babies and invalids is a great necessity, but legislation hostile to the dairy industry, without obtaining clean milk, may prevent thousands of babies in the Commonwealth from receiving any milk at all because the price may be prohibitive to our poor people." And again: "What we need in Massachusetts is not more inspection or penalizing laws, but laws tending to educate and encourage the dairy industry in order that we may have not only clean milk but an abundance of it at reasonable prices." The force of this reasoning will be apparent to those who remember how the price of milk has soared in recent years, in proportion to the increasing requirements of local and state health authorities. It has long been the contention of our Massachusetts farmers that legislation was seriously interfering with the milk industry, and that laws to encourage it would go a great deal farther than such discouraging laws as that the governor has vetoed.

Outside of Massachusetts we find government experts and the heads of the great meat and dairy industries advocating the restoration of our New England farming industries, and in Massachusetts we find well meant but unwise health regulations defeating their ends by prohibitive legislation. Supervisory legislation is desirable, but it should be possible to achieve the good things of the clean milk bill without making it so sweeping in its requirements. As the governor suggests, the matter should be left to the state department of health whose province it is to see that communicable disease is eliminated and which is so constituted as to command the confidence and respect of the entire country. Any measure currying the sanction of this body cannot be viewed lightly by the legislature or the chief executive.

The usual charge will be made—and in fact has been made—that Governor Walsh had political motives in vetoing the bill. The same charge would have been made had he signed it. Suffice to say that it took courage to veto a bill which had such a popular appeal, Mexico and Haiti. This conference is in its very name, and which was backed—strangely enough—by the American Federation of Labor, which seems to have been misled in the matter. The veto message will appeal to many fair-minded supporters of the intended measure as well as those who opposed it.

CHILDREN OF THE DIVORCED

Two days ago a man and a woman entered a church in Brookline and were married. Some years ago this same man and woman had gone through the same ceremony, but last March they were parted through the agency of the divorce court. The wife being given alimony and the custody of their three children. Now they have taken up the threads of their shattered romance and begun married life all over again, impelled by the mutual love they bore their three children.

An unusual story—but not unlike. Now and again some couple sit in their separate ways, ponder on the promise of happier days and look at the tragedy of the child that has no home in the real sense of the word—the child that knows none of the sanctity of home and family. In all our large cities, how many hundreds of children of divorced parents realize poignantly the tragedy of wrecked lives! Sometimes they live with the father and never hear of the mother except in terms of hate, indecency and derision; sometimes they live with the mother and hear of the father in terms that do not foster love or respect. Often the children grow up to learn all the unsavory details of the court trial, with its revelations of sordid shame. Surely the tragedy of the children of divorcees is a great tragedy, as seen by those who have known the sanctity of the Christian home.

There is a lesson for all fathers and mothers in this Brookline story which tells of the all-conquering paternal and maternal instinct. The pity of it is that they did not put passion aside and reckon the cost before they opened their lives in the divorce court like a soiled scroll before prudent and prying eyes. Had they thought of the three children first as well as last, how different it would have been! All honor to them for their brave attempt to put aside the dead past and may their influence deter others from taking the step that takes from the child one of the things it needs most—respect for its parents.

TWO GREAT DELEGATIONS

In a few days one of the most important trade conferences ever held in this country will be opened in Washington by the president of the United States. It is the Pan-American financial conference, in which every republic of the western hemisphere will be represented, with the exception of Mexico and Haiti. This conference is not one of those sentimental affairs in which fine speeches and mutual commitments will be exchanged and after which visiting delegates will go home with indigestion and hazy memories of a good time. It is strictly a business conference, during which representatives of South American business will meet representatives of American business and during which plans for financial, industrial and social intercourse will be formulated. It is intended to foster closer trade relationships—and it bids fair to accomplish its ends.

At the present time also a distinguished party of fifteen Chinese are touring this country, having come on the invitation of the associated chambers of commerce of the Pacific coast. They will visit all the principal cities with an eye to future trade expansion on a mutual basis. Bankers, great merchants and railroad magnates from the Orient make up this party which is pleading for the support and friendship of this country and working for better social and commercial relations. Such movements have a great value at this time of strained world relations, and they are timely as forecasting the greatest prosperity boom in our history.

GENIUS MISAPPLIED

One cannot look over the world in thought at the present time without admiring the fearful thoroughness with which war is waged. All of the nations involved have devoted their energies towards the destruction of some national foe, and the best brains of each respective power are working on plans for military extermination of their fellow men. In deadly inventions on land, on sea, under the sea and in the air, the might of man's genius is shown, but to what an end is it consecrated? Minds that might have followed the leadership of a Shakespeare, a Dante, a Goethe, are bent on one all-consuming interest—that of organized murder. Never before did the world see such perfection of the agencies of death. With war as the motive, science and invention have leaped forward in great strides and the professor in his laboratory, the inventor among his chemicals, the chemist, the scholar in the cabinet, the general in the field—all plan for national supremacy. Could this wasted genius be turned from its present purpose and devoted to the ways of peace, how would the world profit thereby? And what of the problems that await solution?—the diseases to be conquered, the ignorance to be overcome, the suffering to be assuaged, the tears to be dried. The heart sickens at the prospect. Who can paint the waste of war, or find words to truthfully describe it?

INDUCTION

A well known detective said, concerning a failure: "I am afraid I didn't use sufficient induction in this case. I was as inductive as Jim Lanigan's daughter."

Jim Lanigan is a drummer. He's hardly home once in three months. He heard his little daughter on the front porch talking to the cat during his last home visit.

"Kitty," she said, "I know all your little boys and girls, and I know your mamma and sister, too, who lives over at number 12, but I ain't never seen your husband or your ma!—I guess they must be drummers."

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

With the last drop of gasoline gone, Emerson found his machine stalled by the roadside, fully six miles from Struthers, at 3 o'clock in the morning. He was overjoyed when he saw, approaching through the darkness, the glimmer of a lighted lantern. A low rumble soon gave evidence that the light was attached to a vehicle of some kind, and soon a wagon, drawn by two stout horses, hove in sight.

"There's a five-spot in it for you if you tow me into town," hailed Emerson. The driver readily consented.

For an hour or more they rode in the approaching dawn.

Just before they reached the village Emerson called to the man on the wagon seat:

"Pretty early to be on the road, isn't it?"

"Yes," the driver returned; "but I have to be out early to get all over my route."

While he was handing over the $5 Emerson inquired:

"Is peddle gasoline in the village?"

A STRANGER

Manager Huchey Jennings of the Detroit Tigers makes it a rule to treat a trout to every one claiming to be a ball player who comes seeking a place with him. One day at morning practice, as Jennings tells the story, a chap wandered in and asked for a chance.

"You're an experienced player?" questioned Jennings.

"Oh, yes," replied the candidate. "Can you hit and field pretty good?"

"Oh, yes, indeed."

"What do you usually play?"

"I'm a right fielder."

"Well, go out in right!" instructed Jennings, "and we'll see what you can do."

Jennings instructed one of the pitchers to hit a few flies to the new man. He caught them all and turned to other affairs. He was back in a few moments and, greatly to his surprise, found the candidate still beside the plate.

"What are you doing here?" he asked. "I thought I sent you out in right field!"

"Yes, Mr. Jennings," was the reply, "you'll have to excuse me, but you've got a stranger here and this is right field in this park!"—The American Boy.

O, why should you, our leader, all so serenely good and wise, Be pictured tenderly in some unworthy enterprise? Why should you be in wait the call of duty and of need? ## EDITORIAL COMMENT

IN MEXICO

What kind of a game is this, that Messrs. Wilson and Bryan are playing in Mexico, anyway? Is it a farce, or a tragedy? To their countrymen it looks like a combination of both, with incompetence and vacillation the principal ingredients. The world of nations must wonder at the lack of any sense of responsibility manifested by us. And yet we insist on others observing the Monroe Doctrine. Does it not impose tremendous obligations upon this nation for the conduct of affairs in Mexico?—Manchester Mirror.

RUSSIAN DEFEAT

The claims of Berlin are extremely difficult to reconcile with the details of Petrograd. At the same time it seems impossible any longer to doubt that the Germans have won a very marked and a very considerable success in the Galician campaign. How marked and how considerable it is impossible, with the evidence before us, to attempt to estimate. It seems, however, equally impossible to doubt that it is more considerable than any they have claimed to the past. The recuperative power of Russia has, none the less, always proved one of the most disturbing factors in her opponents in war, and no person familiar with the story of the campaign of Kutendorf is likely to underestimate it.—Christian Science Monitor.

Reversion to worse than savagery is represented by Lord Kitchener's statement to the British parliament yesterday that the allies will use poison gases because Germany has begun to put the two sides on an equality. Perhaps the Germans, resting on unofficial reports, will claim that they are only doing what their enemies were preparing to do. Yes, and more temperance. More honor and more faith in mankind.—Holyoke Transcript.

THE ANSWER

The German newspapers have been notified that nothing regarding the American note is to be printed for the time being. The American people know the full text of their president's message and they sustain him in the demand which he has expressed for them. When Germany replies it will not be long till they know what is said. They earnestly hope that the reply will be in a better temper. But they will not waive their demand that the slaughter of their citizens by submarines must cease.—Fall River News.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Sun:—It begins to look as if the prayers of the inhabitants of Pawtucket, asking for a new bridge at the falls, will soon be answered. It is hoped by all that the municipal council will make no error by failing to acquire the property along the river bank from the bridge westward to the Pawtucket falls, making this territory a public park as was done years ago along Colonial avenue. The approach to Pawtucketville would thereby be greatly beautified, permitting an unobstructed view of the falls and the picturesque slopes of the Merrimack, which at this spot is unquestionably one of nature's most delightful glimpses in or about Lowell. To the lovers of natural beauty and to all appreciative of civic betterment, it would seem a burning shame for the city to authorize the construction of an imposing concrete structure over this most charming river without a proper consideration to the improvement of its approaches. Let the tenement houses be cleared away, the banks of the river graded, the desolate wastes of ashes, tin cans, papers and other rubbish cleaned up. As an evidence of foresight, open up these beautiful green slopes as breathing places for the people of today and the generations yet unborn, and it will not only be appreciated by those who make Lowell their dwelling place, but the dominant impression of the thousands of automobile tourists passing through the city by this route will be, of Lowell's delightful spacious concrete bridge spanning the Merrimack and the pleasant memory of the grandeur of her Pawtucket falls, or it will be the reverse impression, Lowell's unsightly tenement properties obstructing the delightful view of this beautiful waterfall. Varnum avenue and the Pawtucket boulevard are the main thoroughfares to the mountains and lake cities of the north. The way leading to one of Lowell's largest hospitals, the avenue to the city's splendid driven well system, Lowell must grow in a westerly direction for there are nineteen hundred acres of desirable land in this section within the boundaries of the city yet to be built upon. Lowell today needs a vision that will cause her to look beyond the present needs. Her civic pride should receive an impetus; and her objectionable features should be remedied for the many unattractive and unpleasant blotches and areas within her limits are a sad commentary on the public spirit of the community. A beautiful city will always attract people. A beautiful city brings commercial prosperity and its civic pride is evidence of her local patriotism.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE

CORNER STONE OF NEW COLLEGE BUILDING TO BE LAID TOMORROW BY CARDINAL O'CONNELL

A ceremony of much interest and importance in Catholic educational circles will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 when His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, will officiate at the laying of the corner stone of the new dormitory and recitation buildings now in process of construction at St. John's Preparatory college, Danvers, Massachusetts.

Mention of this event brings to mind the phenomenal growth which this institution has witnessed since its inauguration a few years ago. In the fall of 1907 the Xavier Brothers, with the cordial approbation of His Eminence, the Cardinal, opened a boarding and high school for the Catholic youth of New England.

It has a healthy growth from the beginning and it was not long before it became necessary to make additions to the original structure. First, a chapel, a stone structure with accommodations for 350 persons was erected. Next came the gymnasium, which is located somewhat in the rear of the chapel and fronts the athletic field. Then a road, a road of six acres, which has been thoroughly prepared for the various outdoor sports. The work of building took place during the summer of 1908, just one year after the opening.

Meantime the number of students had increased and the demand for more accommodations was imperative; and in the spring of 1909, ground was broken for a large dormitory and class room building. This has since become the center and most imposing member of the group, and is known as St. Xavier Hall. The solemn dedication took place on August 25th, 1910. His Eminence, the Cardinal, officiating. Increasing numbers made additional buildings imperative, and now a second dormitory and also another recitation building is being erected. The new building will accommodate 150 boarders and 100 day students; St. Xavier hall will accommodate 150 boarders and 200 day students, giving a total of 320 boarders and 300 day scholars when the buildings are completed.

St. John's has increased under its present director, Brother Benjamin, from 10 pupils in 1907 to 355 in 1915. Its graduates are to be found in all the leading Catholic colleges of the east and at the leading polytechnic schools.

The buildings now being built call for an expenditure of over $150,000. Lowell Boys to Assist

The members of the Junior Holy Name society and the members of the sanctuary choir of St. Patrick's church will receive communion in a body at the 8:30 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's tomorrow morning. After the mass the choir members will board a car and ride to Danvers, Mass., where they will assist at the dedication of the new college building of St. John's preparatory college. The start from Lowell will be made at 10:30 o'clock and Brother Osmund desires that all members be on hand at that time. Upon their arrival at Danvers the Lowell choirs will march to the college grounds where they will be assigned to a place near Cardinal O'Connell, who will officiate. The local boys will sing the responses and also render several special selections.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

RICHARDSON LIGHT INFANTRY ELECTED OFFICERS FOR THE ENSUING YEAR

The surviving members of the Richardson Light Infantry and the Seventh Massachusetts Battery association held their annual meeting at the Vesper Country club yesterday afternoon as the guests of Lieut. William E. Farrar of this city. The affair was largely attended, considering the number of members and a most pleasant afternoon was spent.

A business meeting was held, a feature of which was the election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted with the following being re-elected:

President, Dr. W. H. Ruddick; vice president, James W. Beane; secretary, Charles P. Brigham; board of directors, William E. Farrar, W. W. Goodell and A. G. MacCurdy. Mrs. George E. Richardson, widow of the organizer of the company and her daughter, Mrs. Marietta R. Jefferson, were elected life honorary members, while Richard Richardson was elected life associate member.

A banquet dinner was served after the meal speeches were made by members and guests.

EDUCATIONAL FILM

Movie reproduction of Pres. Wilson's Review of America's Wonderful Armada of Keit's

An educational film of exceptional interest will be shown in Lowell the first three days of next week when the movie reproduction of President Wilson's review of America's wonderful armada which was gathered together last Monday on the Hudson will be presented at Keith's theatre.

This feature is one which is especially interesting just at this time when war is the main topic everywhere. Besides being pictorial, the film has a great educational value. In that it demonstrates to the public just what Uncle Sam's navy means. Manager Pickett of the local Keith's house made a very determined effort to procure this film for next week, and Lowell is indeed fortunate in being able to witness its first release.

AUSTRIA'S PERIL IN ALPS AND ADRIATIC WITH UNREDEEMED ITALIAN PROVINCES

ITALIAN-AUSTRIAN BOUNDARY—DISPUTED TERRITORY

"The just aspirations of Italy," in the historic phrase of Signor Salandra, are shown here at a glance. "Italia Irredenta," or unredeemed Italy, includes the Trentino and Istria, where the Italian race and language largely predominate. The Trentino consisted of the old bishopric of Trent, while Istria formed part of the republic of Venice, overthrown by Napoleon. Subsequently, on Napoleon's downfall, both Istria and the Trentino passed into the hands of Austria. In 1866, when Austria was compelled to give up the province of Venice, she retained both Istria and the Trentino, and ever since the unredeemed provinces have been a bleeding wound in the side of Italy. The "Italia Irredenta" provinces are shown dark and lettered in white.

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR PAGE IN ROME AND AMBASSADOR PENFIELD IN VIENNA

In the accompanying illustration are shown Thomas Nelson Page, the American ambassador in Rome, and Frederick C. Penfield, the American ambassador in Vienna. Italy has asked Mr. Penfield to look after her interests in Austria. It was thought that Mr. Page would act in a similar capacity for Austria in Rome, but later it was stated that Prince von Bulow, the German ambassador in Rome, insisted that Austria, in the case of war, should not intrust her interests in Italy to the United States, but to Spain.

THE FRANCHISE REVENUES

STATE TO KEEP TAXES ON NON-RESIDENT SHARES—RECESS INQUIRY FAVORED

BOSTON, May 22.—The senate committee on ways and means which has had before it the taxation bills leased on the recommendations of Gov. Walsh has reported favorably on two important measures.

The bill reported by the committee provides that in 1915 and thereafter no part of the corporate franchise tax paid by any railroad, telephone or telegraph company under the Acts of 1902 shall be distributed, credited or paid to any city or town, but all of said tax shall remain in the treasury of the commonwealth.

That in 1915 and thereafter the corporate franchise tax paid by gas and electric light companies shall be distributed in the following manner: All of such tax paid on account of shares of stock in such corporations held by non-residents of Massachusetts shall be retained by the commonwealth; the remainder of such tax shall be distributed and paid to the city or town wherein the business of the corporation is conducted. Senators Bazeley and Gordon dissent.

The committee also reports a resolve for a special commission of two members of the senate, four members of the house, to be appointed by the presiding officers of each branch and two other persons, to be appointed by the governor, who shall sit during the recess and make an investigation as to the necessity or desirability of changes in existing tax laws.

"Said commission shall draft a proposed law for the taxation of incomes under the power and authority contained in the constitutional amendment increasing the power of the general court to impose and levy taxes. The commission shall report in print to the next general court on or before the first Wednesday in January, 1916."

The committee reported "reference to the next general court" on the bill to extend the powers of the taxation commissioner in relation to the assessment of real and personal property and to give him supervision over assessments and authority to examine local assessors' books.

No report was made on the bill for compulsory returns, but included in the resolve for a recess commission is the requirement that the commission shall incorporate in its report to the next legislature a provision for the making of compulsory returns of income to be taxed.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

FLOWER DECORATIONS

"We girls are going to give a luncheon to a friend who is to be married," announced Marjorie. "We want to make it a flower luncheon and depend on you to tell us how to make the table florally beautiful."

"Well," answered Marie, "nasturtiums are a conventional flower, and when arranged in a border or a compact mass show at a lone advantage. A dish that allows a border of the bright blossoms is best. Flowers with leaves are placed so that the color is in a band around the center and gives the effect of a miniature garden with nasturtium borders."

"The charm of field flowers is undeniable. Wild carrots, or as they have been called by many, 'the queen's lace handkerchiefs,' are easily gathered from the field and last all through the summer. This kind of bouquet is available for decorations at all times. It is as effective at a lone wedding as at a full luncheon; it is equally beautiful on the library table or on the parlor table."

GANG RAIDS JAIL

Attack Follows Arrest by Malden Police of Eight for Gambling

BOSTON, May 22.—After a crap game had been interrupted yesterday afternoon by eight Melrose policemen and eight participants had been arrested after a scuffle in which Capt. L. B. Eaton's right knee was wrenched, a band of rescuers swept down upon the police station, but was detected in an attempt in cutting away the wire screening in the cell windows. The relief party escaped.

About 25 employees of the Fells Rubber factory in Melrose were "shooting the bones" when the raid was made. Eight alleged players were arrested in the commotion which followed. A result of his injury Capt. Eaton will be out of duty several days. The police believe that the rescuing gang was recruited from the other players.

The men arrested will be arraigned before Judge Bruce in the Malden court today. They gave the names of Alexander McDonald and Joseph Gremmon of Melrose, and Walter Crowley, Matthew Powers, John P. O'Neill, Robert J. Turner, George Driscoll and Bernard Maloney, all of Malden.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH., FIRM TURNS DOWN ORDER FOR SHRAPNEL SHELLS

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 22.—C. E. Kolb, president of a local manufacturing concern has refused an order from a European government for shrapnel shells. The order, if accepted would have amounted to about $3,000 a day for an indefinite period.

"I could not sleep easy with the thought that the product of our plant was murdering men in Europe," said Mr. Kolb in announcing his action. "If the United States wanted the shrapnel we would make them."

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Hortense wishes me to give you her directions today for proper massaging of the face. With the tips of the fingers, she says, massage the forehead from temple to temple with a rotary motion, then slide down to the chin and work upward from the chin close to the side of the nose to the eyes. Slide down again each time a little further back, and repeat the motion until the entire face has been covered.

Next work under the eyes with the middle finger from the nose outward to the corners of the eyes. Remember that the movement should be rotary and always up and out toward the ears.

A good massage cream is made of Express oil sweet almonds, 30 minims; fresh cucumber juice, 1 oz.; Lanoline, 4 drams; Oil of Rose, 4 drops. Melt the oil and Lanoline in a double boiler; remove from fire and stir in cucumber juice; before the mixture cools add the perfume, heat until cool.

Some beauty "don'ts" by Hortense I think are worth repeating. Don't forget that glycerine and rosewater are excellent for keeping the skin of the hands smooth and soft. Don't breathe through the mouth, and don't form the habit of keeping your mouth wide open. Not only your health, but your looks will suffer if you do.

Don't eat between meals. Don't go out in the sun without a parasol if your skin freckles, and always wear a broad-brimmed hat. Don't neglect to brush your teeth night and morning, and to brush your gums also.

Don't worry. Don't smile superciliously and say: "That is easy to say."

but how about doing it?" If you mean to do it, I can answer with emphasis, "I do not, never did and never will!" Worry never does anything more useful than make wrinkles. It is a lot harder to do than work. It has nothing in common with beauty, either of face or of mind.

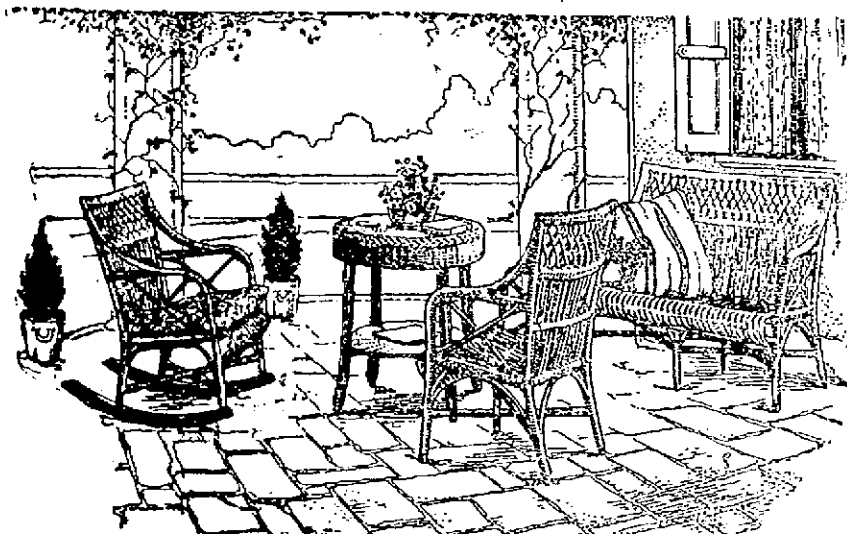

Hortense says that in these modern scientific days people of good taste are not having gold in their teeth. Porcelain has become so perfected that it can be used as safely as metal. By all means, she says, have those troublesome front teeth filled with porcelain, that is, after you have consulted your dentist as to which he thinks would make the better filling for your particular teeth.

The following formula makes an excellent tooth powder: Precipitated chalk, 4 ozs.; powdered orris root, 5 ozs.; powdered camphor, 1 oz. Triturate the camphor in a mortar, moistening it with a very little alcohol. Add the other ingredients. Mix thoroughly and sift through a fine bolting cloth.

The following is an excellent tooth wash that any druggist will make up for you. However, Hortense advises to use prepared chalk in connection with the wash if you wish the teeth to be entirely free from tartar. To use the two, first wet the brush with the wash and then apply the powder.

White Castile soap, 1 oz.; Tincture of Cardamon, 2 drams; Tincture of Asarum, 2 drams; Oil of Peppermint, 1/2 dram; Oil of Cloves, 5 drops; Oil of Cassia, 5 drops; Glycerin, 4 ozs.; Alcohol, 14 ozs.; water, 14 ozs. Use diluted with water.

BUILDING AND REALTY

Big Apartment and Business Block in Highlands—Another on Appleton Street

The apartment and business block to be built at the corner of Pine and Stevens street by A. B. Cameron will be a somewhat novel feature for Lowell. The other building permits issued within the last few days, and noted in yesterday's Sun indicate a building boom of unusual proportions right at the opening of the season.

Don James E. O'Donnell, who recently purchased the Teague property at Merrimack street and Malden lane, for his father, James E. O'Donnell, the well known undertaker, when asked whether or not any immediate alterations upon the property would be made stated that the new owner had not completed any plans regarding the future of the property.

A. B. Cameron will construct a combination apartment and business block at the corner of Pine and Stevens streets. There will be four apartments, each having five rooms, and the ground floor will contain three stores. This new block will be four stories in height and will measure, front, 78 feet, side 56 feet. The cost is placed at $15,000.

An addition is to be erected adjoining the property of Josephine Laprowicz at 41 West Fourth street. The new block will be constructed on the lot and will be increased to two stories. An addition will be built for storage and entry purposes.

David Gerow is to erect a two-apartment dwelling at 155-160 Chelmsford street at a cost of $2000. Mr. Gerow will move the building at 156 Chelmsford street to the rear to replace the barn, and will remodel it at a cost of approximately $500.

At the corner of Bank street and Park avenue, Daniel H. Walker will build a one-apartment dwelling at a cost of $1000. The house will have eight rooms, pantry, bath and reception hall and will have two spacious front and rear piazzas.

Alterations and extensive improvements are being made on the property of James Shillis at 1045 Middlesex street. A new piazza is to be constructed on the rear of the building and the rear stairway will be changed over. The work will cost $500.

A new dwelling will be built for Carrie A. Stetson at 100 Parkview avenue. The house will have one apartment of six rooms, with pantry and bath and steam heat. The cost is estimated at $2500.

Remodelling work, including the construction of a new bulkhead and the enlarging of the living room, is to take place at the property of Gustaf Anderson at 59 Lundberg street. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $100.

The single family dwelling of Jas. Doherty at 221 Beacon street will be refitted so as to accommodate two families. Extensive alterations will be made to accomplish this change and the work will cost, it is estimated, $700.

John C. Butcher will build a new residence at the corner of Bond street and Highland avenue. The house will consist of 8 rooms, pantry and bath and will cost $2800.

In the house of the J. L. Chaffin estate at 340 Merrimack street, a partition will be removed in order to enlarge the bath room.

Damage caused by a recent fire in the Nesmith estate at 21 John street is being repaired. The repairs will cost $350.

And speaking of sideboards, I wonder if we all realize that when an old mahogany sideboard had a straight brass rod across its back it was intended to support a silk curtain which formed a background for the china and silver displayed.

It ought not to be difficult to have a dresser made to order. The proper proportions are about six feet four inches in height and three feet six inches in width. Any book of old furniture supplies illustrations. Probably one might be had of some manufacturer, one specializing in cottage furniture. A dresser is especially suited to the dining room of the modest country cottage. It should have a cover not of lace, but of heavy linen, simply hemstitched.

A SUMMER TEA TABLE
A charming tea room in London is suggestive, and its scheme might easily be carried out in a summer house. The floor has a pile carpet of soft gray, and the tea table, instead of being clothed in white, has hemstitched cloths of pale pink lined with china is abundantly flowered and the chairs are covered with glazed chintz in a flowered design on a plain white ground. The effect is admirable and an agreeable change from mere daintiness.

One of the uses to which the alcove, or small room leading off a large one may be put is that of a tea room. When a single place is set apart for this purpose it is easy to carry out a definite color scheme, and the glimpse seen from the large room is a great addition to it. Any number of charming color arrangements, suggested by the color note of the china used, can be worked out.

CONCRETE HOUSES IN AUSTRALIA
The construction of concrete houses of various kinds, and more especially those of comparatively moderate cost, by what is known as the "mould" process in connection with the use of moulds is growing in popularity in Australia. A prominent building in Adelaide erected a large number of houses a year ago, making use of a method which he developed and which has been styled the "Monotype" process. The system is a close approach to that which Mr. Edison brought to public notice some years ago, but this far the Australian has made use of his system only for building workmen's cottages and structures of that class.

In the houses erected in Adelaide the walls and chimneys are monolithic while the roofs and floors are of strong construction, although floors and ceilings may be of reinforced material if so desired.

It is made that by the use of this system a six-room house was finished in 48 hours, the cost in Australia being considerably less than brick and almost as cheap as wood.

The "Monotype" system is said to vary considerably from that practiced by other somewhat similar processes. In the moulds are of wood and inside faces of iron and stand the full height of the wall. The concrete is mixed dry on the ground and then conveyed by an elevator to flues above the moulds, fed with water and the wet concrete is poured into the moulds in one continuous stream until the walls are filled in.

The mixture consists of one part cement, three parts sand and six parts of 3-inch stone screenings. These materials are measured out, then roughly mixed and placed at the foot of the elevator. The concrete is then poured into the moulds, which are then closed and the concrete is allowed to set.

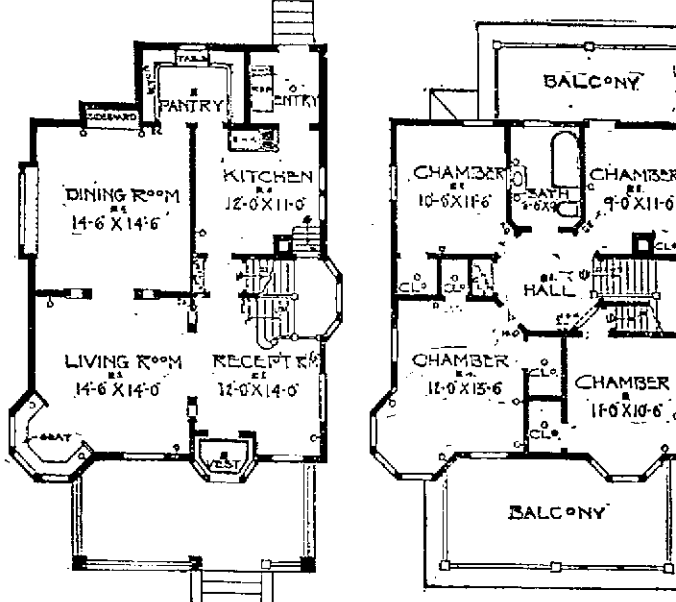

The moulds are of such a nature that when taken down they may be used repeatedly for other buildings. When removed the surfaces of the walls are covered with steel coils in order to give a key for the plaster.

The reinforcement for foundations consists of half-inch steel rods all hooked together at points and turned in at the corners. It is fastened with 3-8-inch, 5-16-inch and 1-4-inch rods as desired are placed 18 to 24 inches apart, both vertically and horizontally, and lifted together at all intersections. These are put in place by means of a crane and are placed in position in the center of the mould space. They are held in place by distancing pieces of the same material at intervals. The houses are plastered on the inside and "rough cast" on the outside.

NEWMATH ESTATE HAS PUT FIRE-PROOF FLOORING UNDER RANGE OF CHINESE RESTAURANT
The fire that recently occurred under the range of the Chinese restaurant and burned down through the ceiling of the Head & Shaw millinery store, has convinced the proprietors of the Nesmith property that conditions, under that range were not entirely safe. As a result of the fire, Contractor Wignin has been called in and is now removing all the brick and floor timbers under the range and putting in steel beams imbedded in concrete so that the flooring will be thoroughly fireproof. Although the millinery store in the Head & Shaw store was not seriously damaged, Mr. Shaw felt that there was danger of fire from the big range overhead and he feels that when Mr. Wignin has completed the job this danger will be removed.

Mr. Wignin will have completed the work in a few days but as the chance affects only the back of the store, it does not interfere with the business at the counters, which is being conducted as briskly as ever.

The Young Women's Christian Association has made arrangements with the Long Meadow Golf club to open a tennis court at the club's grounds on Andover street. All the Y. W. C. A. girls can make a free trial today, and some interesting matches are planned.

IN TEWKSBURY

Schools Will Close June 24—General News of the Village

Supt. Charles L. Randall of the Tewksbury schools announced yesterday that the closing of the schools in the village for the summer vacation will take place on Thursday, June 24, and on that evening commencement exercises will be held at the Foster school in the Centre village.

According to Supt. Randall this year's school work has been very gratifying to both the teachers and pupils for considerable progress has been made. According to present plans 19 children will graduate at the Foster school and four at the North school.

The list of the graduates is as follows: Foster school—Roger Billings, Harry Nash, Alexander McKillop, Eliza Anderson, Brooks Stevens, Mildred Wells, Patrick Cunniff, Daniel Sullivan, Frank McHugh, Gerald Tombs, Lowell Johnson, Mary Irwin, Harry Treadwell, Muriel Edgcomb, Maud Garstang, Alice Higgins, Alice Guillard, Catherine Matthews, Olga Osterman.

North school—Gladys Dowles, Gertrude Twiss, George Lynch and Charles Fessenden.

Presented Comedy

A group of young men and women of the Centre village known as the best theatrical talent in the village, presented a delightful comedy at the Congregational church a short time ago and repeated it in Lowell Wednesday evening, the affair being given at the Fifth Street Baptist church. Rev. Forrester MacDonald, pastor. The comedy is entitled "The Kindergarten" and the parts are exceedingly funny. The audience, except in a room of laughter, from curtain rising to curtain fall.

The bright comedy was given under the personal supervision of Miss Nettie Eagles, who has had considerable experience in this particular line of work and her efforts in this particular instance were very commendable. The accompanist of the evening was Phoebe Walker, whose playing helped materially to the success of the playlet. Those who took part in the cast and who deserve special mention for their creditable playing were: Clarence Clark, Mrs. P. W. Cameron, Fred Garlick, Mamie Combs, Lillian Miller, Arthur Fairgrave, Miss Marjorie Wiggin, Mrs. Avis Dinsmore, Edwin Sweet, Mrs. Fred Twichell, Lillie Hutton, Florence Garlick, Larkin Chandler, Lena Landers, Franklin Spaulding and Clayton Colby.

Beautifying Lawn

The lawn surrounding the Congregational church is being beautified and men are busy planting shrubbery and plants. The ground will be leveled off and the surroundings will take on a much improved appearance when the men get through their work.

The band stand on the common at the Centre is being repaired and a fresh coat of paint will be applied as soon as the woodwork is finished. This park is one of the most beautiful in the town and is the meeting place in summer, when band concerts are given.

A. S. Briggs is building a home in the Centre village for Adner Goodwin.

Arthur Fairgrave, the genial postmaster, is having considerable alterations made in his place of business on the main road. A new hardwood floor is being laid and other improvements will be made.

New Lights

In accordance to a vote taken at the last town meeting a number of electric lights have been installed on the Andover road in North Tewksbury, but it seems that the residents of the district are not satisfied with the way the lights were distributed. It seems that two lights have been placed, one on each side of the electric car waiting room at the end of the Andover street line and those lights are not needed there but would have served the purpose better if they had been installed farther up the road in order to give the residents of the end of the road an opportunity to get a little light.

There is a great movement on foot in the town to have the electric "juice" supplied by the Reading Electric Light Corp. It is claimed better rates can be obtained from the Reading company as well as better and more efficient service. It was stated yesterday that some of the residents of the town have taken this matter up and are negotiating with the officials of the Reading Electric Light Corp. for rates concerning the extension of the service to Tewksbury. It is said that North Chelmsford is getting better rates from the Lowell Electric Light Corp. than is Tewksbury.

South Lowell

South Lowell is still on the map and the members of the Improvement association bearing that name are bound to have it kept on the map even if they have to interview the mayor and Commissioner Morse every week. The association is composed of some of the brightest and most influential men of the district and they mean to do something for the benefit of the community.

The biggest problem this organization had to solve, and which is not yet solved is that of doing away with a filthy brook that runs through the district. It is understood that the Lowell board of health's attention was called to this brook, but with no avail. Plaster from curbs rising to curtain fall. The brook is now the matter in the hands of Rep. Crosby.

Mayor Murphy's attention was called to this brook, which is very detrimental to human health and he turned the matter over to Commissioner Morse. The latter went over the premises with the president of the improvement association and it was stated on good authority that "Charlie" gave up the task of inspecting the brook after being in the vicinity only a few minutes, for the foul smell emanating from the dead water was too much for the commissioner.

The district has been annexed to Lowell for a number of years but nevertheless dry wells are still in use. However, it is hoped the city fathers will see their way clear to lay a sewer in the vicinity before a great while. Lights are also badly needed in certain parts of the district, while some of the residents are crying for city water. The members of the South Lowell Improvement association held their regular meeting Thursday night at their hall in Carmine street with President Cyrille Menard in the chair. The attendance was large and considerable business was transacted. President Menard reported on his recent trip through the district with Commissioner Morse and it was voted to send a communication to the mayor in reference to the filthy brook that flows through the district. A vote of thanks was extended the authorities of the local

Senate Upholds Governor's Veto of "Clean Milk" Bill

BOSTON, May 22.—The bill making the mayor and police commissioner of Boston and the chief justice of the municipal court a board of censors for theatrical productions and other public performances in this city has passed the Massachusetts legislature and been signed by Gov. Walsh.

Gov. Walsh signed the bill as soon as it was carried to his office. The pen with which he affixed his signature he gave to William L. Reed, the executive messenger, who has been greatly interested in the passage of the act.

Milk Bill Veto Sustained

After another long discussion, the senate yesterday, by a vote of 19 to 17, refused to override the governor's veto of the "Clean Milk" bill. A two-thirds vote of the senators present and voting would have been required to pass the bill over the veto. The objection to the question of overriding the veto was:

Yes—Bagley, Bates, Beal, Bean, Cavanaugh, Eldridge, Ellis, Fay, Gordon, Hays, Jackson, Langelier, Marchand, Mason, Norwood, Perley, Sullivan, Teller, Wells—19.

No—Bartlett, Bazeley, Clark, Cummings, Doyle, Farnsworth, Fitzgerald, Garst, Gifford, Green, Haigis, Hobbs, Kimball, McGonigle, McLane, Sheehan, Timilty—17.

Not voting, Leonard; no, Tufts.

Not voting, Martin.

Senator Sullivan of Boston was the only democrat who voted against the governor, but Senator Leonard, another Boston democrat, was not recorded.

In the discussion which preceded the vote Senator Ellis of Newton and Bates of Boston severely criticized the veto. Senators Sullivan and Fay spoke briefly for the bill and against the veto. Senator Sheehan defended the governor.

Against Rate-making Bureau

The senate refused yesterday to reconsider the vote by which it had previously rejected the bill to create a rate-making bureau for companies which provide insurance under the Workmen's Compensation act. In the session the senate killed also the bill for the re-insurance of workmen's compensation risks in authorized companies.

Dentistry Bill Saved

The house yesterday refused to reject the bill for reorganizing the State Board of Dentistry, and permitting dental hygiene in public schools.

Representative Lomasney declared that the measure would permit beginners in dentistry to practice on school children. The bill was placed in the orders of the day by a vote of 113 to 54.

The bill of constructing a street railway from Summer street to the Commonwealth pier was ordered to a third reading, as were also the New Haven bills. The debates will come at the next stage.

The resolve for a popular vote on a taxation amendment to the Constitution was passed to be engrossed.

The bill relative to the discharge of insolvent debtors and bankrupts was rejected, 75 to 3. The house refused, 114 to 88, to reject the bill relative to the registration of persons, firms and corporations desiring to install wires or apparatus for electric light, heat or power, and the measure was placed in the orders of the day.

Bills relative to the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia and the Naval Brigade of the Militia were ordered to a third reading under an agreement that the debate will come on the next stage.

The plan for a session of the house today was given up and it was voted to meet at 1 p. m. Monday.

B. & M. Conference Meet

The conference committee appointed to adjust the differences between the state senate and house with respect to the Boston & Maine Reorganization bill, had a two-hour session at the state house yesterday afternoon, with George W. Anderson, counsel for the public service commission; Everett W. Burdett, Philip Dexter, counsel for certain leased lines, and Mr. Day of the Boston & Maine trustees. No conclusions were reached, and the committee will meet again on Monday at 10:45.

COLLINSVILLE DRAMATIC CLUB

The members of St. Mary's Dramatic club of Collinsville held a minstrel show and dance at Harmony hall last evening. The affair was given for the benefit of the church and was largely attended.

The first part of the program consisted of a minstrel entertainment, and proved a most enjoyable affair. John Golden acted as interlocutor, while George Tobin had general charge of the performance.

The soloists were Miss Rose McDonough, Raoul F. McLaughlin, James Delaney, Thomas F. Tobin, Frank Marshall, Geo. Chas. M. McInerney, D. Molloy, William McGraill, George Sullivan, C. Clancy, Charles B. Clancy.

The chorus consisted of Misses Rose Costello, Margaret Whelton, Stella Mooney, Helen Wells, Agnes Wells, Anna Harrington, Alice Kane, Alice Gleason, Esther Clancy, Josie O'Neill, Nellie Gray, Miss Tobin, Carl Richardson, George Wells, Charles Bryant and Archie Millee.

Following the show, general dancing was in order, and Coggier's Novelty orchestra furnished an excellent musical program.

Music officers of the dance were: Ernest Moore, general manager; Geo. Wells, assistant general manager; George R. Tobin, floor director; M. McInerney, assistant floor director; C. Clancy, chief aid; chorus, aids.

POLLYANNA CLUB ENTERTAINS

The attraction at the Grace Universalist church last night was an entertainment by the members of the Pollyanna club of the church. The program was a corker and the vestry was crowded. "The Old Fashioned Tea," a pantomime given by the members, was a splendid contribution. Then, just by way of variety, there came a demonstration of the modern dance, including the fox trot, by Miss Clara Shaw and Edgar Hawley. Other numbers on the program included songs by Miss Jessie Richardson and a violin and piano duet by Misses Edna and Ethel Dixon.

The candy table was presided over by Miss Mildred Hall, assisted by Mrs. Swanson and Miss Dorris Childs. Mrs. H. E. Benton had general supervision, and she was assisted by Miss Bertha Abbott and Mrs. C. N. Woodward.

THE SPELLBINDER

Twenty-five years ago General Benjamin F. Butler in an address on the "Common Schools," said that he did not believe in building palaces for public schools. Many of the children he said came from homes that were poorly furnished; when they entered the handsome schools they became discontented with their position in life.

From all accounts the municipal council wants to construct a palace in Kirk street for a high school. "An addition to the present high school," the promoters have called it; a $700,000 addition, costing twice as much as some of the best high schools in the state. It is amusing to read the different plans set forth relative to what is to be done with that $700,000 if the city gets it. The mayor has frankly stated that in his opinion the school will cost $300 per pupil which will eat up the entire amount on this one feat alone. But we are also told that it is intended to tear down buildings in Kirk and Paige streets and erect in their place a vocational school, while there is talk of a central power plant that is going to heat the school buildings, city hall and Memorial building and the police station.

And all for $700,000, with the high school alone costing over $600,000. Not so you'd notice it.

Furthermore all this talk about vocational schools, central heating plants, etc. is all buncombe while the city is attempting to read the different bills before the legislature is in its present form. That bill provides for not more than $700,000 for the erection and equipment of a high school building. Only that and nothing more, and no outside improvements. The council is empowered to borrow only as much as it may need with $700,000 the highest amount. But judging from what has been said at city hall, the intention is to borrow every nickel of $700,000 and sink it into a school.

It is believed that the members of the legislature will attempt to scale down the figure and the attempt will not be surprising for the amount of $700,000 for the building and equipment of a high school building, which at best is but an addition to the building already occupied coming from a city of the financial condition of Lowell, would cause any level-headed legislator to sit up and take notice.

Mayor Murphy at Springfield

Mayor Murphy spent a few days at Springfield this week attending the state convention of Foresters, and according to the Courier-Citizen was most busy on an extremely busy man while away.

The Courier-Citizen says: "An effort will be made to scale the figure down by the members of this committee, and the legislature, and the western part of the state, since the mayor's visit there, are well acquainted with the needs of this city as regards education. It is probable that western state members of the committee will favor granting the right to the city to borrow $700,000."

Next week the city of Springfield is to accept a million dollar high school which will accommodate about 1500 pupils. Mayor Murphy looked over this building, recently, and said that it is modern in every particular.

It would appear from the above that His Honor had cornered all the members of the state at the Foresters' convention, and during a bill in the proceedings, or probably under the "good of the order" feature, if there was such, had expatiated upon Lowell's high school needs.

It must be a great relief to the people of Springfield to learn from such an eminent authority that their new million dollar school is modern in every particular. For the amount of money spent it certainly should be modern, and then some. If it takes a million dollars to put up a modern school, how near modern will a school be that costs only the paltry sum of $700,000?

Another Petition Due

It is understood on pretty good authority that another second term petition is about to make its appearance. This latest effort will be promoted by a journalistic supporter of His Honor whose line of indignant talk will be something as follows: "Of course, he probably will not run but we want to present him this petition as a sort of mark of appreciation of his good work while mayor." Then, it is said, when the petition has been presented, His Honor not having been a party in the intimations made by the promoters of the petition, will respond to the call.

It's a good bet; a 100 to 1 shot, that His Honor will run again, but whether he will be elected or not is a different proposition. Don't bet.

What Col. Carmichael Learned

The fact that while on his western trip Col. Carmichael learned that in some cities the expenses of the white way are paid by the abutters and that there is no fault found by those who pay the bills, amply repaid him for the time and expense of his trip. The information was worth going after, and already has caused many taxpayers to do some tall thinking. The expense of the white way doesn't end with the installation of the lights and the first year's maintenance which I believe has been estimated at $22,000. They must be maintained each year, while they are going to be added to. The East Merrimack street people will never be content until they get their lights installed and there are other sections all ready looking forward to white ways in the near future. If, however, the abutters were called upon to pay for the maintenance of the several white ways, undoubtedly the lights would lose their charm in some quarters and the business man would be heard to say: "How do I benefit by the white way? I am open for business only two nights out of the year. Why should I pay?" At present one is supposed to believe that the installation of the white way is to give local business an unprecedented and continuous boom. Let us all devoutly hope so.

Spending the Appropriations

At the beginning of the year the boast was made at city hall that none of the departments overran their appropriations last year. Now we find complaint that some of the departments have been charging up current expenses to loans for permanent improvements. Perhaps this explains why the departments lived within their appropriations last year, or it may have been only an isolated case that has come to light this year.

In Time of Peace, Etc.

In time of peace prepare for war, and hence while the municipal council is preparing for new high schools, white ways, Fourth of July celebrations, convalescent hospitals, new bridges and street extensions, the taxpayers prepare for a fine boost in next year's tax rate. If any candidate for office appears before you with a proposition to reduce the tax rate next year, don't be misled; he is not your friend. He is only a politician, and he is only a politician.

From $12.10 the tax rate went up to $21.90, and the coming rate will be approximately similar, with nothing to show for it, but increases in salaries, automobiles and current expenses generally, while one year hence, well, not belated unto the day is the tax rate thereof.

All Up For Lowell Day

Don't forget the date, May 26th. On that date Lowell will hold a double observance; Lowell day and the dedication of the new white way system.

Some citizens of Lowell; notably those of East Merrimack street, will not much like observing the installation of the white way, but there is nothing to prevent them assisting in making Lowell day a success.

The merchants are entering into the spirit of the occasion commendably, and then it's well they might for Lowell day is designed largely for their benefit, and likewise the white way. They should celebrate the installation of the white way with particular enthusiasm by reason of the fact that as Col. Carmichael learned while on his western trip, in some cities the merchants pay for the white way, and make no protest against the payment, whereas in Lowell they are getting it at the public expense.

But the merchants apparently are appreciative and are doing what they can toward making the day a success.

Everybody should back up the boys of trade in its efforts to bring people and money into Lowell. Of course the board, received the cold shoulder at city hall because the scheme originated with the board instead of with the municipal council, and even a municipal band concert was denied the promoters of the celebration. But there'll be a band concert nevertheless, and the musicians will be paid.

Any proposition that will bring money into Lowell is worthy of the support of every citizen whether he is personally benefited on the occasion of the event or not. The money brought here, while spent in a limited number of places, perhaps, will eventually be circulated through the city, which by the way is the only argument that can be made in favor of the $3000 Fourth of July celebration.

The fact that the Lowell day celebration is being held on a day when every store in Lowell is open, would seem to make that occasion more worthy of an expenditure of the public money than July 4th when only comparatively few places of business will be directly benefited.

The board of trade is trying hard to do a good thing for the entire city with its Lowell day and white way celebrations and should be encouraged and morally aided by all financially by many, in its efforts.

The Cemetery Trustees

The cemetery trustees held their first meeting Wednesday and their actions must have inspired confidence on the part of the public for they appeared to be concerned solely with the financial condition of the department.

Not so, Mayor Murphy, however, who, to quote Col. Carmichael, appears to have "wished himself" onto the board of trustees, for all that concerned His Honor was whether or not a superintendent of cemeteries could be elected by the board, something to which the members of the board did not refer.

When asked by Mr. Robertson if there were any balances due the cemetery, His Honor replied that he didn't know.

From the published accounts of the meeting one would infer that the mayor had assumed membership ex-officio, though there is nothing in the Lewis bill warranting his participation in any meetings of the board of trustees. The Lewis bill carefully eliminated the commissioner of public property from any control or interest in the affairs of the department, and the only references to the mayor are that he shall have the power of appointment, subject to the confirmation by the municipal council, and that annually the board shall submit a report to him.

Mayor Murphy opened the meeting by stating that he would prepare an ordinance that would give the trustees the power to appoint a superintendent of cemeteries, a matter in which, apparently, he was not particularly interested. The only reference to the superintendent in the Lewis bill is the following: "The commissioners shall elect one of the members as chairman and shall appoint such other officers as they may deem expedient." That wasn't definite enough for the mayor, and hence the proposed ordinance, which will also be "wished" onto the trustees, whether they desire it or not.

The Trust Funds

The following took place during the meeting:

Mr. Taylor: "There is no danger of that money being appropriated for

MANY CLOCKS MUST GO BREEZY POINT

BOSTON STREET COMMISSIONERS TO ENFORCE LAW IN THE REALTORY DISTRICT

BOSTON, May 22.—The law prohibiting poles, clocks, and various advertising devices now located on the sidewalks from remaining after June 1 has been construed as too drastic by the board of street commissioners, and according to their present intentions will apply on June 1 only to a section in the heart of the retail business district.

The area which has been definitely defined for restriction begins at the corner of Elliot and Tremont streets, along Elliot to Washington street, through Essex to Summer to Federal to Milk to Congress to State to Exchange to Washington to Hanover to Court to Bowdoin square and to Tremont street as far as Elliot.

This will mean the removal of such well-known clocks as Thompson's Spun Glass, Lloyd's and the Boston Tavern, if the present intents of the street commissioners are carried out. They have expressed their willingness to give consent to the placing of these clocks 10 feet above the sidewalk as a projection, however.

The question of the removal of the 48 poles along Washington street at present used to hold trolley wires is to be settled next week, if possible, at a conference called by the street commissioners at which prominent owners and elevated officials will be present. The hope is that permission may be secured from the property owners to have the supporting wires attached to the sides of the buildings, thus making possible the removal of these poles.

The enforcement of the rules passed a year ago applying to the removal of the city is too large a problem to warrant that action be taken until it becomes necessary for the comfort of pedestrians, the board has ruled.

the use of any other department?

Mayor Murphy: "It is a trust fund. I don't see where anybody can touch that money. It belongs to the cemeteries department, and to that department alone."

Auditor Charles D. Paige was called. He said that the receipts in 1914 were $10,473.20, and that the expenditures were $11,915.33.

Mr. Robertson: "There was spent $242 more than there was taken in last year, according to those figures."

Auditor Paige: "No interest was drawn last year. The interest amounted to $1158.37. That may be drawn from the saving bank and applied to the perpetual care funds. On May 1 of the present year there was a balance of $222.29 in the general cash to be used by the cemetery department whenever necessary. Last year the wages and the salary of the superintendent totaled $6415.36."

Mayor Murphy: "So far as the finances of this department are concerned there was no reason for a change to the commissioner's term of administration. I think everyone agrees to that."

Auditor Paige: "You have a balance of over $13,000 to work with this year, and four months of the year have gone already."

Whether Mr. Taylor meant to "cast up" when he asked that question about the trust funds or not, he certainly recalled the attempt of last year's administration to use the perpetual care funds. His Honor's answer to that question was quite interesting inasmuch as he was a member of the government that attempted to use the funds at one of those celebrated sessions. No mention was made of the amount of interest on the trust funds that was lost by withdrawing them from the savings banks, as was done last year, when the municipal council attempted to use the money for purposes other than those for which they were intended.

North Chelmsford Postoffice

The term of Postmaster Scribner of North Chelmsford will expire with the year, and as he is a republican, he will not succeed himself and hence there is a lively contest for the position between several well known democrats. The candidates are James P. Dunnigan, Lieut. William J. Quigley, John F. MacMahon, James F. Leahy and John F. Fitzgerald. All highly respected citizens and in every way qualified for the responsibilities of the office. Politically, Mr. Dunnigan is the best known, having taken an active interest in national and state as well as local politics. He is the man who "discovered" Senator Fisher, the first democrat to break into a hereafter over-whelmingly republican senatorial district, and his assistance has frequently been sought by the democratic state committee. All of the candidates have held town offices and have creditable records as officeholders.

STUDY OF LANGUAGES

NAMES OF MEN TURN INTO WORDS—READ ALL ABOUT CHANGES IN DICTIONARY

The study of language shows how the names of men often become a part of common speech. For instance, our common "duces" comes from Duns Scotus, one of the most illustrious teachers of the Franciscan order. In his time theological controversy waged loud and fierce. His opponents, on hearing an argument from one of his school, would say contemptuously, "Oh, you are a Duns man" or, more briefly, "You are a Duns." Finally, the word came to mean dull, idiotic person, and to be spelled "duces."

"Alcoline," the alkaloid derived from tobacco, from Nicot, a famous French physician, who introduced the tobacco plant into Europe. The words "mackerel," "dolly," "brougham," "hansom," "macadamism," "macadam," and "boycott" were originally the names of the men who first invented or used the objects or actions described by them. A certain patriotic Englishman is sometimes called "galvanism." Another Italian, Volta, gives his name to volt, an electric unit.

"Atlas" now a geography, was once the deniged who supported our world's shoulders. From Homer's "Stentor," we have "stentorian," loud-voiced; from his "Hector," who was somewhat of a bully, we have the verb "to hector." A certain patriotic French minister of finance, M. de Silhouette, sought to curb the extravagance of the government gratiers, and so his name was given to the cheap, black outline portrait we now know so well.

This list might be extended indefinitely, as our language is rich in man-derived words.

It is not the province of a dictionary to go into the origin and history of words. But The New Universal Dictionary contains the definition of such words as have passed into our common speech. Besides this, in its appendix it contains a real treasury of facts useful in every-day life. Our coupon offer, published in today's paper, explains our good fortune in being able to present what is an encyclopedia and a dictionary combined and in convenient form for daily use. We congratulate both our readers and ourselves on this strike of good fortune.

HIGH SCHOOL FOR 2000 WOULD COST $360,000

This Would be About Average Cost of N. Y. Buildings—$180 per Pupil—Cost per Cubic Foot

It is expected that a big delegation will go to Boston on Monday to attend the hearing on Lowell's bill to borrow $700,000 for a new high school. The hearing will be held before the committee on municipal finance at the state house, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. It was stated today that some of those whose properties are included in the list of those to be seized would appear as remonstrants, but the mayor and others interested in the promotion of the school plan think there will be no opposition. There was a report to the effect that the Knights of Columbus would be represented at the hearing and that they would oppose the present plan. Asked if he had heard anything about opposition from the K. of C., Principal Irish of the high school said: "No, I have not heard that the Knights of Columbus would oppose the plan, but I did hear that they would not oppose it. There is no doubt but what they would much prefer not to be disturbed, but they are a big representative body of men and I think go opposition. There was a report to

DEEP REGRET BY POPE ATTACKED THE GERMANS

HOLY SEE WILL MAINTAIN STRICT NEUTRALITY—CONSISTORY MAY BE POSTPONED

ROME, May 21, 6:30 p. m., via Paris. May 22, 1:35 a. m.—Deep regret is felt by Pope Benedict that Italy has decided for a war which, he, as head of the church, hoped might be averted. The holy see will maintain strict neutrality, making no effort to restrain Italian Catholics from following the dictates of their consciences. A papal document outlining this position is expected soon. It is announced that because of the gravity of the situation the consistory to have been held this month to fill vacancies in the College of Cardinals, has been postponed indefinitely.

WORK ON SUBMARINE F-4

HONOLULU, May 22.—Workers engaged in salvage operations on the submarine F-4, submerged outside the harbor since March 23, are now confident that the difficulties encountered in attempts to raise it have been solved, according to an announcement made today. As a result of yesterday's work the hulk was raised 54 ft. It now lies at a depth of 192 feet. During the last four days the submarine has been shifted in-shore 500 feet. If this rate is kept up, officials say, it will be possible to have it in drydock at the end of four days.

ITALIAN CABINET IN ALL DAY SESSION

Austrians Seize Italian Train—Important Battle in Galicia—Russians Check Turks—British Steamer Torpedoed

The announcement that Italy has declared war against Austria-Hungary is awaited hourly in Paris, but up to 5 o'clock this afternoon no definite news to this effect had been received. The Italian cabinet is still reported to be discussing the phraseology of the declaration of war. It has been in session with this idea in view since half past ten this morning. It is understood here that the passports of Baron von Macchio, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador to Italy, are ready for delivery to him. In Paris it is believed they will be handed to the ambassador before the day is over.

Forced Into War, Says King
King Victor Emmanuel will issue today a proclamation to the Italian people, stating that Italy has been driven to war and appealing for popular support for the government's policy. Another royal proclamation will be addressed to the army and navy. Although Italy and Austria-Hungary are virtually at war, no reports have been received thus far of actual hostilities. A train which crossed the frontier from Italy, however, was seized by Austrians who arrested the train crew. Great patriotic demonstrations were held last night in Rome and Vienna and the opening of war is expected quickly perhaps without the formal exchange of declarations.

Battle in Galicia
Aside from the Italian situation the point of greatest interest at present is central Galicia where a battle of far-reaching importance is under way. The Russians are credited with having made progress on both flanks of the Austro-German forces, but apparently have not been able to menace their communications. The main struggle is being carried on along the San, from Przemyśl northward for a distance of about sixty miles. Although the Austrians and Germans apparently are making slower progress than heretofore, Petrograd dispatches admit they still retain the advantage.

Turks Driven Back
An official report from Petrograd states that attempts of Turkey forces to advance along the Black sea coast have failed. It is said the Russians compelled them to flee and captured two towns.

Another British Ship Sunk
The British sailing vessel Glenholm was sunk by a German submarine off the Irish coast yesterday. The crew were permitted to leave the ship before it was destroyed and escaped.

Extraordinary Power
King Victor Emmanuel signed today a decree conferring upon the Italian government extraordinary powers during the period of the expected war. Austrian troops are being concentrated in large numbers along the upper course of the Adige river, which flows from the Tyrolean Alps into Lombardy.

Allies Advance in Dardanelles
An official British report from the Dardanelles says the allies have won further ground on the southern end of Gallipoli peninsula.

GREAT BATTLE ALONG 25 MILE FRONT ON EASTERN LINE
LONDON, May 22, 12:05 p. m.—A great battle is still raging along a 25 mile front on the eastern line. Although Russia apparently is gaining on both flanks, the decision must come along the sixty mile front in the center, along the river San, in central Galicia where the Austrians and Germans are still pressing the offensive. The latest Petrograd communication states that this attack is being checked between the San and the great marshes of the Dniester. The Russian press, while admitting that the Teutonic forces have established themselves across the San, declares they can go no farther in that direction. Petrograd has also been cheered by the official report that the Russians are again advancing against the Turks in the Caucasus.

French Repel Germans
On the western line, Paris reports making desperate efforts to cover the retreat and check the Russian offensive.

THOUSANDS OF ITALIANS INTERNED IN INTERIOR OF AUSTRIA-HUNGARY
UDINE, Italy, May 22, via Rome, 1:30 a. m., and Paris 4:30 p. m.—The expulsion of Italians from Trieste, Pola, Gorizia and Gradisca, continues by the thousands. None of these persons, however, are permitted to enter Italy; they are all being loaded on freight trains and sent to the interior of Austria or Hungary.

MILITARY AUTHORITIES TO TAKE CONTROL OF ALL ITALIAN RAILROADS
ROME, May 22, via Paris.—The Official Gazette has published a decree empowering the military authorities to take control of all Italian railroads.

MUCH DISTRESS IN TRIESTE—CITY WITHOUT BREAD—ITALIANS HELD
ON THE ITALIAN FRONTIER, via Paris, May 22, 2:15 p. m.—Reports received from Trieste are to the effect that there is much distress in that seaport. The city is virtually without bread, and even corn meal for the "poor" or porridge of the poor is extremely scarce.

FRENCH AND BRITISH GAIN FURTHER GROUND AGAINST THE TURKS
LONDON, May 22, 1:50 p. m.—Official announcement was made today that the French and British forces operating in the Caucasus.

GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY
A pleasant surprise party was held last evening at the home of Terence McDonald of 133 Chapel street. Mr. McDonald was presented a smoking jacket by his guests, the presentation being made by Michael Coleman. A music and literary program was presented.

10 WERE KILLED

Case of Dynamite in Auto Exploded in Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 22.—Probably 10 are dead and a score or more injured as a result of an explosion of dynamite in an automobile in this city at 2:30 today. The dynamite was to be used in searching for the body of 3-year-old Donald Wilcox, who was drowned in a dune in Onondaga creek.

Five persons had been standing by the automobile and a dozen were nearby. Parts of bodies were found a considerable distance away. The wall of the P. B. & H. Molding company's factory was blown in.

Twenty persons have been taken to hospitals.

FOR ONE-ARMED PERSONS
TYPEWRITER INVENTED, SAYS BERLIN—USE FEET IN PLACE OF LOST ARMS

BERLIN, May 12.—(By wireless telegraph to Sayville, N. Y.)—The Over Seas news agency today gave out the following: "The Russian daily newspaper Rech confesses that the attack on the Bolsheviks is most difficult and that immense losses are probable."

"A typewriter has been invented for the use of one-armed persons who will use their feet in place of the lost arm."

"The German labor gazette reports an increase in employment and a decrease in the number of persons out of work."

THREE TRAINS COLLIDE 75 BODIES RECOVERED

One of Most Disastrous Wrecks in Annals of British Railroading—Fire Followed Crash

CARLISLE, Eng., May 22, 1:12 p. m.—One of the most disastrous wrecks in the annals of British railroading took place early today on the Caledonian railway at Greta, this city, when three trains came into collision. No fewer than 75 persons were killed and the final list may be considerably augmented by death of persons injured. The total casualties probably will reach 100, as the list of more or less seriously injured is very large.

One of the trains was a troop train; another was a local and the third was the express from London to Glasgow.

Most of Dead Were Soldiers
Most of the dead were soldiers. The troop train collided first with a local from Carlisle and before the occupants were able to get clear of the wreckage, the express from London to Glasgow crashed into them. The result was terrifying. Locomotives and cars, shattered and splintered were buried about in confusion.

Fire Broke Out
Fire broke out in the wreckage and was soon burning so fiercely that the men engaged in the work of rescue were driven back. There was nothing to do but wait for the coming of the fire brigades. These were brought up at all possible speed. Once on the scene they labored with frantic energy to obtain control of the flames but before the fire was put out many of the travelers pinned under the wreckage of the cars were burned to death before the eyes of the onlookers.

Five hundred men of the regiment were on the troop train. When the roll was called after the wreck only 52 officers and men responded. Numbers of others, however, were engaged in caring for their wounded comrades.

Pinned Under Wreckage
Some of the victims who were extricated from the wreckage died soon after.

Doctors braved the flames in their efforts to help those pinned in the tangled masses of wood and iron. One physician, Dr. Edwards, responded to the appeals of two soldiers who were imprisoned by the legs. Facing the scorching flames he amputated both legs of one soldier and one leg of the other, as this method offered the only hope of their escape. One of the soldiers died from shock.

By 5 o'clock this afternoon 73 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage.

VERDICT FOR ROOSEVELT BARNES WILL APPEAL

Jury Returned Verdict for the Defendant at Opening of Court at Syracuse This Morning

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 22.—The jury in the trial of William Barnes for libel against Theodore Roosevelt today returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after considering for more than 12 hours the question of placing all the costs of the action upon the plaintiff. It is the belief of the jury that everything Col. Roosevelt charged is true and therefore the plaintiff not having been libeled, is entitled to no damages.

The foreman of the jury, Warren W. Summons, announced that the verdict was for the defendant and then the jury was polled. Ten jurors answered "For the defendant," then the clerk hesitated, called the name of Edward Barnes and waited. Barnes stood up and in a deep voice said: "For the defendant."

Jury No. 12 gave the same answer. Before the jury came in the spectators in the crowded courtroom were warned that any demonstration would be met by the police.

STAND BY WILSON—TAFT NEW BRITISH CABINET

FORMER PRESIDENT URGES UNITY—SAYS PROGRESSIVE PARTY IS DEAD

KANSAS CITY, May 22.—The time has come when republicans of the country should receive the progressives back into the party but they must leave behind them their fads, nostrums and isms," according to William H. Taft, former president, who spoke before a meeting of republicans here today. Mr. Taft is here attending the convention of the Western Association of Yale Alumni club.

"The progressive party is done and has disappeared," said Mr. Taft. Mr. Taft predicted victory for the republican party in 1916, saying the people of the country had learned again the lesson that the democrats are not the proper agents of government. He also spoke emphatically on the necessity of unity behind President Wilson at this time.

"He is not a democratic president," he said; "he is our president. He is first an American, the same as we are. We must all be Americans first."

Mr. Taft concluded by saying he was out of politics now, but would continue to have an active interest in public affairs, "as a private citizen."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Because of the wonderful success registered in the photo-play production of "The Heart of Maryland," with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the principal role, Manager Ben Pickett has decided to have a continuous performance from one o'clock this afternoon to 10 o'clock tonight at the B. F. Keith theatre. In these days when so much is heard about battles it is interesting to know that several thousands of men were assembled in the south and were put through maneuvers approximating an actual conflict. Just to make for the degree of realism which it is necessary nowadays in the production of a moving picture. These, of course, are not the main points in "The Heart of Maryland," but they prove to be most spectacular. The gripping story of the southern woman who loved the northern spy, and saved his life, is the main theme of the drama. Mrs. Carter as "Maryland Calvert" drives home the telling points with superb effectiveness, and it is not uncommon for audiences to applaud her scenes. Over 2000 soldiers are employed in the scenes, and much special construction was required to give that touch of realism which is demanded in picture productions.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the Princeton club orchestra will give their excellent musical first part in conjunction with special pictures. William F. Way has very carefully trained the mixed chorus, and their many friends and others who like thinking music are bound to greet them. The soloists will be George (Dabe) Rogers, Miss Madeline Boland, Herbert McGonigle, John McFadden, Arthur Page, Miss Marion Nolan, Miss Palmer, Miss May McPherson, Miss May Ingle, Walter Clough and Charles Nolan. J. Walter Toye will be the interactor and John Willard will play the piano. Remember that only the very best is put on at the Keith theatre, and that this musical melange will strike the popular note. It is a line with everlastingly Manager Pickett is offering nowadays.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

This is the third and last day of the appearance of Elsie Janis in "Betty in Search of a Thrill." During the past two days this lovable comedienne has played to capacity houses and by her inimitable originality in playing the role of Betty has completely won the hearts of her audience. Her foot naturalness and charm of manner in this play leads to her role a touch of realism not always attained in screen productions. This is the last chance to see this star in the theatre.

It is the aim of the management to do things rather than say things. Acting on this principle the management has secured a series of "Betty in Search of a Thrill" comedies. It will appear today only. "The Awakening Hour," a Lubin feature in three reels, is also shown today for the first time. An unusually short program has been arranged for the Sunday concert tomorrow. The feature picture is to be "Little Sunset," a Paramount picture never before shown in Lowell.

"Little Sunset" is a four-reel picture of modern baseball. The star of the play is Gordon Griffith, the celebrated child actor. The author is Earl, E. Van Loan, the noted sport authority and Saturday Evening Post humorist. This picture is probably the most vivid picture of the league ball players ever secured for the moving picture screen. Six other reels are included in the program of the Sunday concert tomorrow. Continuous performance from noon until 10 p. m.

OWL THEATRE

Our Italian ambassador, Thomas Nelson Pace has furnished great material for the motion pictures in "The Outcast," which was authorized under the Mutual masterpicture brand. Mae Marsh and Robert Harron are seen to great advantage in the production, and they are ably supported by a picked cast. Coming Monday, Betty Nansen, royal actress in "Anna Karenina," a Fox play.

ROYAL THEATRE

One of the longest and best Sunday features ever booked by a Lowell theatre will be shown at the Royal theatre tomorrow. "The Lion of Venice" is a George Klein production of ancient times. A beautiful love story is interwoven through a maze of war happenings. It is finely acted by a celebrated cast, and realism has been brought to its highest pinnacle in this actual photo-drama. It's a marvellous and spectacular play, one that will be long remembered. Other pictures will complete the biggest Sunday show ever seen in Lowell at the picture. Coming Monday, Charles Chaplin in "The Tramp," his latest comedy. Eight other reels will complete a ten-reel show for Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Today Lowell people will have a fine opportunity of seeing "Little Mary" Pickford at the Academy of Music in "Such a Little Queen," a picture of the famous light comedy so popular on the stage. In the title role of this piece, Mary Pickford has made one of her very biggest hits. The program, which will be shown continuously today, includes also six other reels of splendid photoplays, both comedies and dramas.

ROCKEFELLER TESTIFIES

CONTINUES TESTIMONY BEFORE
INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, May 22.—With only four members of the industrial relations commission present, Chairman Walsh today resumed his cross examination of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on his relation to the industrial warfare in the coal fields of Colorado. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who protested against the attitude of Mr. Walsh in his examination of Mr. Rockefeller, was one of those absent.

Mr. Rockefeller reiterated his opinion that when the authorities failed to protect life and property, the private citizen had the right to use force to protect himself. He argued that the use of force against an officer would be justified only in circumstances which would assume a finding of innocence in a court of law and, in spite of a long wrangle with the chairman, steadfastly refused to add to the statement.

Walsh read a letter to Rockefeller by L. M. Bowers in September, 1914, saying:

"Old Mother Jones has been on the ground for two weeks but we understand the governor has ordered her to be taken to the state line and told not to return." Walsh then read part of Mr. Rockefeller's letter to Mr. Bowers, saying he would back the mine officials in everything they did, and asked if it was so written after deportations had occurred.

"With you be kind enough to read all

"I can't do that at this time," said Mr. Walsh, "but any letter you desire to read you may submit after I have concluded my examination."

of letters."

SECOND GRANDCHILD OF PRESIDENT A HIGH WIRE WIZARD

His Daughter, Wife of
Sec. McAdoo, Gives
Birth to Baby Girl

She Will Be Named
Ellen Wilson After
Wife of President

MRS. WILLIAM G. McADOO

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A girl was born at 6:15 o'clock last night to Mrs. William G. McAdoo, wife of the secretary of the treasury, and daughter of President Wilson. Mrs. McAdoo was at the time in the White House, where she took place in the line of the White House, May 17, 1914.

This is the second grandchild of President Wilson. She will be christened Ellen Wilson McAdoo, after Mrs. McAdoo's mother, the president's wife, who died at the White House last August.

The president's first grandchild is Francis Sayre, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre of Williams-town, Mass. Sayre was Miss Jessie Wilson.

The baby of the secretary of the treasury and Mrs. McAdoo was born at the McAdoo residence, 1703 Massachusetts avenue, Passaic, N. J., May 21, at 6:15 p. m.

Shortly after the news of the baby's birth was telephoned to the White House, President Wilson motored to the McAdoo residence and was permitted to see his new grandchild. It was said at the McAdoo residence late last night that both mother and child were doing well. The baby was described as a very healthy youngster weighing eight pounds.

President Wilson's grandson, Francis Sayre, was born at the White House early in January. He was christened at Williams-town, this month, and President Wilson went to Williams-town for the ceremony. The president is godfather of his grandson.

THIS IS ONE OF THE NEW FEAT-URES OF RINGLING CIRCUS HERE
JUNE 10

Did you ever see a man turn a complete somersault backward and forward on a slackwire stretched 50 feet in the air?

Ringling Brothers have such a mid-air wonder among the hundreds of performers who take part in their exciting program to be exhibited here Thursday, June 10. The man's name is Alvaro Mijares and he is a native of Spain. His brothers, Juan and Antonio also appear on the thrilling program. These men were the most talented of performers in Europe last winter. The work of J. Mijares is even more sensational than that of his brothers. He dances and stands upon his head on a slender wire. He mimics the antics of a tipsy man so perfectly that the audience is convulsed with laughter. He plays the part of a clown man coming home in the wee hours of the morning on very unceremonious and falls down. People expect to see him go tumbling to the ground for Mijares uses no net under his act. But he does not leave the wire. He catches himself and comes back to the wire from one end of the wire to the other. His act would be funny if done on the solid floor of a stage. Presented by a team of 150 actors and a performance is a hundred-fold more attractive.

This season's aerial and wire numbers are the finest ever offered by Ringling Brothers. The part of a daring of the famous Nelson, Mack, Rooney, Tybitt, Melotte, La Nole, Bannell and Klockman families, and many other troupes. The triple act of the circus is performed by Ernest Clark making a new epoch in aerial acrobatics. The mid-air numbers begin almost immediately after the fall of the curtain upon this season's spectacle of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, a magnificent production presented by a team of 150 actors and a ballet of 200 dancing girls.

Sheriff Lester Philbrick of Belknap county, New Hampshire, came to Lowell last evening and returned with John Reed, alias Lerley Clough, and James Coleman, the two young men held on an alleged charge of breaking into and entering and larceny from the summer home of Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, dean of Simmons college. Both returned without extradition papers.

THE ROOSEVELT VERDICT

BOSTON PAPER PUBLISHED FALSE
STORY OF A VERDICT LAST NIGHT—VERDICT THIS MORNING

Another fake was imposed upon some Lowell readers last evening when Boston papers were said on the streets announcing a verdict for the defendant in the Barnes-Roosevelt libel suit on trial at Syracuse, N. Y.

There was no verdict. The Sun published the news correctly. A disagreement was announced and the court sent the jury back to deliberate. A verdict was announced this morning at 10 o'clock.

The statement that a verdict was rendered last night was a fake, pure and simple, but it was in line with many other exploits of the same paper.

ANOTHER AUTOMOBILE

MACHINE PURCHASED LAST YEAR
HAS OUTLIVED ITS USEFULNESS

—PARK BOARD MEETING

The park board met last night to take action on the purchase of an automobile for the department and it was voted to expend $400 for a Buick roadster. The department bought a machine a year ago, but it has some ailment that the automobile doctors can't seem to remedy. It is to be turned over in trade for the new machine and it is understood that $250 will be allowed on it.

Mr. Rountree, of the committee to look up automobiles, said he had seen the agent of the Chalmers-Detroit. He had been willing to take over the Ford car and allow $250 on it. This would make the new car cost $150.

The agent of the Maxwell said he would allow $250 for the Ford, and would give a Maxwell touring car for $425, and a runabout for $100. The agent of the Buick would make $300 for the Ford, which would make the cost of the new machine $100. For a Buick machine the cost would be $200, $300 being allowed for the Ford car.

Chairman McKay read a letter from the Ford Co. in response to a letter which had previously been sent to them. The letter stated that no special price could be set on a car, that the price of the Ford car is the same in all cases.

The chairman quoted more automobile prices. For the Buick car, $600 would be the price, $250 to be allowed for the Ford car. For a new Ford car, $240 would be the price, $250 being allowed for the present machine. The chairman seemed to like the Buick car. The price of a Buick would be $750, allowing $300 for the Ford. Other prices quoted were, Chevrolet, $595, and Munroe $530.

Mr. Carr moved that the Ford car be traded for a Buick runabout. Mr. Greene wanted $610 to include a speedometer. After Mr. Rountree had held telephone conference with P. B. Emerson of the Buick agency, it was learned that this figure would include the cost of a speedometer. Mr. Carr's motion was put and unanimously carried.

It was voted to have the park superintendent bring in a schedule of prices for the lots on the South common for July 1, the more desirable lots to have special prices put on them. Mr. Greene having suggested that inasmuch as the city is going to spend $3000 for the observance of Independence day it would be well for the park

CORNER STONE OF NEW COLLEGE BUILDING TO BE LAID TOMORROW BY CARDINAL O'CONNELL

A ceremony of much interest and importance in Catholic educational circles will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 when His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, will officiate at the laying of the corner stone of the new dormitory and recitation buildings now in process of construction at St. John's preparatory college, Danvers, Massachusetts.

Mention of this event brings to mind the phenomenal growth which this institution has witnessed since its inauguration a few years ago. In the fall of 1907, the Naverian Brothers, with the cordial approbation of His Eminence, the Cardinal, opened a boarding and high school for the Catholic youth of New England.

It has a healthy growth from the beginning, and it was not long before it became necessary to make additions to the original structure. First, a chapel, a stone structure with accommodations for 350 persons was erected. Next came the gymnasium, which is located somewhat in the rear of the chapel and fronts the athletic field. (Columbus Oval), a broad expanse of six acres, which has been thoroughly prepared for the various outdoor sports. The work of building took place during the summer of 1908, just one year after the opening.

Meantime the number of students had so increased that the demand for more accommodations was imperative, and in the spring of 1909, ground was broken for a large dormitory and class room building. This has since become the center and most imposing member of the group, and is known as St. Xavier Hall. The solemn dedication took place on August 26th, 1910. His Eminence, the Cardinal, officiating.

Increasing numbers made additional buildings imperative, and now a second dormitory and also another recitation building is being erected. The new building will accommodate 150 boarders and 100 day students; St. Xavier hall will accommodate 150 boarders and 250 day students, giving a total of 320 boarders and 400 day scholars when the buildings are completed.

St. John's has increased under its present director, Brother Benjamin, from 100 pupils in 1907 to 355 in 1915. Its graduates are to be found in all the leading Catholic colleges of the east and at the leading polytechnic schools.

The buildings now being built call for an expenditure of over $150,000. Lowell Boys to Assist

The members of the Junior Holy Name society and the members of the sanctuary choir of St. Patrick's church will receive communion in a body at the 5:30 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's tomorrow morning. After the mass the choir members will board a car and ride to Danvers, Mass., where they will assist at the dedication of the new college building of St. John's preparatory college. The start from Lowell will be made at 10:30 o'clock and Brother Edmund desires that all members be on hand at that time. Upon their arrival at Danvers the Lowell choristers will march to the college grounds where they will be assigned to a place near Cardinal O'Connell, who will officiate. The local boys will sing the responses and also render several special selections.

The surviving members of the Richardson Light Infantry and the Seventh Massachusetts Battery association held their annual meeting at the Vesper Country club yesterday afternoon, at the guests of Lieut. A business meeting was held, a feature of which was the election of officers for the ensuing year, when it was decided with the following being elected:

President, Dr. W. H. Rudwick; vice president, James W. Beane; secretary, Charles P. Brigham; board of directors, William E. Farrar, W. W. Goodell and A. G. McCurdy.

Mrs. George P. Richardson, widow of the organizer of the company and her daughter, Mrs. Marietta R. Peterson, were elected life honorary members, while Richard Richardson was elected life associate member.

A hearty dinner was served and after the meal speeches were made by members and guests.

EDUCATIONAL FILM

Movie Reproduction of Pres. Wilson's Review of America's Wonderful Armada at Keith's

An educational film of exceptional interest will be shown in Lowell the first three days of next week when the movie reproduction of President Wilson's review of America's wonderful armada which was gathered together last Monday on the Hudson will be presented at Keith's theatre.

This feature is one which is especially interesting just at this time when war is the main topic everywhere. Besides being pictorial, the film has a great educational value in that it demonstrates to the public just what Uncle Sam's navy means. Manager Dickert of the local Keith's house made a very determined effort to procure this film for next week, and Lowell is indeed fortunate in being able to witness its first release.

LYTHACA, N. Y., May 22.—Lythaca today is extending its welcome to thousands of visitors for the annual navy day events. ## AUSTRIA'S PERIL IN ALPS AND ADRIATIC WITH UNREDEEMED ITALIAN PROVINCES

"The just aspirations of Italy," in the historic phrase of Signor Salandra, are shown here at a glance. "Italia Irredenta," or unredeemed Italy, includes the Trentino and Istria, where the Italian race and language largely predominate. The Trentino consisted of the old bishopric of Trent, while Istria formed part of the republic of Venice, overthrown by Napoleon. Subsequently, on Napoleon's downfall, both Istria and the Trentino passed into the hands of Austria. In 1866, when Austria was compelled to give up the province of Venice, she retained both Istria and the Trentino, and ever since the unredeemed provinces have been a rankling wound in the side of Italy. The "Italia Irredenta" provinces are shown dark and lettered in white.

THOMAS NELSON PAGE

In the accompanying illustration are shown Thomas Nelson Page, the American ambassador in Rome, and Frederick C. Penfield, the American ambassador in Vienna. Italy has asked Mr. Penfield to look after her interests in Austria. It was thought that Mr. Page would act in a similar capacity for Austria in Rome, but later it was stated that Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador in Rome, insisted that Austria, in the case of war, should not intrust her interests in Italy to the United States, but to Spain.

THE FRANCHISE REVENUES

STATE TO KEEP TAXES ON NON-RESIDENT SHARES—RECESS INQUIRY FAVORED

BOSTON, May 22.—The senate committee on ways and means which has had before it the taxation bills leased on the recommendations of Gov. Walsh has reported favorably on two important measures.

The bill reported by the committee provides that in 1915 and thereafter no part of the corporate franchise tax paid by any railroad, telephone or telegraph company under the Acts of 1909 shall be distributed, credited or paid to any city or town, but all of said tax shall remain in the treasury of the commonwealth.

"That in 1915 and thereafter the corporate franchise tax paid by gas and electric light companies shall be distributed in the following manner: All of such tax paid on account of shares of stock in such corporations held by non-residents of Massachusetts shall be retained by the commonwealth; the remainder of such tax shall be distributed and paid to the city or town wherein the business of the corporation is conducted." Senators Bazeley and Gordon dissent.

The committee also reports a resolve for a special commission of two members of the senate, four members of the house, to be appointed by the presiding officers of each branch, and two other persons, to be appointed by the governor, who shall sit during the recess and make an investigation as to the necessity or desirability of changes in existing tax laws.

"Said commission shall draft a proposed law for the taxation of incomes under the power and authority contained in the constitutional amendment increasing the power of the general court to impose and levy taxes. The commission shall report in print to the next general court on or before the first Wednesday in January, 1916."

The committee reported "reference to the next general court" on the bill to extend the powers of the taxation commissioner in relation to the assessment of real and personal property and to give him supervision over assessors and authority to examine local assessors' books.

No report was made on the bill for compulsory returns, but included in the resolve for a recess commission is the requirement that the commission shall incorporate in its report to the next legislature a provision for the making of compulsory returns of income to be taxed.

GANG RAIDS JAIL

BOSTON, May 22.—After a crap game had been interrupted yesterday afternoon by eight Melrose policemen and eight participants had been arrested after a scuffle in which Capt. L. B. Eaton's right knee was wrenched, a band of rescuers swept down upon the police station, but was detected in an attempt in cutting away the wire screening in the cell windows. The relief party escaped.

About 25 employees of the Fells Rubber factory in Melrose were "shooting the bones" when the raid was made. Eight alleged players were arrested in the commotion which followed. As a result of his injury Capt. Eaton will be on duty several days. The police believe that the rescuing gang was recruited from the other players.

The men arrested will be arraigned before Judge Bruce in the Malden court today. They gave the names of Alexander McDonald and Joseph Gremmon of Melrose, and Walter Crowley, Matthew Powers, John F. O'Neill, Robert J. Turner, George Driscoll and Bernard Maloney, all of Malden.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH., FIRM TURNS DOWN ORDER FOR SHRAPNEL SHELLS

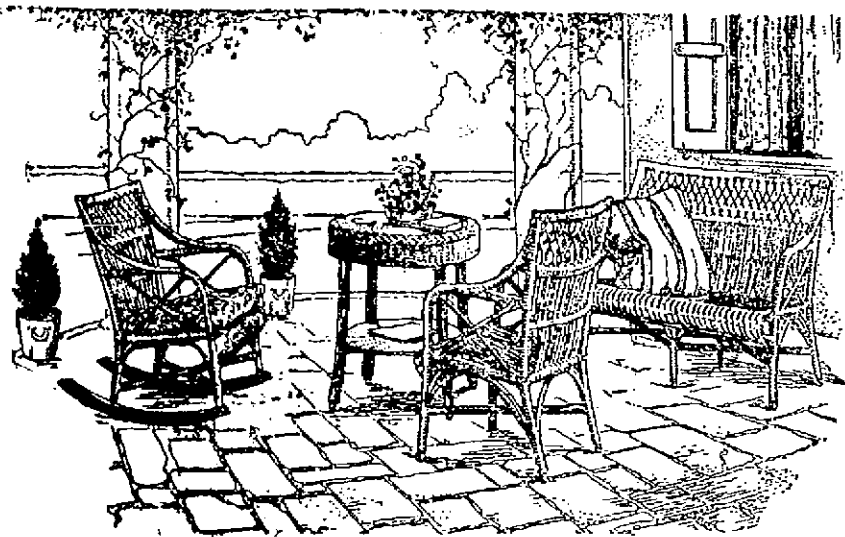

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 22.—C. E. Kolb, president of a local manufacturing concern has refused an order from a European government for shrapnel shells. The order, if accepted, would have amounted to about $3,000 a day for an indefinite period.

"I could not sleep easy with the thought that the product of our plant was murdering boys in Europe," said Mr. Kolb in announcing his action. "If the United States wanted the shrapnel we would make them."

GARDNER BROOKS STILL WINNING LOWELL LOST, 9-1 HARRY LORD A FIDELITY TEAM TY COBB THE LEADER

Local Boxer Taking the Measure of All His
New York OpponentsHas Battle on Tonight
—Critics Pick Him for Championship

Gardner Brooks, the Lowell "Flash" as he is called, is still knocking 'em for a twist over in New York City. His latest victim was Johnny Kelly, whom he sent to the mat a few nights ago for the count.

This Kelly person is a pretty tough chap or was figured so up to the time he met Brooks. A sample of hitting powers was shown in the opening session when he dropped the Lowell boy with a left hook to the chin. Brooks was in a flash, however, and promptly knocked Kelly down just to show that no hard feelings existed.

It was the first time Gardner had felt the canvas since going to New York and to judge from the Metropolitan accounts of the battle the Lowell youngster was peeved. At any rate in the third round Kelly dropped to the floor under a fusillade of jabs and right hand crosses and no sooner got up than down he went again for the count. This affair was one of Brooks' most notable successes.

Tonight the local bantam weight meets Frankie Daly in the main affair at the Shorey A. C. Daly bears a fine reputation among New York boxers and Gardner will have to travel although he will enter the ring a favorite. On Tuesday night Brooks has another muss scheduled, this time with Murrey Allen at the Broadway Sporting club of Brooklyn. He is also the favorite in this affair.

The following is an article from the New York Times and shows conclusively that Gardner Brooks is one of the most promising youngsters in the ring at this weight.

There are many followers of pugilism who think that Kid Williams, the Baltimore lad, will soon lose the bantamweight championship. They base this conclusion upon his last few fights. He was unable to knock out Johnny Daly, the New York bantam, in ten rounds, although he hit Daly with everything he had in his shop. Next Johnny Kilbane easily outpointed him and then along came Louisiana, whom he used to beat with ease, and not only did the latter win from him, but scored two knock-outs in a six-round bout.

There are only a few bantamweights in the country being groomed to take Williams' place, among them being Johnny Ertle, a western phenom, and Gardner Brooks, known as the "Lowell Flash." Brooks is a nephew of Jimmy Gardner, who some years ago was one of the stars of the middleweight division. Brooks has won every fight he has entered since his record by knock-outs. Since coming here he has defeated Sammy Diamond and knocked out Young Coleman in six rounds.

Some star bantams have been offered bouts with him in Philly, but turned them down.

Brooks is now training at Ertle's. He boxes daily with Jack Britton, the crack lightweight, and the latter thinks so well of him that he is willing to bet $500 that Brooks can beat any boy his weight in the country, including Williams. Britton says Brooks is far harder than any such poundage he ever saw in action. This is strong praise coming from such an experienced boxer as Britton.

THE TURKISH CIGARETTE

MURADS, The Turkish Cigarettes, 15 cents, are BETTER in EVERY WAY than many cigarettes you pay 25 cents for.

Made of better tobaccos, costing more to manufacture.

Richer in satisfaction and in class.

With more "life", more sparkle, more substance.

Not a "little better", not "perhaps better" but so MUCH better, that you will feel like having yourself locked up for cheating yourself—and then go your own bail to get out and smoke a Murad.

Wildness of Pitchers and Errors Allowed Portland Easy Victory

Portland had an easy time with Lowell's wild pitching department yesterday afternoon, while three costly errors on the part of Cuke Barrows' club helped the home team to romp away with the big end of a 9-1 score.

Zieser batted in the mound work for Lowell but discovered a swinging plate. Matty showed "stuff" again, but could not get even close to the target. In four innings six Portland batters rolled to first and then Green was substituted.

Paddy was a little less wild, but when he managed to put 'em over the ball was slapped square and hard into various isolated portions of the outfield. Just to make everything all even the Lowell players hoisted the ball around, all three of their errors counting in the run column.

Taken all in all, it was a bad day for the visiting club. Lowell did not score their lone run until the ninth inning and the contest was so unexciting as to be uninteresting.

BUFFALO, May 22.—Pres. Robertson of the Federal League club admitted yesterday that negotiations were practically completed for the signing of Harry Lord, former third baseman of the Chicago Americans. While no contract has yet been signed, Lord is expected to have been agreed upon and Lord is expected to be on his way to Buffalo to close the deal.

LOUIS ON HIS WAY TO BUFFALO
PORTLAND, Me., May 22.—Harry Lord, ex-captain of the Chicago Americans, left yesterday to join the Buffalo team of the Federal league. He will report today to sign the contract.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Ban Johnson, the American League's general president, has shipped baseballs and baseball equipment to the soldiers at the front they tell us. It would not be strange if Ban Johnson, who is a member of the Federal League players before long, if he could only force a few repetitions out of the Fed ranks what rejoicing there'd be in the fold of the loyal.

Walter Trumbull writing in the New York World has the following very humorous connection between Billy Sunday and the Philadelphia Athletics: Connie Mack's pitching staff appears to be composed entirely of wild young men. Connie should issue a call for Billy Sunday.

AN OPEN LETTER

I Dear Bill—They tell us you received 100,000 lines for having out us Quakers in your most persuasive tones; that, William, you are a devoted devotee for the cause the Mackners had an infield which was worth that full amount. Not only has it vanished now, but all our hurling men are Scottish men.

These fast explosive youngsters, Bill, are trying Connie's soul. Please get them up a sermon on the value of control. If any guy can tame 'em, Bill, I know you are the man; but, say, there is no time to waste.

A Philadelphia Fan.

Hugh Duffy today did what few of the New England league managers would have dared to do. He took his squad to the 13 allowed by the rule adopted this year. Thirteen players are not enough for a club but Duffy believes a rule is a rule and he will not let it go. To get down to the limit, he suspended Henry Merrill, who is out of the game with a wrist injured at Lowell last Saturday. This suspension does not mean that Duffy will not be back with the team because when his injury is gone, some other arrangement will be made. It is expected that he will return to the club with the players and see other provisions made to keep down to the limit. —Portland Express.

Yes, brother Hugo is an honorable man but so far they are all honorable. If we may be allowed to steal some of Anthony's thunder, Duffy is a good fellow but don't think for a moment that Duffy will do any more for the services of a valuable player for a little thing like a league ruling. Did you inquire whether or not Merrill was drawing his pay envelope while under suspension?

Manchester has not forgotten Long Louis Pieper. Long will be the Lynn manager in the minds of the Queen City fans. Jack Finn in his Manchester Union column writes as follows:

When we will have with us Long Louis Pieper and his Lynn players, with scrappy Mike Lynch, as lieutenant to the ebullient manager, then will the Manchester club be in the line of the favored keeping Manchester out of the league, and the fans will surely pay him a little attention for his efforts to keep the Lynn club out of the league. The question is, whether on the field or off, and his assistant Mike Lynch can also dispense the character of the Lynn club. The Lynn club is a long-legged team when they next appear on the home field, they will require fast ball playing, rather than a lot of talk on the part of Pieper and his team to get away with the ball games.

There have been 12 games postponed in the New England league since April 20, four games were called off while the day following, May 1, all teams played but Portland and Lynn. Lynn and Worcester were the only teams to play May 13 and all teams played Monday. The postponed games are: Portland 4, Lowell 2; Lewiston 4, Portland 2; Worcester 3, Fitchburg 2, Worcester 2.

The eleven rule in the National League has injured the Boston Braves, for it deprives Stalder of the services of one of the players, and he might be down to the limit. Stalder has to release Mitchell as a player, though he is still retained on the roster. The players who are Mitchell's duties at operating practice sessions and before games are the same as ever, but when the eleven rule is in effect, the club house, the players' clothes, and occupies a box near the Boston bench. This rule does in effect at the time when Stalder needs Mitchell most.

Manager Jesse P. Burkett of the Worcester club intends to protest the eleven rule against Stalder and Whitehouse playing with teams in the Colonial league. According to reports out of the league, the players who are to be sent to teams in the Colonial league.

"I will not allow to return players to the eleven rule," said Burkett. "If there is any sense of fairness in baseball, it is about the matter, the Colonial league should not be allowed to play under the eleven rule."

Twenty-four Dartmouth Athletes Qualify in Intercollegiate Trials

CAMBRIDGE, May 22.—The passing of the championship cup of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association into the permanent possession of Dartmouth college was conceded by followers of the college sport who came to Technology field for the title games today. Dartmouth's ten champions in 11 years was virtually assured when the green qualified 24 men in the trial events held yesterday, at least one Dartmouth athlete being placed in each of the 12 events. This was twice the number that Bowdoin, the nearest contending college, gained in the trials.

The only events for which there were no preliminaries were the mile and two mile runs. Although Dartmouth was not regarded as especially strong in these events, it was thought that their outcome would have no appreciable effect on the final standing of the Green.

BUILDING AND REALTY

Big Apartment and Business Block in Highlands—Another on Appleton Street

The apartment and business block to be built at the corner of Pine and Stevens street by A. B. Cameron will be a somewhat novel feature for Lowell. The other building permits issued within the last few days and noted in yesterday's Sun indicate a building boom of unusual proportions right at the opening of the season.

Hon. James J. O'Donnell, who recently purchased the Teague property at Merrimack street and Maiden lane, for his father, James F. O'Donnell, the well known undertaker when asked whether or not any immediate alterations upon the property would be made stated that the new owner had not completed any plans regarding the future of the property.

A. B. Cameron will construct a combination apartment and business block at the corner of Pine and Stevens sts. There will be four apartments, each having five rooms, and the ground floor will contain three stores. This new block will be four stories in height and will measure, front, 75 feet, side 56 feet. The cost is placed at $13,000.

An addition is to be erected adjoining the property of Josephine Pagorewicz at 31 West Fourth street. The new block will be moved to another position on the lot and will be increased to two stories. An addition will be built for storage and entry purposes.

David Gerow is to erect a two-apartment dwelling at 155-156 Chelmsford street at a cost of $2,000. Mr. Gerow will move the building at 150 Chelmsford street to the rear to replace the barn, and will remodel it at a cost of approximately $500.

At the corner of Hank street and Park avenue, Daniel H. Walker will build a one-apartment dwelling at a cost of $4,000. The house will have eight rooms, pantry, bath and reception hall and will have two spacious front and rear piazzas.

Alterations and extensive improvements are being made on the property of James Shullis at 1045 Middlesex st. A new piazza is to be constructed on the rear of the building and the rear stairway will be changed over. The work will cost $500.

A new dwelling will be built for Carrie A. Stetson at 140 Parkview avenue. The house will have one apartment of six rooms, with pantry and bath, and steam heat. The cost is estimated at $2,500.

Remodelling work, including the construction of a new bulkhead and the enlarging of the bath room, is to take place at the property of Gustaf Anderson at 53 Lundberg street. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $100.

The single family dwelling of Jas. Doherty at 224 Beacon street will be remodelled so as to accommodate two families. Extensive alterations will be made to accomplish this change and the work will cost, it is estimated, $700.

John C. Butcher will build a new residence at the corner of Bond street and Highland avenue. The house will consist of 6 rooms, pantry and bath and will cost $2,500.

In the house of the J. L. Chaffoux estate at 340 Merrimack street, a partition will be removed in order to enlarge the bath room.

Damage caused by a recent fire in the Nesmith estate at 21 John street is being repaired. The repairs will cost $350.

302 WYMAN'S EXCHANGE

And speaking of sideboards, I would like to see a sideboard that when an old mahogany sideboard had a straight brass rod across its back it was intended to support a silk curtain, which formed a background for the china and silver displayed.

It ought not to be difficult to have a dresser made to order. The proportions are about six feet four inches in height and three feet six inches in width. Any book of old furniture supplies illustrations. Probably one might be had of some manufacturer, one specializing in cottage furniture. A dresser is specially suited to the dining room of the modest country cottage. It should have a cover not of lace, but of heavy linen, simply hemstitched.

A SUMMER TEA TABLE

A charming tea room in London is suggestive, and its scheme might easily be carried out in a summer house. The floor has a wide carpet of soft gray, and the tea tables, instead of being clothed in white have hemstitched cloths of pale pink linen. The chairs are covered with glazed chintz in a flowered design on a plain white ground. The effect is admirable and an agreeable change from mere daintiness.

One of the uses to which the alcove, or small room leading off a large one may be put is that of a tea room. When a single place is set apart for this purpose it is easy to carry out a definite color scheme, and the glimpse seen from the large room is a great addition to it. Any number of charming color arrangements, suggested by the color notes of the china used, can be worked out.

CONCRETE HOUSES IN AUSTRALIA

The construction of concrete houses of various kinds, and more especially those of comparatively moderate cost, by what is known as the "poured" process in connection with the use of moulds is growing in popularity in Australia. A prominent building in Adelaide created a large number of houses a year ago, making use of a method which he developed and which has been styled the "Monolyte" process. The system is a close approach to that which Mr. Edison brought to public notice some years ago, but thus far the Australian has made use of his system only for building workingmen's cottages and structures of that class.

In the houses erected in Adelaide the walls and chimneys are monolithic, while the roofs and floors are of strong construction, although floors and ceilings may be of reinforced materials if so desired. The statement is made that by the use of the system a six-room house was finished in four days, the cost in Australia being considerably less than brick and almost as cheap as wood.

The "Monolyte" system is said to vary considerably from that practiced by other somewhat similar processes, in that the moulds are of wood with inside faces of iron and stand the full height of the walls. The concrete is mixed dry on the ground and then conveyed by an elevator to flues above the moulds, fed with water and the wet concrete is poured into the moulds in one continuous stream, until the walls are filled in.

The mixture consists of one part cement, three parts sand and six parts of 3-inch stone screenings. These materials are measured out, then roughly mixed and placed at the foot of the elevator, which, with its endless chain buckets, lifts it to the mixing trough located above the top of the moulds. As previously intimated, the material is elevated to the mixing trough in a dry state and the water is added from a tap which gives the control of an expert concrete mixer.

The moulds are of such a nature that they may be used for the pouring of other buildings. When removed the surfaces of the walls are scratched with steel combs in order to give a key for the plaster.

The reinforcement foundations consists of half-inch steel rods all hooked together at points and turned corners. It is stated that for the walls 3-inch rods are used and for the floors 1 1/2-inch rods are used. The rods are placed both vertically and horizontally, and are wired together at all intersections. These are put together on the ground and then hoisted into position in the center of the mould space. The rods are held in place by distancing pieces of the wire at necessary intervals. The houses are plastered on the inside and "rough cast" on the outside.

HEAD AND SHAW STORE

NESMITH ESTATE HAS PUT FIRE-PROOF FLOORING UNDER RANGE OF CHINESE RESTAURANT

The fire that recently occurred under the range of the Chinese restaurant and burned down through the ceiling of the Head & Shaw millinery store, has convinced the proprietors of the Nesmith property that conditions under that range were not entirely safe. As a result of the fire, Contractor Wiggin has been called in and is now removing all the brick and floor timbers under the range and putting in steel beams imbedded in concrete so that the flooring will be thoroughly fireproof. Although the millinery stock in the Head & Shaw store was not seriously damaged, Mr. Shaw felt that there was a fire from the big range overhead and he feels that when Mr. Wiggin has completed the job this danger will be removed. Mr. Wiggin will have completed the work in a few days but as the change affects only the back of the store, it does not interfere with the business at the counters, which is being conducted as briskly as ever.

Senate Upholds Governor's Veto of "Clean Milk" Bill

BOSTON, May 22.—The bill making the mayor and police commissioner of Boston and the chief justice of the municipal court a board of censors for theatrical productions and other public performances in this city has passed the Massachusetts legislature and been signed by Gov. Walsh.

Gov. Walsh signed the bill as soon as it was carried to his office. The pen with which he affixed his signature he gave to William L. Reed, the executive messenger, who has been greatly interested in the passage of the act.

Milk Bill Veto Sustained

After another long discussion, the senate yesterday, by a vote of 19 to 17, refused to override the governor's veto of the "Clean Milk" bill. A two-thirds vote of the senators present and voting would have been required to pass the bill over the veto. The roll call on the question of overriding the veto was:

Yes—Bagley, Bates, Deal, Dean, Caranagh, Eldridge, Ellis, Fay, Gordon, Hays, Jackson, Langelier, Marchand, Mason, Norwood, Peirley, Sullivan, Teller, Wells—19.

No—Bartlett, Bazeley, Clark, Cummings, Doyle, Farnsworth, Fitzgerald, Garst, Gifford, Green, Haigis, Hobbs, Kimball, McGonagle, McLane, Sheehan, Timilty—17.

Paired—15, Martin; no, Tufts.

Not voting—Leonard.

Senator Sullivan of Boston was the only democrat who voted against the governor, but Senator Leonard, another Boston democrat, was not recorded. In the discussion which preceded the vote Senator Ellis of Newton and Bates of Boston severely criticised the veto. Senators Sullivan and Fay spoke briefly for the bill and against the veto. Senator Sheehan defended the governor.

Against Rate-making Bureau

The senate refused yesterday to reconsider the vote by which it had previously rejected the bill to create a rate-making bureau for companies which provide insurance under the Workmen's Compensation act. Later in the session the senate killed also the bill for the re-insurance of workmen's compensation risks in authorized companies.

Dentistry Bill Saved

The house yesterday refused to reject the bill for reorganizing the State Board of Dentistry, and permitting dental hygiene in public schools. Representative Lomasney declared that the measure would permit beginners in dentistry to practice on school children. The bill was placed in the order of the day by a vote of 113 to 84. The bill of constructing a street railway from Summer street to the Commonwealth pier was ordered to a third reading, as were also the New Haven bills. The debates will come at the next stage.

The resolve for a popular vote on a taxation amendment to the Constitution was passed to be engrossed.

The bill relative to the discharge of insolvent debtors and bankrupts was rejected 75 to 5. The house refused, 114 to 85, to reject the bill relative to the registration of persons, firms and corporations desiring to install wires or apparatus for electric light, heat or power, and the measure was placed in the order of the day.

Bills relative to the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia and the Naval Brigade of the Militia were ordered to a third reading under an agreement that the debate will come on the next stage. The plan for a session of the house today was given up and it was voted to meet at 1 p. m. Monday.

B. & M. Conference Meet

The conference committee appointed to adjust the differences between the state senate and house with respect to the Boston & Maine Reorganization bill, had a two-hour session at the George W. Anderson counsel for the public service commission. Everett W. Burdett, Philip Dexter, counsel for certain leased lines, and Mr. Day of the Boston & Maine trustees. No conclusions were reached, and the committee will meet again on Monday at 10.15.

COLLINSVILLE DRAMATIC CLUB

The members of St. Mary's Dramatic club of Collinsville held a minstrel show and dance at Harmony hall last evening. The affair was given for the benefit of the church and was largely attended.

The first part of the program consisted of a minstrel entertainment, and proved a most enjoyable affair. John Golden acted last night as the interloper, while George Tobin had general charge of the performance.

The soloists were Miss Rose McDonough, Raoul T. LeClair, James Delgan, Thomas F. Tobin, Frank Marshall, Geo. Chapelle, M. McInerney, D. Molloy, Ram McGrath, George Sullivan, C. Clancy, Charles E. Clancy.

The chorus consisted of Misses Rose Costello, Margaret Whelton, Stella Mooney, Helen Wells, Agnes Wells, Anna Harrington, Alice Kennedy, Alice Gleason, Esther Chaney, Josie O'Neill, Nellie Gray, Miss Tobin, Carl Richardson, George E. Clancy, Charles Bryant and Archie Mittle.

Following the show, general dancing was in order, and Cogger's Novelty orchestra furnished an excellent musical program.

The officers of the dance were: Ernest Mooney, general manager; Geo. Wells, assistant general manager; George R. Tobin, floor director; M. McInerney, assistant floor director; C. Clancy, chief aid; chorus, aids.

POLYANNA CLUB ENTERTAINS

The attraction at the Grace Universal church last night was an entertainment by the members of the Polyan-na club of the church. The program was a corker and the vestry was crowded. "The Old Fashioned Tea" and "The New Fashioned Tea" were given by the members, was a splendid contribution. Then, just by way of variety, there was a demonstration of the modern dances, including the fox trot, by Miss Clara Slay and Edna Hawley. Other numbers on the program included songs by Miss Jessie Richardson and a violin and piano duet by Misses Edna and Ethel Dixon. The candy table was provided by Mrs. Swanson and Miss Dorris Childs. Mrs. H. B. Benton had general supervision, and she was assisted by Miss Bertha Abbott and Mrs. C. N. Woodward.

The conference committee appointed to adjust the differences between the state senate and house with respect to the Boston & Maine Reorganization bill, had a two-hour session at the George W. Anderson counsel for the public service commission. Everett W. Burdett, Philip Dexter, counsel for certain leased lines, and Mr. Day of the Boston & Maine trustees. No conclusions were reached, and the committee will meet again on Monday at 10.15.

Mayor Murphy at Springfield

Mayor Murphy spent a few days at Springfield this week attending the state convention of Foresters, and according to the Courier-Citizen he must have been an extremely busy man while away.

The Courier-Citizen says: "An effort will be made to scale the figure down by the members of this committee, although legislators from the western part of the state, since the mayor's visit there, are well acquainted with the needs of this city as regards additional high school room, and it is probable that western members of the committee will favor granting the right to the city to borrow $100,000."

Next week the city of Springfield is to accept a million dollar high school which will accommodate but 1600 pupils. Mayor Murphy looked over this building, recently, and states that it is roomy in every particular.

It would appear from the above that the Hon. had cornered all the members of the legislature from the western part of the state at the Foresters' convention, and during a bull in the proceedings, or probably during the "good of the order" feature, if there was such, had expatiated upon Lowell's high school needs.

It must be a great relief to the people of Springfield to learn from such an

THE SPELLBINDER

Twenty-five years ago General Benjamin F. Butler in an address on the "Common Schools," said that he did not believe in building palaces for public schools. Many of the children he said came from homes that were poorly furnished; when they entered the handsome schools they became discontented with their position in life.

From all accounts the municipal council wants to construct a palace in Kirk street for a high school. "An addition to the present high school," the promoters have called it: a $700,000 addition, costing twice as much as some of the best high schools in the state. It is amusing to read the different plans set forth relative to what is to be done with that $700,000 if the city seizes it. The mayor has frankly stated that in his opinion the school will cost $500 per pupil which will eat up the entire amount on this one feature alone. But we are also told that it is intended to tear down buildings in Kirk and Davis streets and erect on their place a vocational school, while there is talk of a central power plant that is going to heat the school buildings, city hall and Memorial building, and the police station.

And all for $700,000, with the high school alone costing over $600,000. Not so you'd notice it.

Furthermore all this talk about vocational schools, central heating plants, etc. is all buncombe while the bill now before the legislature is in its present form. That bill provides for not more than $700,000 for erection and equipment of a high school building. Only that and nothing more, and no outside improvements can be attempted on the money for that amount. That bill provides for not more than $700,000 for erection and equipment of a high school building. That bill provides for not more than $700,000 for erection and equipment of a high school building. Only that and nothing more, and no outside improvements can be attempted on the money for that amount.

Under the bill as worded, it isn't incumbent upon the municipal council to borrow the entire amount of $700,000, that amount being the borrowing limit. The council is empowered to borrow only as much as it may need with $700,000 the highest amount. Judging from what has been said at every night, the intention is to borrow every nickel of $700,000 and sink it into a school.

It is believed that the members of the legislature will attempt to scale down the figure and the amount will not be sufficient for the amount of $700,000 for the building and equipment of a high school.

In addition to the building, the city already occupied coming from a city of the financial condition of Lowell, would cause any level-headed legislator to sit up and take notice.

"What the Cook Says" will have helpful hints regarding the home, Health and Beauty Hints will be found in "What Hortense Told Me." Other good departments which will interest all women readers will be "The French Maid" and "In Midway's Boudoir." There will be a delightful "Sleepytime Tale" for the little readers of The Sun.

The use of any other department?

Mayor Murphy: "No; it is in trust funds. I don't see where anybody can touch that money. It belongs to the cemetery department, and to that department alone."

Auditor Charles D. Paige was called. He said that the receipts in 1911 were $10,312.50, and that the expenditures were $11,916.49.

Mr. Robertson: "There was spent $445 more than there was taken in last year, according to those figures."

Auditor Paige: "No; you have a balance of $148.37. The interest amounted to $148.37. That may be drawn from the saving bank and applied to the perpetual care funds. On May 1 of the present year there was a balance of $122.20 in the general cash to be used by the cemetery department whenever necessary. Last year the wages and salaries of the superintendent totaled $445.50."

Mayor Murphy: "So far as the finances of this department are concerned there was no reason for a change to the commission form of administration. I think everyone agrees to that."

Auditor Paige: "You have a balance of $148.37. That may be drawn from the saving bank and applied to the perpetual care funds. On May 1 of the present year there was a balance of $122.20 in the general cash to be used by the cemetery department whenever necessary. Last year the wages and salaries of the superintendent totaled $445.50."

Whether Mr. Taylor meant to "cast up" when he asked that question about the trust funds or not, he certainly recalled the attempt of last year's administration to use the perpetual care funds for the purpose of that year, which was quite interesting inasmuch as he was a member of the government that attempted to use the funds, at one of those celebrated secret sessions. No mention was made of the amount of interest on the trust funds that was lost by withdrawing them from the savings bank, as was done last year, when the municipal council attempted to use the money for purposes other than those for which they were intended.

North Chelmsford Postoffice

The term of Postmaster Scribner of North Chelmsford will expire with the year, and as he is a republican, he will not succeed himself and hence there is a lively contest for the position here. Twelve several well known democrats are candidates. James P. Dunnigan, Lieut. William J. Quigley, John B. Macdonald, James F. Leachy, and John F. Harrington, all highly esteemed citizens and in every way qualified for the responsibilities of the office. Politically, Mr. Dunnigan is the best known, having taken an active part in national and state as well as local politics. He is the man who discovered Senator Fisher, the first democrat to break into a heretofore overwhelmingly republican senatorial district, and his assistance has frequently been sought by the democratic state committee. All of the candidates have held town offices and have creditable records as officeholders.

MANY CLOCKS MUST GO

BOSTON STREET COMMISSIONERS TO ENFORCE LAW IN THE RE-TAIL DISTRICT

BOSTON, May 22.—The law prohibiting peddling clocks, and various advertising devices now located on the sidewalk from remaining after June 1 has been construed as too drastic by the board of street commissioners, and according to their present intentions will apply on June 1 only to a section in the heart of the retail business district.

The area which has been definitely defined for restriction begins at the corner of Eliot and Tremont streets, along Eliot to Washington street, through Essex to Summer to Federal to Milk to Congress to State to Exchange to Washington to Hanover to Court to Bowdoin square and to Tremont street as far as Eliot.

This will mean the removal of such well-known clocks as Thompson's Spa, Shuman's, Lloyd's and the Boston Tavern, if the present intentions of the street commissioners are carried out. They have expressed their willingness to give consent to the placing of these clocks in front of the sidewalk as a provision, however.

The question of the removal of the 45 poles along Washington street to present used to hold trolley wires is to be settled next week, if possible, at a conference called by the street commissioners, at which property owners and elevated officials will be present. The hope is that permission may be secured from the property owners to have the supporting wires attached to the sides of the buildings, thus making possible the removal of poles.

The enforcement of the rules passed a year ago applying to the remainder of the city is too large a problem to warrant that action be taken until it becomes necessary for the comfort of pedestrians, the board has ruled.

STUDY OF LANGUAGES

The study of languages shows how the names of men often become a part of common speech. For instance, our common "dunce" comes from Duns Scotus, one of the most illustrious teachers of the Franciscan order. In his time theological controversy waged loud and fierce. His opponents, on hearing an argument from one of his school, would say contemptuously, "Oh, you are a Duns man" or, more briefly, "You are a Dunce." Finally, the word came to mean a dull, ignorant person—and to be spelled "dunce." We get "memento," the alkaoid derived from tobacco, from Nicot, a famous French physician, who introduced the tobacco plant into Europe. The words "mackerel," "dolt," "broughton," "hansom," "mesmerism," "maccadam," and "boyce" were originally the names of the men who first invented or used the objects or actions described by them. Galvani, an Italian, first called attention to animal electricity, which is sometimes called "galvanism." Another Italian, Volta, gives his name to volt, now in common use.

"Alas," now a geographical name, was once the denoted who supplied our food on his shoulders. From Homer's "Sword," we have "swordsman," loud-speech; from his "Hector," who was somewhat of a bully, we have the verb "to hector." A certain patriotic French minister of finance, M. de Silhouette, sought to curb the extravagance of the government staffers, and so his name was given to the cheap, black outline portrait, we now know as well.

This last might be extended indefinitely, as our language is rich in man-derived words.

It is not the province of a dictionary to go into the origin and history of words, but The New Universities Dictionary contains the definition of such words as have passed into our common speech. Besides this, in its appendix it contains a real treasury of facts, useful in every-day life. Our countrymen, published in today's paper, explain our good fortune in being able to prevent what is an encyclopedia and a dictionary combined and in convenient form for daily use. We congratulate both our readers and ourselves on this stroke of good fortune.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Plans for the Memorial day observance were completed at last evening's meeting of Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, held in Post 158 hall. The committee in charge of providing automobiles for the veterans on that day reported that 10 machines had been secured. It was also reported that the flag holders were put on the graves in the local cemetery Saturday in preparation for the decoration Monday.

Three new members were admitted and routine business was transacted.

BREEZY POINT

Three Act Farce Presented by Campfire Girls at Chelmsford

A three-act farce entitled "Breezy Point" was cleverly interpreted by the Chelmsford Campfire girls at the Chelmsford town hall last evening. The entertainment was largely attended and the entertainers were given a most cordial reception, for all the parts were interpreted in a very satisfactory manner. The farce was followed by general dancing, while young ladies in charge of booths and sales tables reported a very satisfactory business.

The entertainment was given under the personal supervision of Mrs. Albert A. Judwin, who was ably assisted by Mrs. Lillian Adams Haskell. Those who took part in the cast were as follows: Mabel Pargison, Dorothy Dean, Dorothy Hall, Sara Hammond, Dorothy Lynch, Esther Whitman, Evelyn, Lillian, Bill Adams, Adella Parkhurst, Marion Giffons, Ellen Padgugan, and Christina Reardon.

If your teeth trouble you, see Dr. Gagnon, 466 Merrimack street.
